New York State Budget Is Over $2.6 Billion

Message Is Long One At Albany

Progress Stressed In Albany Speech

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller called upon the 1962 Legislature today to rally behind an election-year program that will include higher spending for schools, the ill and the aged and will send the state budget to more than $2.6 billion.

The Republican governor, who has opened a campaign for re-election, urged in his annual message that the state minimum wage be raised from $1 to $1.25 an hour and the maximum workmen's compensation payment be increased from $50 to $55 weekly.

Lauds the Record

The 8,000-word message, delivered at the opening of the 185th session of the New York State Legislature, contained a lengthy review of Rockefeller's administration. He described it as "three years of solid accomplishment and sustained progress rarely matched in our state's history."

Rockefeller, also a potential candidate for the Republican nomination for president in 1964, appealed to the lawmakers to forget such labels as "liberal" and "conservative" and ask only "does it serve the general welfare?"

Major Recommendations

These were major recommendations of the message:

1. Basic changes in school-aid formulas to give local districts more help in meeting educational needs, with details to await recommendations of the Diefendorf Committee on School Financing.

2. Faster expansion of the State University to help meet its goal of doubled enrollments by 1970.

3. Addition of dental services and eyeglasses to benefits available to the needy aged under a tax-paid program.

4. Expansion on several fronts of vocational and technical education to train youths, welfare recipients and other unemployed in skills needed by present-day industry.

For Improving Health

5. "Substantially increased expenditures" to combat mental illness and new programs for fighting virus-caused diseases, which some now think include cancer.

6. Restoration to New York City of its authority to require that the date of pasteurization appear on all containers of milk sold at retail.

7. A voluntary program for upgrading nursing homes to make them eligible for coverage under hospital insurance. Thereby easing demands for the more-expensive facilities of regular hospitals and possibly slowing the increases in costs of hospital insurance.

8. Continuation of a highway program that now totals more than $1 billion in work under construction and under contract.

9. A greater role for the state in peacetime uses of atomic energy through creation of the New York State Atomic Research and Developments Authority.

10. Expansion of the State Commission Against Discrimination from five to seven members and opening of SCAD offices in Harlem and Brooklyn.

Highway Program

Rockefeller's program is expected to increase state spending by about $200 million over the current $2.4 billion budget.

The governor set no price tag on his 1962 program. He will do that when he submits his budget next month. But sources high in the administration have said that added spending for schools and other additional costs will send state expenditures over $2.6 billion.

Seeking Revenues

To meet that and remain on pay-as-you-go, the administration is seeking all possible sources of revenue. Rockefeller does not in-

FIRST BABY OF 1962—The fact that Steven Glock holds the title of First Baby of the Year doesn't seem to bother the youngster as he sleeps peacefully in the arms of his mother, Mrs. Clair Glock of West Hurley. Steven was born Tuesday, Jan. 2, at 9:24 a. m. at Kingston Hospital. He weighed eight pounds and is the second boy in a family of five children. Steven's mother is the former Mary Louise Angstadt of Pennsylvania. His father, also a native of Pennsylvania, is trainmaster for the New York Central Railroad, River Division. The Glock family moved to West Hurley from Peekskill on December 15, 1961. (Freeman photo)

Page Given 5 Years In Woman's Assault

On a plea of guilty to second degree assault on an 81-year-old Whiteport widow on November 12, 1960, Cameron Fay Page, 29, was sentenced to an indeterminate term in Elmire Reformatory today by Acting County Judge Francis X. Tucker, who ordered that the sentence "shall not exceed five years," the maximum penalty permitted by law for second degree assault.

Page entered a plea of guilty to the third count of a four-count indictment which charged that on November 12, 1960, he entered the home of 81-year-old Matilda Doyle at Whiteport and committed an assault upon her. On February 8, 1961, the grand jury returned an indictment charging assault in two counts; attempted rape, first degree, and first degree burglary.

Found Injured

Page, a former Marine, and then an employe of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation, was found outside the Doyle home with a broken leg, which it was alleged happened when he jumped from a second story window. His car was found parked some distance from the Doyle home. At the time he told state troopers he had heard Mrs. Doyle calling for help and had gone to her assistance. Mrs. Doyle was brutally beaten about the face and head and spent some time in the hospital.

Ward Ingalsbe Jr., attorney for Page, called attention of the court to the fact that there was no prior conviction, that Page had been a resident of the county all his life, was married and the father of two children. He re-

Sweeping Changes In Hudson Valley Is Topic at Lions

A continuing growth in commerce and industry was forecast by W. Dale Swartzmiller, regional supervisor of the Regional Office of The New York State Department of Commerce, to The Kingston Lions Club at its regular noon-day meeting here Tuesday. Swartzmiller reviewed several of his predictions of a similar talk given before the club several years ago, then proceeding to excite his forward-thinking audience with accounts of super transportation projects, both in the making and under study, and burgeoning college en-

Town Lists Salaries; Tax Cut Is Expected

Members of the town board of the Town of Ulster held their organization meeting on Monday, January 1, at 11 a. m. at Lake Katrine Grange hall.

Supervisor Alexander J. Banyo, re-elected last fall, was appointed chairman by the members of the town board, all of whom were in attendance.

Members of the town board are:

In announcing the 1962 Highway and General tax rate, a decrease of $1.29 from the 1961 rate was noted. The 1962 tax rate for Highway and General tax will be $45.70, this is exclusive of the special district taxes.

The State of New York National Bank was named depository for funds of the Water District, General Fund, Special Districts and Tax Fund. The Kingston Trust Company was named depository for the Highway Department, trust funds and Whittier Construction Funds.

Carlino Declares He'll Be at Probe

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino said today he "definitely" would appear before a committee investigating charges he violated the state code of ethics in connection with fallout-shelter legislation.

"I said at the beginning I welcomed the matter and I will be pleased to cooperate," Carlino told reporters as he prepared to preside over a joint, opening session of the 1962 Legislature.

Castro Is Ready for Invasion

Blames 'Yankees' For Rearmament

The Cuban prime minister showed off his new military equipment Tuesday at a parade marking the third anniversary of his victory over the Batista dictatorship. He said that "Yankee imperialism" was the sole reason for Cuba's rearmament.

Highlights of the parade were three Communist-made MIG19 jets which swept overhead with a flight of 18 MIG15s or improved MIG17s.

MIG Jets Shown

The three swept-wing MIG19s are the fastest planes known to be operating in any Latin American air force. A ripple of pride and excitement swelled through the crowd as the jets roared over Havana's Jose Marti Square.

The MIGs are believed to have been piloted by Cubans who recently completed flight training in Czechoslovakia.

Castro said his forces have been much improved since they defeated the Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba last April.

"Not A Warmonger"

"We are not a warmonger," he said. "We do not want to use these arms. But we shall fight (if attacked) with a fierceness unimagined by our enemies. We We will exterminate them. We await the invaders with a smile on our lips."

The Cuban leader assailed his critics in other Latin countries, especially Presidents Romolo Betancourt of Venezuela and Alberto Lleras Camargo of Colombia, whom he called "murderers of workers, peasants and students."

Addressing himself to fellow Latins, Castro said: "Brothers, mobilize against any eventuality. The stupider they (the United States) act, the faster the hour of liberation approaches." The crowd roared approval.

Goldfine's Secretary Starts Jail Sentence

BOSTON (AP)—Mildred Paperman, secretary of Bernard Goldfine, Boston industrialist, started a 30-day jail sentence today for smuggling letters to the ailing industrialist.

Miss Paperman, 42, admitted the delivery of letters to Goldfine while he was serving a one-year sentence for income tax evasion in the federal correctional institution at Danbury, Conn.

New Matron Is Named for Jail, Mrs. F. Brinkman

Sheriff Claude Bell today announced the appointment of Mrs. Florence Brinkman of 110 Pearl Street to the position of matron at the Ulster County jail.

Mrs. Brinkman, whose appointment is effective as of January 1, 1962, succeeds Mrs. Mabel O'Reilly who resigned after serving nearly 18 years as matron.

Details of a $7,636,000 construction program for 1962 were reported today by Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation. In announcing the plans, Central Hudson President Lelan F. Sillin Jr. said the 1962 program is about $1,185,000 greater than the amount spent in 1961 and is "designed to enable us to meet the requirements for natural gas and electricity that will accompany the continued growth we anticipate in residential, commercial and industrial activity in the Mid-Hudson Valley."

Sillin noted that almost half of the construction budget, $3,064,000, is earmarked for projects that "will enable us to meet the natural gas and electric requirements of new customers and the expanded needs of existing customers in 1962." The balance of the budget, he said, includes projects that are part "of a continuing long range program designed to assure the overall soundness and orderly expansion of our gas and electric facilities. Both types of projects are tied to our confidence in the growing prosperity of the Mid-Hudson Valley and to our uncompromising objectives of always being able to render high standards of reliable and economic service to our customers."

Some Major Projects

Among the major projects included in the 1962 program are the completion of an electric

Portugal Will Leave U.N., Premier Says

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar said in a speech prepared for delivery today Portugal "will surely be among the first countries to leave the United Nations organization."

"Meanwhile we shall refuse them our collaboration in everything that is not in our direct interest," he declared.

Places Blame

Reporting to the National Assembly and to the nation, the 72-year-old dictator criticized the United Nations, the United States and Britain for their failure to come to Portugal's support when India invaded Goa, Damao and Diu last month.

Referring to the U.N. mission of safeguarding peace, Salazar said he believes "we have the right to hear whether our presence and our collaboration are already useless in the United Nations."

No Collaboration

"Even if we do not, I do not know yet whether we shall be the first country to abandon the United Nations, but surely we will be among the first. Meanwhile we shall refuse them our collaboration in everything that is not in our direct interest."

That statement was as near as Salazar came in a 10,000-word speech to suggesting direct action on three possible moves diplomatic sources here had expected him to announce as an aftermath of the loss of the Portuguese Indian enclaves.

Gives Outline

They were possible withdrawal from the United Nations, revocation of the century-old-British-Portuguese alliance and refusal to renew the Azores Island air base agreement with the United States when it expires this year.

The premier spoke as security officers still hunted the remnants of a rebel band that launched an unsuccessful New Year's Day revolt against Salazar's government. The Army Ministry accused the underground Communist party of planning and leading the uprising.

"According to information and statements already collected from some participants in the Beja attempt at sedition, the conclusion is that it was an action planned and led by the Communist party, within a general plan of promoting unrest in Portugal," the communique said.

The communique said no other

Pertinent Quotes From Message of Governor Today

With expanding and improving job opportunities for a growing population, we can assure opportunity not only for oncoming generations of workers but also for those who are displaced by automation or changing economic and social patterns.

To maintain the (Unemployment Insurance Fund) at adequate levels...it now appears that the subsidiary tax in 1962 will rise by four-tenths of a percentage point to one per cent of taxable payrolls...

It is vital that we expand our efforts not only to help combat juvenile delinquency but also to

Schwenk To Change Some Items

Proposals Left With Committee

Common Council action on the 1962 budget was delayed Tuesday night to Wednesday, Jan. 10, when it is expected the aldermen will again consider off-street parking and possibly act on a local law affecting positions in the mayor's office.

Adjournment was taken, as requested by Mayor John J. Schwenk, who presented his parking plan for uptown areas, and indicated he is to propose changes in the 1962 budget, which as prepared by former Mayor Edwin F. Radel fixes $2,555,664.74 to be raised by taxes and a tax rate of $63.38, which is $3.28 higher than that of 1961.

Notes for $280,000

Budget anticipation notes in the sum of $280,000 to carry on the city's business pending collection of taxes were approved. The budget was left with the finance committee for consideration of whatever proposals the newly elected mayor plans making, and continued dispute looms over the rehiring of a stenotypist to take records of council meetings.

"Inasmuch as I have assumed office on Jan. 1, 1962," Schwenk wrote, "you can readily understand that I have not had sufficient opportunity to study in detail the numerous items contained in former Mayor Radel's proposed budget, but by preliminary examination of same, however, I feel confident that certain desirable changes can be made.

Requested by Mayor

"I therefore respectfully request your honorable body adjourn for one week, and in that adjourned meeting I shall present my recommendations to you for consideration."

Democratic aldermen, if judged by comment last night, indicated they are not overly impressed with the Schwenk off-street parking plan for accommodating some 285 cars.

Schwenk's plan calls for development of three uptown areas at a cost range between $210,000 and $250,000. The lots would be constructed on a self-liquidating basis.

Sass Not Impressed

Alderman Frank C. Sass (D) Seventh Ward, who last night was named majority leader, said he failed to see how the sum of $170,000 for the taking of land for property, was a great saving, as compared to the Radel plan which listed $185,000 for the acquisition of land, and $105,000 for construction.

The Schwenk sum listed was between $150,000 and $170,000. Alderman Francis J. Koenig (D) Ninth Ward, wondered if options had been obtained, as under the Radel plan. He felt the proposal had been planned without due

State Unit Says Item In Budget Is Illegal

The State Department of Audit and Control has advised Joseph Martorana, (R), newly elected supervisor of the Town of Plattekill, that the previous town board had no authority to include an item of expenditure in the annual budget covering one-third of the cost of a reappraisal project.

The $6,400 appropriation added to the preliminaray budget after the pblic hearing is illegal, the State Department has ruled.

This matter came to the attention of the new Town Board at its organizational meeting held at the town hall, Ardonia, on Monday, Jan. 1.

Supervisor Joseph Martorana (R), formerly deputy clerk of the board of supervisors, succeeded William H. Simpson (D), of Clintondale as supervisor on January 1, 1962

In its letter, the Department of Audit and Control also stated that a contract which the last Town Board entered into was not authorized by law since no legal appropriation was made in the budget, and no resolution authorizing the financing of the cost was passed. The Department suggested that payment on this contract should not be made until the legality of the contract is established.

Spervisor Martorana referred this matter to Attorney Fred Stang, former mayor of Kingston, who was engaged by action of the Town Board.

Other main items of business on the agenda was the appointment to the various town offices.

Roy Pouli of Clintondale was appointed Officer-in-Charge of constables. Others named constables were Lester Wager Jr., of Modena, Edmund Wager Sr., of Plattekill, Carmine Sabarese of Ardonia and James J. Markey of Plattekill.

Lawrence Capozzzi of Clintondale was appointed Town Civil Defense Director. Also appointed to a Civil Defense position was Ralph Narvaez, who will serve as Medical Training Program Administrator.

Anthony Egiziano of Plattekill was appointed building inspector; Eldred Smith of Modena, as multiple residence law enforcement officer, and Freston Atkins of Clintondale as multiple residence law inspector. Smith was also appointed chairman of the board of assessors. Mrs. Beatrice Small was appointed town welfare officer.

Town Clerk Edith C. Wager was appointed registrar of vital statistics. Other appointments include Grace Coy as town historian, Bernard B. Wager as dog

Rockefeller Says Changes Needed To Relieve Taxpayers on Schools

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller told the Legislature today taxpayers were straining under the local costs of education and the time had come for "basic changes" in the state's school-aid formula.

The governor made the statement in the education portion of his message to the opening session of the 1962 Legislature. But he did not tell the lawmakers what the basic changes should be. He said he was awaiting the report of the Diefendorf Committee on school finances. The committee's staff has issued only a preliminary report.

Rockefeller proposed several specific but minor programs for college students and promised soon a comprehensive plan to help to prevent school drop-outs, provide guidance and training and help find jobs for young men and women.

None of the higher-education proposals, however, matched the scope of the various financial aids passed by the last regular session of the Legislature and the school fallout-shelter program authorized at a special session in November.

Rockefeller said he was awaiting "with interest" the report and recommendations of the Diefendorf committee, which has been investigating the problems of school financing for over a year.

The committee staff's preliminary report recommends, among other things:

1. Increasing state aid to education by $96.5-million annually under a new formula that would peg the aid a district receives to its expenditures per pupil.

2. Permitting school districts to form taxation districts either countywide or on a larger basis to levy 1 per cent sales taxes or surtaxes on top of existing school taxes.

The full committee plans to hold at least one public hearing on the preliminary report before making its final recommendations to the Legislature.

On the subject of youth and their employment opportunities, the governor noted that several programs were under way to identify and develop talent and help youth find jobs.

To this end, he said he soon would announce "a comprehensive, new program combined with an extension of existing programs to prevent school drop-outs, to afford guidance, training, special industrial-technical education and equal opportunities in apprentice training and to help in finding jobs for our young men and women."

He gave no further details.

Rockefeller said he would present his specific proposals on State University expansion in a special message. The university has complained that negotiations, approvals and clearances it is required to undergo through several state agencies are impeding its expansion efforts.

Organized Crime Operators Were Hit in Bankroll

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of Robert F. Kennedy's biggest satisfactions in his first year as attorney general came from "hitting the big-time operators of organized crime in their bankroll," he said today.

The bankroll, he emphasized in an interview, consists of receipts from gambling.

Another source of pleasure in 1961, Kennedy said, was Justice Department activity to protect the rights of Negroes.

He said he was also pleased with the work of his 31,000-member department in enforcing antitrust laws and in less publicized fields ranging from tax law enforcement to representing the government in Indian claim cases.

The organized crime and civil rights fields were considered important enough to merit separate yearend reports to President Kennedy.

The attorney general cited the enactment of new antiracketeering legislation and the creation of an intelligence unit within the department's criminal division as major developments in the fight against crime.

One new law makes it a felony to transmit bets by interstate wire. Kennedy said this forced the majority of the nation's leading race wire services—basic to the operation of gambling syndicates—to close down. Among the casualties, he said, were two kingpins in the business, Nola News of New Orleans and Athletic Publications of Minneapolis.

Other new legislation bans interstate operations in transporting gambling material — including numbers slips, travel for criminal purposes and carrying weapons interstate after conviction of a felony.

Gotham Architect Has Exhibit at Local Library

Samples of the work of an award-winning New York architect, the first display held in the state, are currently on exhibit at the Kingston City Library.

Diekman, in a statement for the library's exhibit, views walls as "defining our attitude and presenting us with the awareness of an architecture."

The exhibit includes drawing of a house for an art historian, a house for a young girl, and a music school complete with music hall.

A drawing for river apartments shows two large columnar structures enclosed entirely in a continuous sheet of glass, without visible partitions on the outside.

Three oil paintings illustrate textures of wall surfaces which could be applied to the interior of a building. The textures themselves are presented as a single work.

Diekman, born in New York City, was awarded first prize in the Pratt Institute Competition in 1957, and received honorable mention in the following year.

In 1958, in the National Institute for Art Education competition, he was awarded honorable mention in a field of entries from all over the country.

Now completing his studies at Pratt Institute, Diekman is currently employed in the office of Philip Johnson, the nationally known architect who was co-designer of the famous Seagram Building in New York City.

The exhibit, entitled Walls of Norman Diekman, will be on display at the Kingston City Library throughout January.

School Bus Driver Denies Negligence

Dist. Judge Donald Carpenter set his trial for March 20.

The bus was struck by a Union Pacific Railroad streamliner passenger train at a county road Dec. 14. In addition to the 20 children killed, 17 were injured. Harms escaped with slight injuries and shock.

State University President to Be Chamber Speaker

Dr. Thomas H. Hamilton of Albany, president of the State University of New York, will be the speaker at the annual banquet of the Kingston Area Chamber of Comerce on January 29.

In making this announcement today John W. Egbert, chairman of the Chamber's banquet committee, stated that the theme of the banquet will be the establishment of community colleges.

Because of the general public interest in the establishment of a community college in Ulster County, the public will be invited to attend. Tickets will be available later at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Retiring president Joseph E. O'Connor will report on Chamber of Commerce activities during 1961 at the banquet and the new officers for 1962 will be presented. The officers will be elected at the January 9th meeting of the board of directors, when W. J. C. Buddenhagen will report for the nominating committee.

New DR President Issues Warning To Armed Forces

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Rafael Donnelly, president-to-be of the new Dominican Council of State, promised Dominicans freedom of assembly and discussion Monday and warned the armed forces against interference in the affairs of the new anti-Trujillo government.

Donnelly, named to succeed President Joaquin Balaguer as head of the ruling body, declared at the swearing-in of the seven-man council that freedom to meet and discuss all issues would be observed "because truth can be achieved only through conscientious and dispassionate discussion."

He asserted that the council, which assumed all legislative and executive powers until installation of an elected government early in 1963, wished to emphasize "our decided endeavor to maintain unalterable" the armed forces' nonpolitical status.

The military, he said, must restrict its activities "to the defense of the independence and integrity of the republic, to maintain order and respect for the rights of man."

Inge Describes Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Playwright William Inge describes his latest work as "the closest I've written to a tragedy." "Natural Affection," scheduled for debut early in 1962, concerns a mother and her son in present-day Chicago. Harold Clurman may direct the work, rather than Frank Corsaro who previously had been named to the assignment.

Hulsair Resigns, Kingston to Get AnotherRoadBoss

A new town superintendent of highways is to be appointed in the Town of Kingston.

This has been announced by the clerk of the town board, Paul Burton.

William Hulsair, elected last November for a second two-year term in the job, has resigned due to illness, Burton said.

Clerk Burton is receiving applications for the post, and they may also be sent to any member of the town board by residents of the town who would like to be considered for the post.

The letters of application must be received by January 8, Burton said.

The term of anyone appointed by the town board would expire December 31 this year, the clerk advised.

Meetings of the town board are held the third Monday of the month, the next one being January 15.

Republican Wins Upstate Span Post

He defeated Democrat Frank A. Murray Tuesday by a 5-4 vote of the nine-member authority, composed of seven Republicans and two Democrats.

Keyes, who had been vice chairman, succeeded G. Judson Newell, a Republican.

Members of the authority, appointed by the governor, supervise operation of the Ogdensburg-Prescott, Ont., bridge across the St. Lawrence River and the Ogdensburg harbor and airport.

Con Edison Seeks Reator Permits

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Atomic Energy Commission hearing on a proposal of the Consolidated Edison Co. to operate an atomic reactor at Indian Point, N.Y., resumes today.

The provisional license sought by the company would permit initial loading of fuel — Uranium 235 and thorium—and test operations. The reactor could be operated under an 18-month permit at its full power without public hazard.

Allaben Man Is Named to Post on State Land Board

State Conservation Commissioner Harold G. Wilm has announced the appointment of Edward G. West, of Allaben, to the position of superintendent of the Bureau of Land Acquisition, effective December 28.

West succeeds Duncan G. Rankin of Delmar, who held the position many years, retiring on December 27.

One of the major functions of the Bureau is the acquisition of land for campsites, wilderness consolidation and access, fishing rights, boat launching sites, multiple use lands, wetlands, ski centers and special uses, for which $15 million was allocated from the $75 million bond issue approved by voters at the 1960 general election.

Proposes Higher Pay for Teachers

NEW YORK (AP)—An out-of-state consultant says the city school system's $647 million annual budget should be doubled within the next eight years.

The retired Cleveland school superintendent, Dr. Mark C. Schinnerer, also said the city should start teachers' pay $1,000 higher and increase its professional staff by one third.

Schinnerer did not say how the budget should be doubled. This avoided involvement in the continuing battle between the Democratic-controlled city and Republican-controlled state over the issue of state aid to schools.

But he called for complete fiscal divorcement of the school system from the municipal administration.

Schinnerer's report grew out of state legislative action taken after a series of school scandals in the city last summer.

Penn Republicans To Study Spending

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) —Republicans in the legislature are clamoring for more time to give Gov. David Lawrence's record spending proposals close scrutiny.

GOP lawmakers expressed resentment Tuesday that Democrats have scheduled public hearings on the $1,000,887,457 budget to begin next Monday — when the newly convened 1962 session will be in recess.

The recess is declared annually because of the lack of hotel rooms occasioned by the week-long State Farm Show.

State Tax Revenue Exceeds Estimates

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Corporate net income tax collections were credited today with doing the most to push the state's revenue $1,485,000 above official estimates for the fiscal period between June 1 and Dec. 29.

The state's Office of Administration reported that the corporate tax pulled in a surprising total of $24,581,000—11.1 per cent more than had been expected.

Meanwhile, the state's major income producer—the 4 per cent sales tax—fell 1.5 per cent below official estimates for the six-month period. Collections totaled only $193,397,000, but the figures did not include the Christmas holiday spending which will be reflected in later reports.

ARGUMENT FOR SHELTERS

With the significant exception of the Civil Defense authorities, much of the current talk about fallout shelters is fatalistic, even derisive. Who wants, the criticism goes, to spend two weeks in a hole underground only to ascend to chaos and desolation? Or, in the same vein: Aren't shelters really the prime provocation, and wouldn't it be better to spend our time and money on a positive effort for peace?

An answer to these and other pertinent questions has been attempted in a recent article in Reporter magazine. Although the article leaves the matter still moot, it does raise some interesting points. The author rejects, for example, the assertion that shelters are essentially an admission of inability to get along with our fellow men. He regards this as a foolish, blind attitude, for a reason he puts this way: "The matter is not entirely within our loving American hands."

The article also poses the question whether a father, deciding to take his chances above ground because he is aware of the devastation that would await those who survive, has the moral right to so commit his family. Can this man, it is asked, dismiss the shelter as a sham and a waste?

The Reporter piece is one of the most cogent pleas yet made for a community and individual shelter program. Even those who regard the construction of shelters as head-in-the-sand folly ought to ponder the question further. We are going to have to live with the threat of nuclear destruction for a long time to come.

THOSE DOMESTIC ISSUES

"It is difficult enough for me to find solutions for the problems of my own country. To solve the problems of the whole world is too much." Thus Vice President and Foreign Minister Paul Henri Spaak of Belgium answered reporters on a recent visit to Washington.

There is food for thought in his retort, even if it does hint at evasion. For there is a real danger that domestic problems will be neglected where official attention is so completely absorbed in foreign affairs as it is now.

Here in America, for example, we have enough pressing matters right under our noses to keep us hopping for the next few years if we never had to turn our eyes overseas. The population rise alone, increasing as it does the demand for water, for schooling, for jobs, etc., offers a sizeable puzzle. And then there are such things as segregation and tax reform, plus a host of other issues.

The worst consideration of all is that, where government authorities become swamped with problems, corruption is alert to move in. We are hardly in shape right now to take time out for any national scandals such as have accompanied other crises in our history.

MIRACLES TAKE TIME

The President's triumphal return from Latin America is gratifying to all Americans. But caution warns us not to become over-optimistic about the Alliance for Progress. If it has been revived by the Kennedy visit that may be the best to be hoped for. The truth is that it has been slow getting off the ground.

Yet the importance of the success of this program merits all our patience and will need it. Consolidation of hemispheric interests, commercial as well as defensive, can be as vital to our future prosperity as the stand we may take relative to the European Common Market. The trade potential in these rapidly expanding South American lands is enormous.

But the obstacles are great. That is why patience will be needed. If we can help the Latins rid themselves of the worst of the barriers — corruption, privileged wealth, domination of military cliques—it probably will not pay for us to be too finicky about the purity of the democracy they achieve, so long as it steers clear of extremes of either right or left.

If they eventually can attain the full measure of liberty we wish for them, that will be miracle enough. Let us not demand that it happen overnight.

'These Days'

ANOTHER VIEW OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT

Frank L. Kluckhohn has had a wide experience as a newspaperman and government official and knows the State Department well. He does not heap the blame for State Department failures on the Secretaries of State but describes the mechanism of the Department in an article in the January "Reader's Digest" which makes it clear beyond doubt that something drastic must be done to revise, reorganize, redirect the staff of the State Department.

Citing chapter and verse, Kluckhohn shows how men in lower positions prevented Secretaries of State from becoming aware of the data which was essential to them. This does not apply only to the Kennedy Administration but has been continuous for years.

Kluckhohn describes the situation as follows:

"There are now 23,000 persons on State's payroll, the controlling group being the 3628 Foreign Service Officers. Typically, a young FSO steps into the Department direct from college. For six to eight years he stamps visas or does routine embassy chores while being shifted around the world. Even as he accumulates seniority and begins to assume 'responsibilities,' he rarely has to make an individual decision. Whatever reports he turns out are initialed and okayed by so many persons that he doesn't have to worry about being blamed personally if things fail to go right. In fact, his basic technique for advancement in the bureaucratic morass comes to consist of avoiding the displeasure of his immediate superior, or identification with any controversial action — even when the avoidance may mean ignoring a problem that could build up to a disaster."

Kluckhohn indicates how the young official is trained to avoid getting into trouble. His first lesson is "Don't rock the boat." This, of course, is true in big business and in universities and wherever there are large organizations of men. The problem that faces the individual is promotion without risk of hurting a superior or upsetting a regime. It is so easy to be squeezed on the escalator of achievement. The man above can kick the rising personality off the ladder; the man below can trip him as he moves upward. The rising personality cleverly avoids interference or sudden emergencies. He takes his strides slowly, even if it damages the country. The man who moves out of step can do infinite damage to himself.

Kluckhohn gives as his number two rule: "Avoid making any decision for which you may be held personally responsible." This requires the responsible personality always to mark time so that if anything goes wrong he can blame someone else. The easiest one to blame is the Secretary of State; the public will believe that he took the wrong steps because he is the big man in the picture. How could a little gnat cause so much trouble? But the little ones do cause trouble, lots of it. They get in the way of things. They talk too much. They bubble over. They need to be spanked and no one wants to spank them. The President protects himself by having a staff in the White House to screen what comes from State and the CIA but the Secretary of State is a daily work-horse on the job who has day by day responsibilities and who cannot duck issues. All sorts of dispatches are signed in his name and decisions are taken for which he is directly and personally responsible. As few as a half dozen bone-heads can trip him up.

Secretary of State Hull, for instance, specialized in tariff questions and too often overlooked broader problems, so that the President or the Under Secretary was handling matters which rightly should have been the Secretary's.

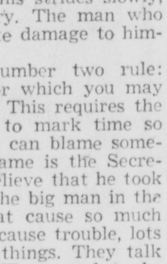

This explains why the London Economic Conference at the beginning of the Roosevelt regime was such a failure. Secretary Hull was left out altogether. Raymond Moley, President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau were reaching decisions about which the Secretary of State knew nothing. In fact, Hull never knew anything about this most significant meeting out of which, in a large measure, grew World War II.

Similarly, Eisenhower was never adequately informed about the Castro situation. Kluckhohn describes how efforts were made to inform Eisenhower through his brother, Milton, and how these efforts failed. Little men stood in the way.

Much is being written and said on this subject but few constructive suggestions are made. Obviously, it is necessary to maintain a Foreign Office Force of trained men; at the same time, it is necessary to provide the top officials with precise information and to give them flexibility of decision and action.

The Doctor's Mailbag

No Nutrition in Coffee; It Has Trace of Vitamin

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Does coffee contain any nutritive element or vitamins?

A—Coffee has no nutritive value unless you add sugar and cream. Just as most of the cold cereals, recommended for children's breakfasts, do little to meet the youngster's enormous energy requirements unless they are powdered with sugar, drenches in milk or cream and topped with sliced fruit.

However, I recently learned to my surprise that a cup of dark roast coffee contains a sufficient quantity of one of the many ingredients of the vitamin B complex (niacin) to provide about one-fourth of the daily adult requirement.

Q—All my life I have been very nervous and full of tensions. First, my heart begins to beat fast, then I have a feeling that I can't catch my breath and then the opposite feeling that I'm breathing too often. I'm afraid to leave home most of the time or go in crowds. I've been to many doctors and clinics and taken all kinds of medicines and injections but nothing seems to help. Do you think I should be psychoanalyzed?

A—Dear, dear madam Nothing is going to help you if you are unable to realize that the very persistence of your symptoms is proof that you have no organic disease of signficance. For, if you did, surely one of the many doctors or clinics you visited would have detected it after all these years.

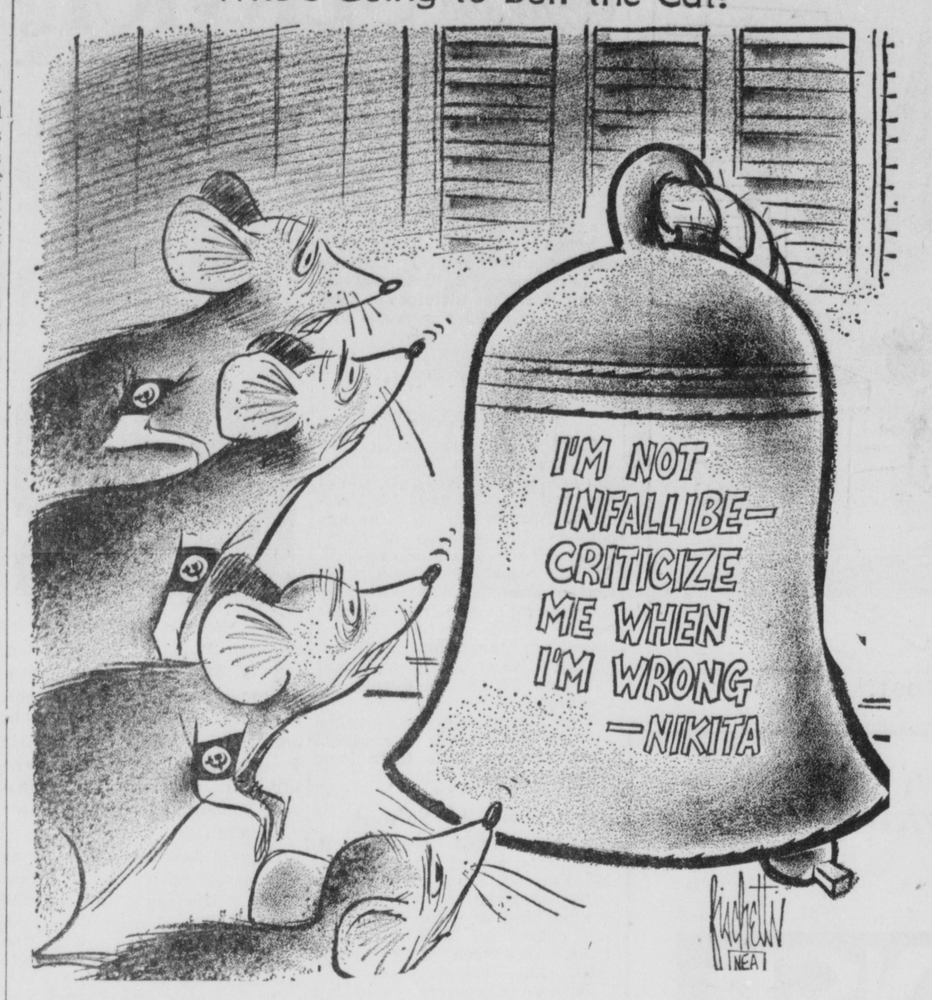

Are you quite sure you're not exploiting your "nervousness" to escape responsibilities? Or duties you don't happen to like or enjoy? Or should I stand in the corner for making so cruel a suggestion?

Q—My boy just recovered from an attack our doctor called scarletina. Now a girl down the street has the same symtoms but her doctor said it was scarlet fever. Our doctor did not suggest quarantine but the other doctor did. Is scarletina different from scarlet fever? If so, is it safe to omit quarantine?

A—The terms are used interchangeably. Each is due to a streptococcal infection. Each is highly contagious. Each is subject to quarantine regulations in every community with which I am familiar. However, much more effective than quarantine is prevention through the use of drugs (chemo-prophylaxis).

By the simple administration of effective anti-streptococcal products to each exposed child, secondary cases can be reduced to a minimum if not completely eliminated.

By administration of an effective dose of any effective streptococcicide ("strep-killer"), the infected child ceases to become an infectious menace after a very few hours.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A private enterprise effort to compete with and perhaps reduce the need for any federal government financial aid for college and university students is now being organized by United Student Aid Funds of New York.

It is a nonprofit corporation designed to endorse personal loans made by local banks to needy students. Its appeal will be to the self-reliant student who does not want to be beholden to the federal government for a tax-supported scholarship or partially subsidized loan.

The government now offers pretty tough student aid competition for any private organization to match. U. S. Office of Education, which administers the federal student loan funds, has just announced that it has made 238,000 loans for a total of over $130 million. This covers the period from February 1959, when the program was launched, through last June 30.

In the current college year it is expected another 150,000 students will borrow another $80 million under the government loan program, making the totals over 380,000 students with $210 million in loans outstanding.

THESE LOANS HAVE BEEN MADE AT 1,410 colleges and universities having 88 per cent of this year's total higher education enrollment of 3.9 million in 2,000 institutions.

The private United Student Aid Fund is now operating only in Indiana, where 1,500 loans were made this year for a total of $750,000. Additionally, Connecticut and Florida have organized under the U.S.A.F. program and plan to make their first loans during the 1962 spring term.

Kansas, Maryland, Vermont and Pennsylvania are organizing and expect to make loans beginning next fall. Twelve other states are said to be considering U.S.A.F. plans.

With Massachusetts, Maine, North Dakota, Rhode Island, Virginia and New Jersey already having independent college student loan plans in operation on a statewide basis, about half the states will then be in a position to aid needy students without government financing.

The U.S.A.F. goal is to raise a $40 million reserve fund from private sources. Half of this will be raised by a national drive. The other half is expected to come from colleges participating in the plan to have students borrow at local banks.

THE $40 MILLION RESERVE WILL GUARANTEE a credit 12.5 times as large, or $500 million. This is nearly four times what the U. S. Government now has outstanding in student loans. Income from the U.S.A.F. $40 million is expected to pay operating costs.

As the U.S.A.F. plan is now being organized, loans will be made available only to students who have completed their freshman year with good academic standing. Each student may borrow up to $1,000 a year for three years. Repayment begins five months after graduation and is made to the lending bank.

THE AVERAGE LOAN IS EXPECTED TO BE $500 a year or $1,500 for the three years. Repayment on such a loan would be $50.87 a month for 36 months, including 6 per cent interest.

In contrasting to this the present U. S. government loan plan allows the student to borrow up to $5,000 during the entire period of his higher education. Repayment does not begin until one year after graduation and the student is given ten years in which to pay, with interest at 3 per cent.

In the first two and a half years under this program, 12,785 students have repaid $1.9 million on their loans at a rate five times faster than was anticipated. Additionally, 4,000 graduates have applied for partial cancellation of their loans under a provision in the law which allows 10 per cent cancellation for each year the borrower is a teacher, up to five years.

Office of Education is expected to go to Congress in 1962 to ask for supplementary funds to expand the government student loan programs and for some liberalizing amendments.

Politics Seen Clouding Up Country's Business Future

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — This is the season of "review and outlook." Yet nobody today really knows the future of American business for even a year ahead. All that can be of guidance is what has actually happened in the past few years, and it is evident already that the Kennedy administration has decided to ignore the lessons of the past and to try again the same devices that haven't worked before.

Basically, the present Administration is often advised by theorists who sincerely seek solutions based on economic factors, but these come into collision inevitably with the demands of pressure groups and politics.

If it weren't for the fact that politics rules above all else, there would be grounds for optimism about the future of business. But because politics, with its irresponsibility in government, is the controlling force, the chances are that more recessions, more unemployment and the "quack" remedies of "pump-priming" may be expected to dominate the headlines within the next six to eighteen months.

Hodges Busy

Business men are supposed to be "hostile" to the Administration. Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges is running around the country trying to butter them up. But, unfortunately, he is regarded as a man without any real influence in the Kennedy administration. He got in wrong with many business men when he virtually wrecked the Business Advisory Council, which had for many decades served a useful function in the Department of Commerce. As a result of Mr. Hodges' private sessions with business men in various cities in recent weeks, the United Press International has just reported as follows:

"On the basis of eight off-the-record discussions in seven big cities and other contacts with business men, Hodges has concluded that it is mainly the officers of big firms, not small business men, who are hostile to the administration or who accuse it of being hostile to them. That hardly surprises the white-haired ex-governor of North Carolina, for he figures that big business men are pro-Republican anyway."

Unfortunately, this country is supposed to be divided between "big business" and "big labor," and the administration usually takes the side of the trade unions, though in the long run the inter-relationship of the two has more to do with the ups and downs of the curve on the chart of business conditions than any other single factor.

Strike Protection

Thus, over the week end, the same old story bobbed up again in print. All the leading trade journals that report in detail the flow of orders in the steel industry came out with forecasts of a "boom" in steel for the early part of 1962. But there's a fly in the ointment. One dispatch says that consumer inventories are expected to rise before June to 11.5 million tons, which constitutes "three months' supply." This is but another way of saying that steel users are preparing to protect themselves against a prospective strike. In fact, almost every one of the reports in the trade journals attributes the sudden upsurge in steel orders to the expected steel strike in June. If there is no strike, of course, steel production will drop considerably after June, and a "slowdown" in related industries will begin, as it did when the 1959 strike came to an end. This time, however, if there is a wage increase, there will be a price increase.

Ever since President Kennedy wrote last autumn to the steel companies and labor leaders warning them against factors that would upset price stability, the country has been aware of an unsolved problem of serious proportions. Mr. Kennedy had an opportunity in his addresses last month before the National Association of Manufacturers in New York and the AFL-CIO in Miami to come to grips with this very issue. But he really sidestepped it. The political pitfalls evidently were too risky.

Statesmanship is more than ever required. The country does not expect businessmen to be "hostile" to the administration, and certainly the administration should not be "hostile" to business. Yet the news from Washington regularly tells of plans that can upset business.

'Profit Squeeze'

From every side, moreover, comes the story of the "profit squeeze" in business due to rising labor costs. The Treasury expects a balanced budget — if business thrives. But to get $10 billion more tax receipts from business and individuals in the next fiscal year and achieve a balanced budget would seem to be out of the question if a serious recession hits the country.

The balance-of-payments situation is also grave. It is not being aided by reports of tax measures aimed to restrict American enterprise which have plants overseas and which are competing effectively with foreign companies and also bringing back huge dividends to the United States. There are news dispatches, too, telling of administration plans to ask Congress to give the President the power arbitrarily to raise or lower taxes in the United States. Nothing could be more calculated to frighten business and disrupt long-range planning.

Meanwhile, European industry, with its lower wage costs, is threatening to cut down America's export trade. It's a time for realism as well as statesmanship.

I don't think this is unique to Denver or unique to policemen. What we have here is a society where certain kinds of goals are more important than how you reach them.

—Ozzie Simmons, University of Colorado sociologist, summing up the Denver police scandal in which 57 policemen were charged with burglaries and robberies.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

There is a new book in the Kingston City Library, called Victorian Comfort by John Gloag (from 1830 to 1900) with an English flavor with some 300 illustrations. Some of the items folks have in their homes today are described or illustrated in this book. Those interested in antiques may find some answers here, too. I think the book sells for around $10.

On page 139 the following is written about our Robert Fulton, the Clermont etc., "At Philadelphia in May of 1790, Samuel Kelly, an English sea captain, noted in his journal that he had seen a steamboat, "stemming the tide at the rate of about four miles an hour. In 1798, Robert R. Livingston, the American statesman, had been granted the exclusive right to navigate the water of New York State with steamboats. When Livingston was appointed United States Minister to France in 1801, he met his compatriot, Robert Fulton (1765-1815) a gifted inventor and engineer who was then living in Paris."

Mr. Gloag further explains: "Fulton has succeeded in running a paddle-wheel steamboat on the Seine, and in 1803, when Livingston's monopoly of steam navigation in New York was renewed, he held it jointly with Fulton. Robert Fulton returned to America and shortly afterwards built a steamboat with engines made by Boulton & Watt of Birmingham. This was his famous Clermont, named after Livingston's home, and in 1807 she began to run between New York and Albany on the Hudson.

It is interesting to see the English point of view. He writes further: "Within a few years large, fast and luxurious paddle-wheel steamboats were carrying freight and passengers on the inland waterways of this country. On great rivers like the Mississippi they raced each other, always trying for new records, and covering immense distances. For example, in 1815, the Enterprise completed the 1,440 mile run from New Orleans to Louisville in 25 days, two hours and 40 minutes . . ." Of course, we too, on the Hudson river had steamboat races and price wars and such, and it all added to the excitement and publicity and commerce of our Hudson River towns and cities.

Then he compares the spaciousness and luxury of the American river steamboats with that found in the coastal steamships that began to ply between British ports after 1815. He mentions Mark Twain in his description of a big New Orleans boat in Life on the Mississippi, when Twain said: "She was as clean and as dainty as a drawing-room . . ."

He further writes that, Britain had no waterways comparable with the Ohio, Mississippi or Missouri, so that nothing on the scale of the American steamboat could have developed . . . "from there he goes on to train travel. He is also very complimentary to American train travel with remarks like: "The American saloon cars were certainly more spacious . . . As for the comforts of the cars, . . . for the same price you can get far more comfortable riding in America . . ." Anyway, he writes with humor, comparing the British with the Americans, and he uses many comic pictures of the 1860's and later. If you have a chance try and read or at least look through the pictures of Victorian Comfort. You are bound to recognize many familiar items.

Making Carlino Probe Public Is Under Study Now

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Assembly Committee on Ethics is considering whether to let the public sit in at its investigation of charges that Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino personally profited from fallout-shelter legislation enacted last fall.

Assemblyman Mark Lane, a Manhattan Democrat who brought the charges, reiterated Tuesday his demand for a public hearing. He then abided by the committee's original decision for a secret inquiry and, behind closed doors, detailed for his allegations for 4½ hours.

Committee Chairman Donald R. Campbell, R-Amsterdam, declined to discuss Lane's testimony. Campbell said, however, Lane's demand for a public hearing was "very much under consideration."

Meanwhile, Lane planned to meet Friday in New York City with Mayor Robert F. Wagner and with the Legislature's Democratic minority to press for support in his fight against Carlino, a Long Island Republican. Lane said he also would ask Wagner, a Democrat, and the Democratic lawmakers to support his bid for repeal of the fallout-shelter legislation passed at a special session of the Legislature in November.

Carlino has said he severed relations with Lancer shortly after passage of the bill. Furthermore, he has maintained that he never had profited from the legislation.

Lane also has charged, and Carlino has denied, that Carlino's post as a Lancer director enabled the company to know what the shelter law would be 11 months in advance. Gov. Rockefeller has defended Carlino, saying the legislation setting up a $100 million program to help schools build fallout shelters was "developed by my staff and myself in the weeks immediately preceding" the special legislative session.

Two Rail-Auto Crashes Kill Three, Six Hurt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two automobile-train collisions at snow-covered, rural crossings 95 miles apart killed a grandmother and two young girls Tuesday in New York States. Six members of a family, including four children, were injured in one of the accidents.

A twice-weekly Erie-Lackawanna freight train and a car crashed near Clayville, south of Utica, killing Mrs. Helen Vliet, 54, and her granddaughter, Shelley Miller, 12, both of Sauquoit. Shelley was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller.

Ten-year-old Sylvia Jean Cook of Center Falls died and her father, mother and four sisters were injured in the collision of their car and a Delaware & Hudson locomotive last night near Cambridge, Washington County.

Crewmen of both trains said they had seen the cars before the crashes, applied brakes but were unable to stop.

Joanne was reported in critical condition at Albany Medical Center Hospital. Donna, in the same hospital, was reported in fair condition.

Sweeping Changes

rollments in nearby educational plants.

As part of the Hudson Valley picture, as seen from the speaker's vantage point as an official of the state commerce department, Swartzmiller gave a fascinating sketch of many projects both underway and in the planning stages.

Commencing with the Hudson River itself, the speaker told his audience that dredging operations should, within five years, give a 32-foot channel from New York to Albany. He reminded them that Canada is again discussing the deepening of the Richlieu River to a similar depth, thereby giving the possibility that ocean-going vessels might go from New York to the St. Lawrence River within the decade ahead.

Along the Hudson, many changes are taking place. In Orange County, the 18,000 acre tract being developed for industrial laboratories continues to grow. The closeness to New York City educational facilities is being furthered by the purchase of a 1,000-acre tract by New York University for the development of a research center. Other Orange County communities showing noticeable progress are: Port Jervis, Newburgh, Beacon, Warwick. In Dutchess County, industrial progress is marked by atomic development in Pawling and the expansion of IBM facilities in the Poughkeepsie area. New industrial development parks are in the making in both Poughkeepsie and Red Hook.

In Ulster County, Swartzmiller reminded the Lions of the construction of the lightweight aggregate plant and the expansion of the cement industry both here and in Greene County.

In the development of shopping centers, the speaker noted that the recently opened Lloyd's Shopping Center near Newburgh was the largest privately owned facility of its kind east of the Mississippi River.

Sweeping developments in the field of transportation are both in process of construction and in the area of speculation in the Hudson Valley. The construction of Route 84, extending from Pennsylvania to Danbury, Conn., with a river crossing at the new Newburgh Bridge is actually underway. Speculation continues as to whether a major airport to accommodate jets will be constructed in Morristown, N. J., or in the Pine Island area of nearby Orange County. The magnitude of such a project was brought into focus by the speaker's statement that the proposed jetport would employ approximately 28,000 people full-time and require an investment of one-half billion dollars.

Planned Parenthood Advocates Fined $100

Dr. C. Lee Buxton, chairman of the Obstetrics and Gynecology Department at Yale Medical School, and Mrs. Richard W. Griswold, executive director of the Planned Parenthood League of Connecticut, were fined $100 each in circuit court Tuesday.

They were charged with advising on the use of birth control devices at the league's recently opened planned parenthood clinic here.

Police raided the clinic Nov. 10. It was opened Nov. 1 to challenge the old statute, which the U.S. Supreme Court last year called merely "dead words."

To Implore Both Sides

Kennedy Plans Conference About Proposals Support

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy plans to sit down with leaders of both parties early next week to seek bipartisan support for some of the major proposals he will lay before Congress.

Chief topic at a breakfast now being arranged by the White House will be the President's forthcoming request for broad executive authority to negotiate tariffs in dealing with the European Common Market.

Kennedy hopes for Republican as well as Democratic backing for this program. He also wants to enlist broad support for foreign aid, an issue sharpened by developments in India and the Congo.

The President apparently feels, too, that there is some basis to believe that he can get some Republican aid in his efforts to get Congress to approve a program of medical care for the elderly, financed through the Social Security System.

Kennedy's move to bring the Republicans in for a chat indicates that, despite the approaching congressional elections of November, he would like to avoid a cat-and-dog political fight in the new session of Congress.

House Minority Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana has given no sign that he would be a party to any peace pact with the Democrats.

Even if the President gains some bipartisan support, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., predicted in an interview that the biggest fight of the new session will come over the international trade program.

Humphrey, the assistant Senate Democratic leader, served notice that he is not satisfied with the way things are going now in American dealings with the Common Market nations.

Democrats Irked At Albany Papers

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Democratic - controlled Albany County Board of Supervisors has decided not to re-designate either of two daily newspapers in the county as official publications for legal notices.

"No newspaper within the county truly represents the principles of the Democratic Party," the supervisors said in a series of resolutions against the Times-Union and the Knickerbocker News, both Hearst dailies in the city of Albany. The board chose the Weekly Enterprise in Altamont, Albany County, for legal notices.

Gene Robb, publisher of both dailies, declined comment on the board's action. The county's legal advertising amounts to slightly more than $100,000 a year.

Proclaims Dutch New Guinea as Indonesia Area

By PETER ARNETT

JAKARTA, Indonesia, (AP) — President Sukarno has proclaimed Dutch New Guinea a province of Indonesia. He ordered a special military command set up to direct any invasion of the Dutch territory but announced no date for it.

Indonesian military leaders favor postponing D-day until late this year, when their forces will be beefed up with ships and planes now on order from Communist countries.

Dutch New Guinea — 159,000 square miles of jungles, mountains and swamps and the scene of some of World War II's hardest fighting—has been claimed by Indonesia ever since it won independence from the Dutch in 1949. The Dutch say the Papuans in the disputed territory have no ethnic relationship to the Indonesians and are only beginning to learn self-government under Dutch tutelage.

Threaten Bus Company With Franchise Loss

NEW YORK (AP)— The city's largest private bus company is threatened with the loss of franchises for many of its routes unless settlements are reached today in a strike of 6,400 employes.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner set the deadline Tuesday for Fifth Avenue Coach Lines Inc. to accept the city's "final" offer of financial relief and come to terms with the striking Transport Workers Union.

Otherwise, he said, "we will begin to look around for other companies to operate these lines."

Newburgh Advised Not to Make Appeal

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — A special counsel for the city said today he would advise the city not to appeal a court injunction that banned Newburgh's tightened, controversial welfare regulations.

The counsel, Henry Hirschberg, said a court order drawn by State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz's office prohibited enforcement of the program "in any way contrary to law" and this constituted a victory for the city.

Hirschberg said this was so because the city had contended all along that its administration of the program did not violate the law.

Hirschberg will make his recommendation to the city council.

"I shall tell them they have gotten the most they can get and we have won a victory," the lawyer said.

Suggest Reformatory

Ingalsbe said a term in Elmira Reformatory where treatment and rehabilitation could be given would readjust defendant to meet society and would serve the best purpose.

District Attorney David W. Corwin said the crime to which defendant had entered a plea of guilty was a "Very vicious" one committed upon a defenseless, elderly woman and he suggested a prison sentence be imposed because of the seriousness of the crime, one that should not be treated "lightly."

Judge Considers Request

Judge Tucker in imposing sentence stated that he was aware of the facts surrounding the crime. He stated the defendant, in his opinion, was a hardworking man but "violent" when he was drinking. He told Page the charge might well have been a more serious one in view of the attack on the elderly woman, a charge for which far more than the five year maximum sentence which now could be imposed on the assault charge, could have resulted.

Consideration of the request for a reformatory sentence would be given by the Court, Judge Tucker said, in order that treatment and rehabilitation might be available to defendant. He then imposed an indeterminate sentence to Elmira Reformatory at Elmira, the maximum of which shall not exceed five years. Bail was canceled, the other three counts of the indictment dismissed and Page was remanded to custody of Sheriff Claude Bell to be transferred to Elmira.

War Less Likely But Much Tension Is the Forecast

By EUGENE KRAMER

BERLIN (AP)—East-West war over Berlin appears less likely than a year ago but look for new periods of crisis and tension ahead.

That seems to be the feeling of both Berliners and some Western officials.

Two reasons are heard why war seems more remote than in 1961.

One is that Soviet Premier Khrushchev apparently takes more seriously than he did a year ago Western determination to defend West Berlin and its access routes. Khrushchev has withdrawn his deadline for signing a peace treaty with Communist East Germany and has not rattled his missiles recently.

The other reason is that the status quo in Berlin is more bearable to the Communists than the situation that existed a year ago.

Then thousands of refugees each month, including many technicians, teachers and students, were pouring out of East Germany through West Berlin. The satellite regime was threatened with collapse.

The Communists raised their border wall through the heart of the city in August. That dammed the tide of refugees to a trickle, solving their most critical problem.

Some quarters expect new tension over Berlin early this year, particularly if the Communists find the West firmly opposed to concessions in the diplomatic probe now starting.

Some observers believe negotiations over Berlin could be long delayed in starting or break down along the way.

The Communists then could be counted upon to boost tension. The easiest way to manufacture a new crisis would be for the East Germans to harass traffic along the access routes to West Berlin across East German territory, or to interfere further with traffic between East and West Berlin.

Sterner Traffic Measures Asked In Albany Talk

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Sterner measures for traffic safety were advocated today by Gov. Rockefeller, who said he was heartened by the best record in the state's history.

The governor also reported in his annual message to the Legislature that, despite a decrease in federal funds, a $1 billion highway and road-building program had been carried out in the last three years. This, he said, was the largest in the state's history and kept pace with the growth of the state's economy.

He also said his administration had made a "comprehensive attack on the state's transportation problems" to maintain adequate water, truck, bus and rail systems.

To make the state's highways safer, Rockefeller urged that:

1. All school-bus drivers be required to obtain chauffeurs' licenses.

2. The state's point system in penalizing traffic violators be expanded to include convictions for traffic violations in neighboring states, plus forfeitures of bail for traffic offenses.

3. A broader program for re-examining drivers be considered.

The governor said his budget message in February would include specific recommendations for continuing an accelerated highway-building program.

Socialite Mother Of Three, Civic Leader Is Slain

PACIFIC PALISADES, Calif. (AP)—Police sought clues today in the mysterious slaying of a pretty young socialite who was brutally beaten in her $100,000 home and then dumped into a water-filled tub.

Doris June Bowman, 32, willowy honey-blonde mother of three and a community leader in this swank Southern California seacoast town was found dead Tuesday. She was the wife of Dr. Frank Potter Bowman, 39, medical director for the Southern California Edison Co.

A neighbor who brought one of Mrs. Bowman's children home from nursery school shortly after noon found her fully clothed body in the tub. Dr. Bowman was summoned home from his office in downtown Los Angeles.

Police said an intruder apparently hit Mrs. Bowman several times with a blunt object, dragged her 40 feet from the kitchen into the bathroom and put her body in the tub. She was wearing blue capri pants and a black blouse.

Investigators said the house was not ransacked. Bloodstains and fragments of teeth found in the house showed that Mrs. Bowman had battled for her life. Bloodstains on the bathroom basin indicated the killer took time to wash before fleeing. Blood smudges were found in several places, including near the front door.

A watch on Mrs. Bowman's wrist was stopped at shortly after 10 o'clock. Neighbors said they had seen no strangers during the morning, nor had they heard any sounds of a struggle in the house. The doors were locked and there was no evidence of forced entry.

There was speculation that Mrs. Bowman may have surprised a prowler bent upon burglary but homicide Sgt. Virgil A. Peterson, in charge of the investigation, commented: "We have no leads, no suspects and can find no motive for the crime."

No Prospect of Reduction in Sight

Employers to Pay Higher Job Insurance Tax, Rocky Says

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Employers likely will have to pay a higher unemployment - insurance tax rate this year, and there is little prospect of reduction next year, Gov. Rockefeller said today.

In addition, the governor proposed an increase in the minimum wage, to conform to federal legislation, and in the workmen's compensation maximum benefit —all charges on business.

But the governor had good news for business, too, in his message to the opening session of the 1962 Legislature.

He said:

More New Yorkers were at work than ever before; New York industry continued to grow; in the last three years, 1,680 new industrial plants or major plant expansions were added to New York's industrial complex; the agricultural economy had hit an all-time high in efficiency; tourism increasesed 30 per cent in the last three years to a $2.6 billion enterprise; and 71 research and development laboratories were built in the state in the last three years.

The increase in the unemployment-insurance tax rate was blamed on the recent recession. Rockefeller said that the recession had been expected to drain the unemployment insurance fund by $150 million but that the total now appears to be approximately $185 million.

To maintain the fund at a level adequate to protect claimants, "it now appears that the subsidiary tax in 1962 will rise by fourtenths of a percentage point to one per cent of taxable payrolls," the governor said.

The subsidiary rate is in addition to the normal unemployment tax rate and is designed to raise the money needed to meet deficit accounts. The fund is financed by a tax on employers.

Rockefeller gave no estimates of how many workers stood to receive pay increases under the 25-cent increase he proposed in the state's minimum wage, now $1. The increase would be in two stages. The $1.25 level would be reached Sept. 3.

Rockefeller did not say whether he would propose that farm workers also come under the minimum wage. They now are expected.

The governor said the maximum weekly benefit payable under the workmen's compensation program needed to be raised from $50 to $55, because the average weekly wage had risen and benefits should coincide.

The increase will cost an estimated $10 million a year. The workmen's compensation program is financed by employers.

Chances Split With Lawmakers

Rocky Urges Milk Date Bill Be Restored in '62

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller, risking a split with Republican lawmakers from rural areas, asked the Legislature today to restore New York City's authority to require dating of milk sold there.

The Republican-controlled Legislature took away that power in 1960. Rockefeller and other GOP leaders reportedly have become concerned over possibly adverse political effects in the state's largest city.

Faces Opposition

But Assemblyman Edwyn E. Mason, R-Delaware, sponsor of the 1960 bill abolishing milk-dating, has said he would fight any attempts to restore it and would urge other Upstate Republican lawmakers to help him.

The governor, in his message, also said he would recommend additional funds for agricultural research programs for the benefit of farmers and consumers.

In addition, he said, he will recommended increased funds to expand activities of the state Soil Conservation Committee.

Will Remove Disease

Work toward eradication of the golden nematode disease in potatoes on Long Island, he reported, gave promise that the disease could be eliminated within five years. He said that, in 1960 and 1961, more than 2,500 acres of potato land were treated against the microscopic insect through cooperative efforts of federal, state and local governments.

Rockefeller, who will be seeking votes in New York City as part of his reelection bid this year, told the lawmakers:

Seek Return of Bills

"The campaign in New York City for return of milk-dating, with widespread discussion of the reported sale of sour milk, has greatly disturbed consumers and is reportedly having an adverse effect on the sale of milk."

New York City was the state's last remaining community having a requirement that the date of pasteurization appear on all containers of milk sold at retail.

Dairy interests who led the fight last year for elimination of milk-dating argued it had become an obsolete practice in view of modern refrigeration.

The governor said today "the encouragement of increased consumption of milk is a basic objective" of his administration. Last March he appointed a committee to recommend solutions to problems of dairy farmers. The committee will make recommendations on adjustments in the price formula for Class I (liquid) milk and on unfair milk-marketing practices.

Message Reflects Rocky's Role as Candidate Again

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's annual message to the Legislature emphasizes past accomplishments, political caution and mass appeal rather than new departures or sweeping innovations.

It is a document that reflects Rockefeller's role as a candidate for re-election, as a prominent Republican on the national scene and a potential candidate for his party's nomination for president in 1964.

The governor's immediate political goal is, of course, re-election. If he achieves this by a significant majority, he might establish himself as a contender for the GOP nomination two years hence, despite his impending divorce.

His status as a candidate is inherent in his detailed recitation — 30 specific points—of developments during his first three years in office.

Political caution is shown in the governor's decision to postpone until next year action on changes in public-welfare laws, which have become caught in a cross-fire between conservative forces demanding retrenchment and liberal groups urging greater benefits.

Rockefeller appeared to be looking toward national horizons as he told the lawmakers that "the role of the state is not negative... as a simple counterweight to federal power... In short, the preservation of states' rights depends critically upon the meeting and fulfillment of states' responsibilities."

The governor once again expounded on his view that "we should not be misled by labels... whether a given piece of legislation carries...the label of 'liberal' or 'conservative.' "

New York State

tend to continue the 10 per cent tax refund this year, will call at least part of the $80 million the State Thruway Authority owes the state and will block plans of New Jersey to take over $27 million in income taxes that state's residents now pay to New York.

He also will recommend that corporate and bank taxes be put on a current basis, beginning in 1963.

The overall tenor of the Rockefeller message, with its heavy emphasis on his record and on programs affecting broad segments of the population, was strongly political.

The governor made public officially what had been assumed for some time — that he will not ask the Legislature to deal this year with the politically sensitive problem of public welfare.

Rockefeller has appointed a Moreland Act commission to look into that field. He said today he was confident that group's recommendations would "provide a basis for legislative recommendations next year."

Cuba Makes Protest

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cuban government has formally protested that U.S. ships and planes have violated Cuban waters and air space "tens and hundreds" of times.

The State Department had no comment on the protest delivered Tuesday by the Czechoslovakian ambassador to the United States, Miloslav Ruzek. He has represented the Cuban government here since the United States broke diplomatic relations with Cuba.

Verdict Pending In Death of Area School Employe

Floyd Beckett, 58, employed since last September as a dishwasher at the Mohonk-Cragsmoor School, died suddenly last evening shortly after returning to the school from a vacation in New Jersey. Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson was withholding a verdict pending further investigation.

Investigator Charles Teelon and Trooper Joseph Ellsworth of the Ellenville station were notified and began an investigation.

Beckett had returned from a vacation in New Jersey last evening, arriving at the school about 10 p. m. Investigator Teelon reported Beckett had been discharged from a taxi some distance down the hill from the school and arrived at the school bleeding from the left hand which he said he had caught in the door of the cab.

He was carrying two heavy suitcases when he reached the school and was admitted to the school dispensary where he was treated by Mrs. Edward Lafferty, school nurse. Shortly after arriving at the dispensary he fell from a chair to the floor. The Ellenville First Aid Squad was summoned but on arrival it was ascertained that Beckett was dead. Coroner Chipp was summoned.

It is believed Beckett has relatives in the Rochester area and efforts were being made today to locate them.

Steel now is being produced in the area at a rate of 80.5 per cent of capacity, the highest since April 1960.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market steadied and showed some minor improvement in moderate trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .20 at 261.10 with industrials up .30, rails up .50, and utilities unchanged.

The rise was irregular, with gainers in the fractions-to-a-point range outnumbering losers.

The list was a bit higher on balance at the start, seemed about to generate a stronger rally for a while, then relapsed with a slight upside advantage.

Gains among aluminums, aerospace issues, oils, rails, steels, and coppers kept the list higher. Airlines were mixed despite a 3 per cent fare boost estimated to add $54 million annually to trunklines revenue.

The aircraft-missile stocks were helped by further news of defense contracts. Motors were narrowly mixed. Tobaccos were mostly lower.

No Budget, Parking Action . . .

consideration as to availability of properties involved.

Minority Leader Joseph F. Carroll Jr. held the figures for land in the Schwenk plan were not high considering that three parcels are involved. Koenig said that parcels one and two in the Schwenk plan had already been investigated by the parking committee, and he felt that the sums arrived at "were not true figures."

A 9-4 vote of the council is needed to approve a bond issue for an off-street parking project. The Democratic aldermen failed to gain that Dec. 26 when Alderman William G. Davis (D-L) 13th Ward, failed to vote for the Radel plan. The council is now composed of eight Democrats and five Republicans, instead of the 9-4 in the Radel administration.

Schwenk's Plan

In his full report to the council on off-street parking, Schwenk wrote:

An extremely serious situation threatens the tax structure of our city, the future employment of many of our residents who work in retail establishments, and the convenience of all who shop in Kingston.

Since both the majority and minority parties have publicly acknowledged the critical need for new off-street parking facilities in the uptown business district, and expressed their willingness to provide these facilities, I am going to suggest that we treat this problem as a bi-partisan matter.

Attached for your consideration is a drawing which indicates the specific location and details of the parking lots which comprise Phase One of my off-street parking plan. I would appreciate it if you would treat the locations of the proposed lots as privileged information, so as not to inflate the asking prices of the properties involved.

As you can see, this stop-gap parking project involves three lots. Lot 1 will accommodate 90 cars; lot 2 will provide space for 110 cars; lot 3 will handle 85 cars.

I feel that this plan is a sensible one for Kingston for several reasons:

1. By creating three new lots, we will be spreading relief for the parking shortage throughout the uptown business district, rather than concentrate all the aid in a single location. Thus Fair Street and Wall Street will share in the benefits with North Front Street.

2. High potential assessment properties will not be used, thus preserving what we are attempting to save.

3. Because of the non-commercial nature of the properties involved in the project, land acquisition costs should be reasonable, and we estimate that the land can be acquired at a cost ranging between $150,000 and $170,000.

4. Depending on the method of operating these lots, which must still be determined, and about which we should consult with the uptown merchants for their recommendations, we estimate that these three lots can be constructed for between $60,000 and $80,000.

5. These lots would be constructed on a self-liquidating basis.

Thus, the overall cost of this stop-gap parking project for 285 cars would range between $210,000 and $250,000, according to our estimates, would serve a greater area of the uptown business district, and would retain potentially valuable properties for future improvement.

If you have any questions or suggestions, I would be pleased to meet with your off-street parking committee, or any number of members of your Honorable Body.

The off-street parking proposal was left with a special committee composed of aldermen Donald M. Hastings (D) Third Ward, chairman; Francis R. Koenig (D) Ninth Ward; Donald E. Quick (D) 10th Ward; Joseph F. Carroll (R) 11th Ward, and Clark W. Myers (R) Second Ward. It is also to be considered by the finance committee composed of Koenig, chairman; Sass and Myers.

Alderman Hastings, commenting on the Schwenk plan, said he also felt that nothing had been done as to acquiring the land. "I don't think they even know it can be had," he said.

Democrats indicated opposition to the proposal that would become Local Law No. 1, of 1962, dealing with appointments in the mayor's office, but favored the rehiring of Harry C. Seitz of 188 Linderman Avenue, stenotypist, who has compiled records of council meetings.

Local Law No. 1 would amend sections 14 and 15 of Title 3 in the city charter and would provide for the naming of William C. Klein as executive assistant to the mayor. It would also create the post of stenographer in the mayor's office, but without increase in the budget.

Not Affecting Kaye: Carroll

Majority Leader Sass said several things should be considered before action is taken on the law. Minority Leader Carroll emphasized that it would not take any power away from the Alderman-at-Large Harold M. Kaye, and if it did he would be opposed to it. Kaye, he said, would continue substituting for the mayor in his absence.

Hastings and Koenig emphasized that records taken by Seitz were valuable to the council and the city, and it was moved to have him attend the next meeting. Carroll emphasized that the mayor had committed himself to cut expenditures. Koenig, recalling mention of certain conditions at the city's parks, suggested that the aldermen have Andrew J. Murphy 3rd, recreation department head, supply a "run-down" on conditions at the next meeting.

The council's five Republican aldermen, contending they had not had opportunity to study several fire insurance bills from different companies, abstained from voting in the adoption of a measure approving payment of bills.

Koenig, at the time of the vote on the $280,000 tax anticipation note sum, recalled Schwenk's campaign mention of his opposition against such notes. Yet, he held, in "his first encounter" with the finance committee, he dealt with such notes.

If the measure was not acted upon, Carroll said, there would be no payroll. The procedure, he noted was a "carry-over" from previous administrations.

Charles J. Cole, public works superintendent, was granted permission to attend the Fourth Annual Asphalt Paving Conference at Cornell University Jan. 15 through 17.

Tomshaw Named Fire Board Head

Tibor Tomshaw, of 187 Henry Street, was elected president of the Board of Fire Commissioners at its reorganizational meeting in Central Fire Station Tuesday night.

Tomshaw was elected to succeed Edward Finch of 38 Abbey Street, who has been replaced on the board by Edward Dasher, of 86 Abruyn Street. The other member of the board is John Worf, of 97 Abeel Street.

Dr. John A. Cooke, of 90 St. James Street, was named a fire department physician to succeed Dr. Knneth H. LeFever, of 23 John Street who resigned recently. The department's other physician is Dr. Jack Lehner, of 204 Fair Street.

Reappointed department chaplains were Msgr. Stephen P. Connelly, of St. Joseph's Church and Robert T. Shellenberger, of St. John's Episcopal Church.

Discuss JFK Visit

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — A possible visit of President Kennedy to the Soviet Union was discussed in the Soviet-American talks on Berlin in Moscow Tuesday, Tanjug, the official Yugoslav agency, quoted informed circles in Moscow.

The same sources also claim U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson's mission is not limited to examining the diplomatic atmosphere in the Berlin dispute but his instructions from Washington contain larger authorization, Tanjug said.

Discard Old Yardsticks In Fixing Stock Values

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I've been investing for a long time, but it's geting more and more difficult for me to understand the level at which some stocks are now selling. Years ago ten times earnings represented fair market value, but today it is a far different story. How do you feel about this?" P. R.

A) Idols are toppling rapidly these days, and it is useless to attempt to appraise stocks in the 1960's by many of the traditional yardsticks.

Now, more than ever before, investors are putting a high premium on growth—the ability to increase sales, earnings and dividends considerably faster than business as a whole over a period of time.

Under today's market conditions, 20 times earnings is a relatively moderate ratio. In fact, most powerful growth situations are currently in demand at 30, 40 and 50 times earnings.

The Dow Industrial list, made up of large mature firms, is selling around 24 times earnings—more than double what used to be regarded in years gone by as a measure of fair market value.

The old order changeth, and I think we shall have to learn to live with it.

I don't mean to imply, however, that certain shares are not unrealistically priced on the basis of present and future earnings. Each situation should be examined with considerable care to be certain that the growth involved justifies the premium to be paid.

I would be particularly wary about some of the newer situations where strong growth rests on guesswork rather than on a well-defined record over the past few years.

Q) "What do you think of APCO Oil?" K. J.

A) APCO markets in the Middle West and Great Plains states. Earning power is strong, and there is a good possibility of an eventual merger with a larger outfit. I like APCO and regard it as one of the better buys among the low-priced oils.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

transmission line from Fishkill Plains to Sylvan Lake in eastern Dutchess County that will provide an additional interconnection between Central Hudson and New York State Electric and Gas Corporation, and the start of construction of a new electric transmission line from Central Hudson's Danskammer Point electric generating station to its Union Avenue substation to reinforce the power supply to the Newburgh area.

Also included are several projects designed as the first steps in a long range program to reinforce the electric power supply to the Kingston - Saugerties - Catskill area, and the reinforcement of natural gas supply to the Saugerties area by the construction of 2.2 miles of additional 6-inch medium pressure gas main near Barclay Heights.

Other Expansion

The program also includes expansion work at the utility's Union Avenue Substation in Newburgh and improvements to electric distribution systems in the Hurley, Ohioville and Kerhonkson areas in Ulster County and Leeds area in Greene County.

Expenditures are also scheduled for additional natural gas supply facilities to serve housing developments in Fishkill, Beacon, Poughkeepsie, New Windsor and Saugerties, and a new industrial park north of Kingston. Also included are projects designed to reinforce existing natural gas distribution systems in Kingston, Catskill and Poughkeepsie.

In summary, budgeted expenditures for 1962 include: $3,064,000 for the expansion and extension of electric and natural gas service to residential, commercial and industrial customers throughout the system; $3,344,000 for reinforcement of electric and natural gas transmission and distribution systems; $665,000 for relocation of gas and electric facilities due to municipal, state and federal highway construction and urban renewal programs; and $563,000 in other projects.

State Official, Bingo Man Say $600 Is for Bet

NEW YORK (AP)—A member of the State Lottery Control Commission and a bingo equipment distributor have told a state investigator that a $600 check that passed between them was part of a $1,000 election bet they lost jointly.

The commissioner, William J. White, a lawyer who lives in Garden City, and the bingo distributor, Ciro J. Virga, of Valley Stream, both denied anything improper in the transaction.

Testimony about the $600 check was given by the two men Tuesday at a public hearing before Moreland Act Commissioner Thomas B. Gilchrist Jr., who is investigating bingo operations in the state.

The hearing resumes today.

White said the check, given to him by Virga in 1959, was Virga's part of an election bet loss.

Virga said he and White bet on former Gov. W. Averell Harriman, a Democrat, to win reelection in 1958 over Gov. Rockefeller, a Republican.

White declared there was nothing wrong with his relationship with Virga. But he conceded that "perhaps the association was unwise or bad judgment."

Virga testified he had been denied a horse racing license in New York State because he had been convicted of bookmaking in 1944 and 1947.

Hurley Vols Slate Fourth Free Movie

The Hurley Volunteers Fire Co. 1 announce they will present the fourth in a series of free movies on Saturday, January 6 starting at 7 p. m. with colored cartons.

Featured will be Mr. Magoo's 1001 Arabian Nights. The main feature deals with the famous T.V. Mr. Magoo and Aladdin, Princess Yosmida, Michel Wazir, Jimmy of the Magic Lamp.

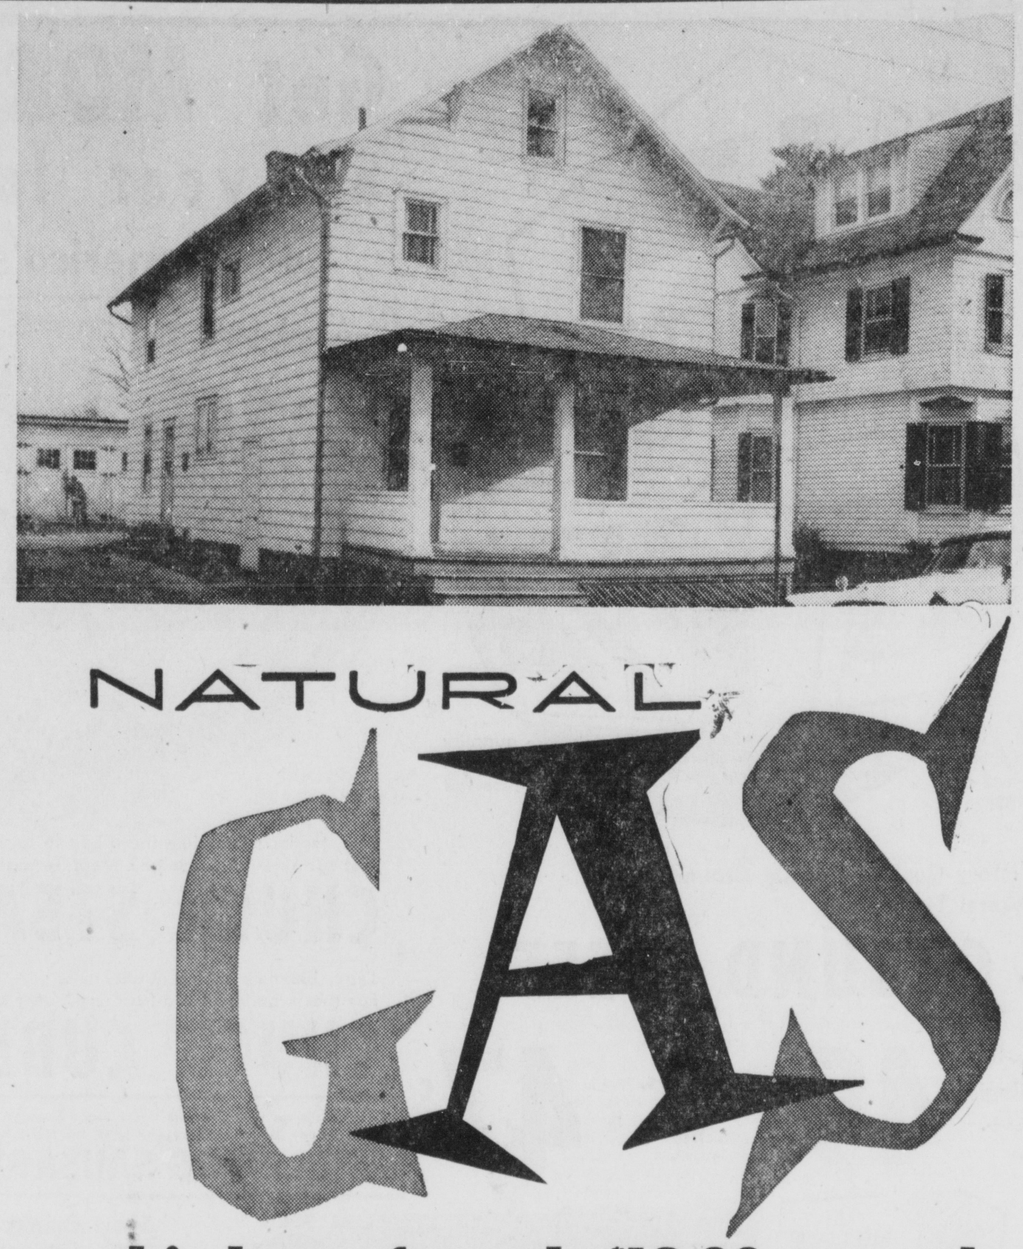

This movie should rekindle memories for the oldsters and give a modern twist for the youngsters of the area, firemen said.

The committee announced that to date more than 325 youngsters have attended the free movies. Charles Goble, chairman of the committee, is assisted by Eugene Hannay, Robert Lawton, Chester Dolson, Paul McGuire.

Firemen said the free movies are presented with funds from their treasury, and they urge residents to take advantage of the movies and attend the event.

The committee said the members have spent considerable time in selecting the movies, which they contend presents wholesome entertainment for area residents.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Activities Are Listed by Group Assisting Needy

NEW PALTZ—The Christmas committee reports that plentiful supplies of clothing, food and toys have gone out to every person in every needy home in the community in time for Christmas.

Nineteen families were served this year in addition to the other individuals receiving baskets of fruit, apples, oranges, candy, cosmetics and individual presents to residents of the Ulster County Home.

The supply of toys was so great again this year that it took the largest truck to transport them from the Wallkill Prison Shop where they were repaired. The repair work is made possible through the cooperation of Warden Walter Wallack.

Gifts, especially for those children were supplied by the Girl Scout Troops of Mrs. Marjorie DePuy and Miss Carole Hefty.

Canned goods were contributed by the pupils from each of the local schools as well as the Delphic Fraternity who presented a benefit performance which netted two large cartons of canned goods as well as $42.50 in cash.

Apples were donated by bushels by all the local apple growers and eggs by local farmers. Apple growers included Kurtz, Dressel, Jenkins and Leuken, Moriello, Ackerman and Hasbrouck. Eggs by Langwick, Tice and Van Alst.

Recently a $25 credit has been made available at Carroll's Clothing Store for clothing for the Auchmoedy family recently burned out in Rosendale.

The committee has expressed a request for a sewing machine for a mother of five children. If in need of repair, the committee will stand the expense.

Mr. Kemper said "Corwin Insurance Agency has given evidence of conducting the highest type of insurance business under the American Agency system. Because of the support of agents like Mr. Corwin, the Kemper Group of Insurance companies has progressed successfully to the threshold of its 50th anniversary in 1962."

Wants Potatoes Used for Welfare

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department should provide surplus potatoes to persons on relief rolls, including 500,000 in New York State, Rep. Harold C. Ostertag, R-N.Y., says.

The department announced recently it would buy surplus potatoes for distribution in the school-lunch program and for use in institutions.

In a letter to Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman Tuesday, Ostertag said a large surplus of potatoes on Long Island and in Western New York justified their use by welfare recipients, especially in the western half of New York and in the New York City area.

By day, breeze blows from the sea. By night, it blows toward the sea. This is because the sun's rays warm the land faster than the ocean by day, causing air over the land to move upward, drawing in air from the ocean. At night the ground cools faster than the water and the air over the water rises.

Slick Play Fools South

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A rubber bridge game at the Arizona Club in Phoenix brought out one of the best plays of 1961.

North and South arrived at a reasonable six-diamond contract after an excellent bidding sequence. I don't intend to get into a discussion of the merit of any slam bid, especially of six no-trump as opposed to six diamonds.

Anyway, South was in six diamonds. Dummy's queen of spades held the first trick and the deuce of diamonds was led from dummy. Now, see if you can figure out how South, a very good player, managed to go down.

The answer to the problem is that George Richardson, who sat East, played the jack of diamonds on the deuce.

West took his ace of trumps and led another spade. South won, led the three of diamonds, noted the fall of the five spot from West, thought a while, and played dummy's eight of trumps! Bingo!

George's play of the jack had paid off. It is interesting to note that he risked absolutely nothing when he made it. There was no combination of cards that would make his jack good for purposes of beating the slam.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)— One easy way to repair a midseason hole in a TV schedule is to plug it with a nighttime version of a daytime show.

On one occasion, this economical expedient even turned into a hit show—NBC's "The Price Is Right." It is doubtful, however, that the same lightning will strike CBS' prime-time edition of "Password," which started Tuesday night.

The game itself—a sort of word association gimmick—is slight and far from gripping. Any fun and excitement must come from the skill of the players. In the first show, Carol Burnett carried the entertainment load by herself in spite of the presence of Garry Moore and two other players.

One vital reason for the continued success of "The Price Is Right" is that the home audience can bid along with the studio contestants. That's not possible with "Password." Anyway, the sh.. v is not right for evening, although it is a pleasant enough time-killer earlier in the day.

Fred Astaire's ABC anthology series Tuesday night was a short, offbeat vignette with an intriguing title, "The Cake Baker." It was a sad little story of a lonely young woman, silently escaping the boring confinement of housework and child rearing by daydreaming.

She tries to get back to normal by plunging into PTA work. But her husband, inconvenienced and not understanding, destroys her one chance to regain mental health. At the end, she apparently has slipped away from harsh reality for good.

Monday's flower-covered Rose Parade from Pasadena was also covered with free plugs, separated by the paid commercials.

Cowboy stars—including some most of us had never heard of—were riding their horses past the cameras hoping for—and receiving—a word about their shows. There were floats from trucking associations, insurance firms, cities interested in tourist trade and others, in such profusion that the orange juice and cereal sponsors ofthe two network shows sort of got lost in the shuffle.

Hughes Assures Against Double Tax for Jerseyites

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Gov.-elect Richard J. Hughes has assured New Jersey commuters that they will not be double taxed, even if the New York Legislature adopts Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's proposals.

Hughes made the assurance Tuesday night. A spokesman said the governor-elect was not surprised by Rockefeller's announced proposal.

Rockefeller said he will ask the New York State Legislature today to cancel a provision of New York's income tax law which gives credit to out-of-state residents who pay income taxes in their own state.

The recommendation is designed to stop New Jersey from recapturing some $27 to $38 million a year from New Year's treasury.

Three Appointments Delayed in Buffalo

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Action of three top appointments in the new Republican administration has been delayed until next Tuesday by the Democratic-controlled City Council.

The council voted 10-5 Tuesday to send the appointments to its legislative committee for further study. The council is made up of 11 Democrats and four Republicans.

One of the key posts, that of police commissioner in the administration of Chester Kowal, was among those blocked after the council had unanimously approved three others.

Kowal last month picked Howard E. Finney, a New York City deputy police inspector, for the key police assignment.

Other appointments delayed were that of Albert C. Killian to parks commissioner, and Edward D. Baxter as public works commissioner.

Keeping white nylon lingerie really white isn't much of a problem if you use a water softener along with detergent in each washing. The water softener helps to loosen and float out even stubborn grime.

Advice from a marriage counselor: In spite of the expense and loss of time, the bridegroom should accompany the bride on the honeymoon. It may be the last vacation he will ever have.

A man took his young son to the beach. After a number of the bathing beauties had passed by in front of them, the father asked:

Father—What are you staring at?

Son—Oh, I was just looking at those baby's. They are dressed just like baby sister with their diapers on, but what I can't understand is why they wear those bibs so low when they ain't eating a thing.

The young man had just been admitted to practice at the bar. He heard his name spoken, and started to his feet.

Judge—Mr. Smith, the prisoner at the bar is unable to employ counsel. Will you defend him?

Mr. Smith — Certainly, Your Honor. May I retire with him to the bar office for a few moment's consultation?

Judge (with a slight sneer.)—Yes, sir; and give him your best advice.

Smith appeared not to notice, and, motioning for the prisoner to follow him, the young fellow passed from the room. Ten minutes passed, and then the young man strolled into the room and dropped into a chair.

Judge—Are you ready to proceed?

Mr. Smith—Yes, Your Honor.

Judge—Where's the prisoner?

Mr. Smith — I really don't know.

Judge—What?

Mr. Smith—I'm sure I don't know.

Judge — Mr. Smith, will you explain what you mean by this extraordinary conduct?

Mr. Smith—Your Honor told me to give him the best advice I could, I believe?

Judge—Yes, sir.

Mr. Smith — Well, may it please the court, when I consulted him I found he was guilty, and had really no defense whatever. So, in pursuance of Your Honor's so kindly meant suggestion, I advised him to drop out of the window and make himself as scarce as possible. He followed the first part of my advice to the letter, and I presume he will also observe the rest of it.

* * *

Lawyer — Madam, you have had three husbands, and every one of them either went crazy or turned out to be worthless. Yet you are thinking of marrying again!

Fair Client—Yes, sir. I want a safe and sane fourth.

An Idaho potato married an Iowa potato. They had a little sweet potato.

The sweet potato grew up and decided to get married.

Mother—Who do you plan to marry?

Little Sweet Potato — Lowell Thomas.

Mother—I forbid you to marry him. He's just a commentator.

General Manager Of Danbury News Named Publisher

DANBURY, Conn. (AP) — Eugene J. Brown, general manager of the Danbury News-Times since April 1956, was appointed to the additional position of publisher today.

The appointment was announced by James H. Ottaway, president of Ottaway Newspaper-Radio Inc., of which the News-Times is a member.

Ottaway, formerly publisher of the News-Times, continues as president of the Danbury Publishing Co. Inc., which publishes the newspape. r

Brown has been associated with the Ottaway Group since 1944 and for 12 years was general manager of the Oneonta (N.Y.) Daily Star. He assisted in development of other newspapers as they were acquired by the Ottaway Group.

He is senior vice president of the Ottaway Company which owns daily newspapers in Middletown, Oneonta, Plattsburgh and Port Jervis in New York State, in Stroudsburg, Pa., and in Danbury.

Before becoming associated with Ottaway, Brown was with the Los Angeles Times, the Passaic (N.J.) Herald News and the Long Island Star Journal.

In announcing Brown's appointment, Ottaway noted that since 1955 the News-Times' circulation has increased from 17,000 to 22,000.

Sees Victory for Cause Of Racial Equality

NEW YORK (AP)—Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, predicts victory for the cause of racial equality.

"I think we're going to win," Wilkins said Monday night, "because of the helpers we have, because the American people are essentially fair, and because the Negro has faith in himself."

Some 1,000 persons attended a dinner honoring Wilkins for his 30 years' service with the association.

Science at Work

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An antibiotic for plants, how a cockroach finds a mate in the dark, and frisky snowfleas are topics of scientific studies:

For Sickly Plants

Before long, farmers and fruit growers may be able to give sickly trees and plants an assist with a dose of a new wonder drug, an antibiotic for plants, now being perfected by British scientists.

From a patient screening of 8,000 soil samples, they turned up venturiciden which, if present tests prove out, will be produced as an agricultural spray. Venturicidin is an antifungus, although not an antibacterial, and seems to be harmless to animals.

So far, the scientists reported in Nature magazine, it has been found effective in stopping apple scab, barley mildew, broad bean rust, gray mold, cucumber mildew, and other plant diseases.

Cockroach Romance

A Harvard biologist has found out how cockroaches find a mate, in the dark.

When Dr. Robert Barth removed a pair of glands, called the corpora allata, from the necks of female cockroaches, the males ignored them. The glands, he explained, normally produce a hormone which triggers production of a chemical considered very agreeable by the male. When Dr. Barth replanted new glands in the females, they mated and produced normal eggs.

Snowflea Frolic

Don't tell the dog, but there's a hardy little gray-white insect called a snowflea that thrives in subzero temperatures and hops with the best of them, although without accuracy.

Actually, snowflea won't bother animals, but it can be a pest by invading cold-water pipes in houses and sometimes find its way into refrigerators. But, the National Pest Control Association reports, such invasions are infrequent and can be controlled by exterminators.

Snowfleas are a type of springtail, that is, insects possessing a pair of spring-like tails that can be tripped when quick distance is required. Snowfleas can hop as much as a foot. Trouble is, they don't seem to have any control over the direction their springs will take them.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Businessmen and bankers will have their eyes on Washington for the next two weeks. So will labor and investors and taxpayers. And so, too, should consumers. All will have a great deal at stake.

For the fiscal and economic program which President Kennedy is expected to reveal shortly in general terms in his State of the Union message, and in detail in the budget message to follow, will have bread-and-butter significance for almost everyone.

Soon we'll be told how much the government will spend, and for what; how much it expects to take in through taxes, and what tax changes if any; how it expects to finance any borrowing the Treasury must make to keep its till safely filled.

All of these will have effects sooner or later, to greater or lesser degree, on new orders for many industries, sales and profits records, jobs and work weeks, interest rates on savings and mortgages, on loans and on short-term and long-term securities, and in time on prices and waves.

The economy is too big now for the federal budget to make it or wreck it. But industrial and financial trends are definitely affected by government policies. And the effects of government policies are more noticeable when the economy itself is in fairly close balance—definitely not declining, but not advancing in anything resembling a sure-fire boom.

Many businessmen believe that the current moderate uptrend in the economy is due to forces generated within the economy itself, with a big assist by fairly steady consumer spending.

Administration economists, however, think that a lot of the zip today is due to a needed extra nudge which extra federal spending gave. The defense outlays were raised by $6 billion. And as orders arising from this reached defense firms and were spread through their supplies, it helped not only industry but made more jobs, or longer work weeks, for many workers. And their large paychecks helped push consumer sales to record highs before Christmas.

The U.S. Treasury also hopes to benefit. The added earnings of industry and larger incomes of individuals are expected to raise its take through income taxes in the coming fiscal year.

It is on this anticipation that the Budget Bureau is counting to balance out the bigger budget the President is expected to present this month. Spending is expected to rise to at least $92 billion. Just a year ago the President estimated spending in the current fiscal year would be $80.7 billion, raised later to $815 billion.

The increased spending expected in the fiscal year starting July 1 will further benefit some industries and firms—and, hopefully, many workers. If this in turn inspires higher Treasury revenues, the budget may stay in the hoped-for balance.

President Tshombe To Receive Award

NEW YORK (AP)— President Moise Tshombe of Katanga will be given an award at a March 7 rally sponsored by Young Americans for Freedom, the group said today.

The presentation at the Conservative Rally for World Liberation from Communism will be "to the embattled Katangan people for their courageous stand against communism and their continued fight for freedom," the rally committee said.

Herbert Hoover, Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., and former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker are among others scheduled to receive awards at the rally in Madison Square Garden.

Speakers will include Republican Sens. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and John Tower of Texas, the committee said.

DISOWNING HER FAMILY

Q: My niece has lived with me for several years. She is not very proud of her family, and I can't blame her, but she has risen in spite of them. She is marrying a very fine young man from a prominent family. I am giving the wedding, but the question is, must she have her family come to it? In my opinion, she ought to have the right to a happy wedding, and I don't see why she has to publicly acknowledge her family on this one day when they have done nothing for her except to disgrace her and have for many years left the care of her to me. Under such circumstances, would leaving them out be unforgivable?

A: Unless she wishes to publicly and irrevocably disown them, her family must be invited to the wedding.

Q: My son is soon to become engaged. His fiancee's mother does not like engagement parties and is not giving one for her daughter. Would it be proper for me to give an engagement party for the young couple?

A: A party to announce the engagement would not be proper. However, after the announcement by her parents, it would be entirely proper for you to give a party in honor of their engagement.

Q: A friend gave me a very good-looking pocketbook for Christmas. Several days later when I went to transfer my things into the new purse, I discovered that the catch was broken. I would like to know if it would be proper to tell my friend about this and ask her to exchange it for another, or must I keep it and say nothing?

A: If you know which store it came from, you may properly try to exchange it yourself but you should not ask your friend to do this for you.

College for Everyone at a Dollar a Year

Any deserving youngster who wants to go to college will have a chance through a "grass-roots" scholarship plan, if a Massachusetts optometrist's dream comes true.

"The wonder of it all is that this scholarsh p plan asks each of us to contribute just one dollar a year," say the originator of the idea, Dr. Irving A. Fradkin of Fall River in the January issue of Better Homes & Gardens magazine.

Doctor Fradkin's project, known as the Citizens' Scholarship Foundation, is designed to create wider educational opportunities in the United States through local action—without resorting to any form of government aid.

The first community to adopt this plan was Doctor Fradkin's own Fall River—a Massachusetts city of just under 100,000 people, famed in formed days for the Old Fall River Line, Lizzie Borden, and for its more than 100 textile mills.

Although the people of Fall River come from diverse racial, religious, and economic backgrounds, they immediately grasped the simplicity and workability of the scholarship idea. The fund-raising drive was a smashing success. In its initial year, 1958, the Citizens' Scholarship Foundation of Greater Fall River raised $4,500 to provide 24 scholarships for youngsters with such varied names as Avramides, Cippollini, Wadsworth, Santos, O'Neil and Cwiklik.

Today, the scholarship foundation idea has spread far beyond Fall River. Already this remarkably simple idea has been adopted by some 50 communities in more than a dozen states. In many cases, local civic organizations are taking advantage of this golden opportunity to sponsor a cause that is both worthy and highly successful.

Briefly, here's how the local foundations work:

They must be nonsalaried, nonprofit organizations, led by responsible citizens who have an abiding interest in the future of their community and nation. These men and women begin at the local level by meeting with their friends and neighbors, explaining the Foundation's goals.

Once the campaign is launched, each person in the community is asked to contribute a one-dollar membership for that year. Fraternal, business, civic, and educational organizations are urged to take $100 annual membership; scholarships are then awarded in each group's name.

Unlike many other fund-raising programs, the Citizens Scholarship Foundation has no high promotion costs to divert dollars from the main purpose—scholarships. The only money that leaves the community is a $50 annual Foundation dues to help defray national publicity and mailing costs.

Scholarship awards are made by a panel of outstanding local citizens, who select students on the basis of need, scholastic achievement, unusual family circumstances, leadership potential, and initiative. Applications are coded to eliminate any possibility of favortism.

Youngsters who receive the scholarship are asked to repay them wholly or partly, if they can do so, in later years. While there is no legal obligation to repay, the scholarship fund in a community can grow most vigorously if much of the money is returned and used for still more scholarships for other students. (No interest is asked, however.)

The deram of the Citizens Scholarship Foundation is to create a vast revolving fund, supporting a growing number of Scholarships of increasing size. Judging by the experience of newly formed chapters, once a community accepts the idea, it never slows down.

And acceptance is coming fast.

In January, 1961, the national Citizens Scholarship Foundation of America was launched. At that time, humorist and former teacher Sam Levenson became honorary president; Doctor Fradkin is the working president. Neither man receives any compensation from the Foundation.

Enthusiastic approval of the Foundation's aims quickly came from President Kennedy, former President Eisenhower, and from many national educational leaders. High-school teachers also praised the idea when it was introduced in their communities; the far-reaching scholarship plan has helped renew the enthusiasm of their students toward obtaining a higher education.

Citizens' Scholarship Foundations never are formed to compete with existing scholarship programs; they supplement the excellent work already being done by other groups. In several cases, the Foundation has actually become a community's scholarship co-ordinating center — eliminating any chance of overlapping among the various awards.

Meeting on Educational Needs of Children Throughout State Set for Tonight at OES

In conjunction with the "Lights On For Education" project being sponsored by the New York State Congress of Parent-Teacher Association, this evening various members of the administrative, Board of Education, Teachers Association and the community P-TA's, will meet in the Onteora Central School Library at 8 o'clock.

The purpose of the project is to ascertain the educational needs of the children of New York State. It is hoped that this meeting will lead to the establishment of a committee made up of representatives of the local P-TA's in the district and of the administration, the Board, and teacher groups, for the purpose of studying current legislation and alerting citizens in the area of its importance.

January Declared Dimes Campaign Month by Mayor

The New March of Dimes drive has been launched locally with a proclamation by Mayor George P. Holmes declaring January as the month for the campaign.

Mrs. Lila Simmons and Mrs. Edith Schaffer have been named chairmen of the fund drive, representing Lamouree - Hackett Unit 72, American Legion Auxiliary, annual sponsors of the campaign.

In his proclamation Mayor Holmes urged area residents to support the important fund raising campaign to the fullest extent. He pointed out that funds collected for the National Foundation aid victims of birth defects, arthritis and polio as well as finance essential research programs for cure and prevention.

New March of Dimes coin collectors are now being distributed throughout Saugerties township. More than 100 cannisters are being placed in area business places by volunteers. Each container bears the words "Your Dimes Will Do It Again."

The Salk and Sabin vaccine developed exclusively with March of Dimes funds has served to control polio, and now the foundation's aim is to do the same with arthritis and birth defects. The organization is now expanding its patient aid program to establish treatment centers and clinics for the purpose of reducing these two diseases by early diagnosis.

In addition to needed funds for treatment of these two diseases, money is required for the training of new medical and research personnel and the continuation of the National Foundation's medical research program.

The coin collectors will be prominently displayed for the convenience of the public and the directors ask that the public donate generously to the campaign as in other years.

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson will be the guest speaker at the Saugerties Jaycee's Man of the Year banquet. The dinner will be held Jan. 24, at the Flamingo Restaurant to honor the man selected as Saugerties' outstanding citizen for the year.

Assemblyman Wilson himself was selected as Man of the Year in Woodstock for the year 1960.

He has been supervisor of the Town of Woodstock, majority leader of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors and former president of the Federated Sportsmen Clubs of Ulster County. Wilson is state assemblyman from Ulster County and county Republican leader as well as being on the New York State Republican Committee.

Gil Roberts will be the master of ceremonies for the festivities. He is a member of the Jaycees and was formerly an announcer with radio station WGHQ.

The selection of the Man of the Year will be made on Jan. 7, by the judges, Peter Williams, Robert Herb and Joseph DiDomenico. Nomination forms are available in any of the Saugerties banks. The names of all nominees must be received by Jan. 7.

Demonstration Set

A small appliance demonstration by a representative of Central Hudson will be held Thursday, Jan. 18, at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Home, Livingston Street, starting at 7:30 p. m. Arrangements have been made by members of the Saugerties Golden Age Club.

Refreshments will be served following the demonstration.

Mrs. Eva Watts, Golden Age president, appeals to all in the area to help them make this their first money-making project, a success. The public may attend.

Area Social Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence M. Cahill, with their daughters Eileen and Anne, spent Christmas with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Strong of Rhinebeck. Other guests included their son and daughter-in-law. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence F. Cahill of Harrisburg, Pa., and Mrs. Strong's aunt, Miss Margaret McDonald of Oswego.

Sports Talk

With 1962 upon us, the New York State Woman's Bowling Association will step up its tempo to attract some 3,000 teams to Kingston for the annual state championships scheduled to get under way on Friday, March 23.

As of Dec. 29, approximately 1350 entries had been received in the office of the NYSWBA at Watertown. Cities leading with paid entries are: Syracuse 154, Rochester 132, Buffalo 112 and Binghamton 75.

Final closing date for entries is Tuesday, Jan 23, and all entries will be processed on a first come, first serve basis until that date. The tournament is strictly a weekend affair and will continue on weekends through May 27. There will be no bowling Easter weekend, April 22.

The Kingston Woman's Bowling Association under the inspired leadership of Nell Glennon is making a big pitch for a minimum 100 teams from within the KWBA. It's a big order but the KWBA lassies can be counted to accomplish their objective. They have seldom failed. Neighboring cities like Poughkeepsie, Middletown, Newburgh and the villages of Saugerties Rhinebeck, plus Woodstock, New Paltz, Rosendale, et al are being exhorted to file a record number of tournament entries.

With the tournament in our backyard, many area women will be getting their first taste of major competition. It's one of the milestones in a bowler's career, a thrill surpassed only by an appearance in the nationals. The Nationals (or WIBC) are expected to attract approximately 4,000 teams to Phoenix, Arizona, beginning April 5.

The 30th annual convention meeting of the NYSWBA will be held Saturday, March 31, at 9 a. m. and 7 p. m. in the Kingston High school auditorium. The state association is hoping to see every city association in the state represented at this convention.

• Upstaters in Lead:

Upstate bowlers are dominating the current standing boards of the NYSWBA. Highest series in the state this season is credited to Leila Pattison of Rochester with 738. Kingston's Rose Schatzel holds down second place with 700. Ruth Legler, Rochester, is third with 697 and a fast rising Buffalo gal, Terry Giffin, has the fourth and fifth slots with 693 and 681. Best single to date is the 279 rolled by Evelyn Jenkins of Buffalo. Anita G. Rubado of Plattsburgh is second with 278. Tied with 276 are Leila Pattison, Rochester, and Jean Calendo, Buffalo. Carol Shevlin, one of the state's finest, is all alone at 269, followed by Terry Griffin and Leila Pattison, again, with 267's. . . Simon Pure Beer and Ale team of Buffalo holds the high team triple of 3001. The School Shelters Advertising of Buffalo paces the team singles with 1072. . . More than 181 of the country's best known women bowlers will compete in the WIBC's second annual Queens Tournament in conjunction with the WIBC on April 23 at Squaw Peak Lanes in Phoenix, Arizona. The 1961 Queen, Janet Harman of Los Angeles will defend her coveted crown against favorites from 20 states. These will include the 1961 runnerup, Eula Touchette, East St. Louis; and such famous stars as Marge Merrick, Columbus; Marion Ladewig, Grand Rapids; La Verne Carter, St. Ann, Missouri; Stevie Balogh, Cleveland and many others.

• Nationals Start Thursday:

Speaking of Women bowlers, Phyllis Notaro of Brant, N. Y. (near Buffalo) is defending her National All Star title in the 10-day BPAA tournament which gets under way Thursday at Convention Hall in Miami. Joe Shier of Newburgh will represent the Hudson Valley district. Abany has one of the youngest entries in the nation in 18-year-old Tommy Hoffman. Two big guns out of the tri-city area are Johnny Walther and Joe Donato, who has twice qualified for the semi-finals. Bill Tucker of St. Louis is the defending champion.

Sandy Stephens Cited Twice for One-Game Shots

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sandy Stephens of Minnesota swept both first place and runner-up spot for outstanding one-game performances in the annual Associated Press year-end football poll today.

The All-America quarterback topped the balloting with 21 votes for his brilliant play against Michigan, and received 11 votes for his starring role against Michigan State. Stephens also was cited for his work against Illinois and Iowa.

Performances by Jim Saxton of Texas, Gale Weidner of Colorado and Curtis McClinton of Kansas drew nine votes each for third in the poll.

Against Michigan, Stephens led Minnesota to a come-from-behind 23-20 victory as he gained over 300 yards running and passing. He scored once on a 63-yard sprint, passed for another touchdown, threw for a pair of two-point conversions and made an interception on his own two in the final seconds. The following week the multiple-talented 212-pounder directed the Gophers to a 13-0 victory over nationally top-ranked Michigan State, contributing a scoring pass and an interception to Minnesota's triumph.

Rose Bowl Pact Seems Assured

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The Big Ten and Big Five conference apparently are in agreement over a contract for an annual Rose Bowl football game.

Representatives of the two athletic organizations discussed at length Tuesday the possibility of reinstating the old contract they operated under for 13 years before its expiration after the 1960 Rose Bowl game.

There probably will be one major difference, however. The Big Ten intends to adhere to its no-repeat rule, but the Big Five—with fewer teams—probably will not. Under the no-repeat clause Minnesota would not be eligible for the 1963 Rose Bowl game, were it to win the Big Ten title again next fall. Its last two appearance were on a special invitation basis.

Lathrop Leishman, chairman of the Tournament of Roses Football Committee, said he expected no complication in signing of a new pact because "our relations with the Big Ten have been so admirable. These things always take time."

Sullivan Award To WilmaWard

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Wilma Rudolph Ward, winner of three Olympic gold medals and Associated Press woman athlete of the year for 1960 and 1961, has won the James E. Sullivan award for 1961.

"This is the greatest honor in the world for her," said Ed Temple, her coach at Tennessee State. "This is the topper—the one I've been waiting to hear about for a long time."

Mrs. Ward herself was en route home from Linden, N.J., where she and her husband, classmate and track team member William Ward, spent the holidays with his parents. The newlyweds hope to compete together in track events.

Mrs. Ward, 23, is the third woman to receive the Sullivan Award in the 32-year history of the recognition by the Amateur Athletic Union. The Tennessee State senior collected 1,627 points, the fourth highest total ever in the poll of former Sullivan winners, amateur sportsmen, sports writers and sportscasters.

She was runnerup to Rafer Johnson last year. This year Tommy Kono, world champion weightlifter from Honolulu was second followed by world broad jump record holder Ralph Boston, also of Tennessee State.

Thursday Mrs. Ward will be in Milwaukee to receive The Associated Press award.

The Sullivan Award is presented annually by the AAU "to the amateur athlete who, by performance, example and good influence did the most to advance good sportsmanship throughout the year."

Fullmer Named Fighter of Year

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Double distinction came to Gene Fullmer Tuesday from the National Boxing Association.

Fullmer, who is recognized as world middleweight champion by the NBA, was voted the association's fighter of the year and also was named as boxer-of-the-month in ratings for December.

Last month, the sturdy West Jordan, Utah, fighter was voted the Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque as fighter of the year by the New York Boxing Writers Association.

In its selection of Fullmer as the year's top fighter, the NBA cited his successful three defenses against Sugar Ray Robinson of New York, Florentino Fernandez and Benny (Kid) Paret, both of Cuba.

Kentucky Fires Blanton Collier

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) —Kentucky began looking for a football coach today after the university's athletic board fired Blanton Collier, the softspoken coach who replaced Paul (Bear) Bryant.

The board voted Tuesday to buy the remaining three years of Collier's contract, saying its decision was by "mutual agreement" with Collier. His salary was reported at $17,500 annually.

The board only five weeks ago gave Collier a vote of confidence.

Collier, 55, who came to Kentucky in 1954 and compiled a 41-36-3 record, said he had no immediate plans for the future.

Bryant, who came to Kentucky in 1946, pulled the Wildcats out of the football doldrums and led them to three major bowls—the Orange, Sugar and Cotton—in successive years. He left in 1953 to take the head coaching job at Texas A&M and now is at Alabama.

The Wildcats were 5-5 last season.

Jerry Lucas Named Sportsman of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Jerry Lucas, Ohio State University basketball star, was named "sportsman of the year" today by the editors of Sports Illustrated magazine.

The magazine described Lucas as "the best amateur basketball player in the world, and a student, a perfect team man, a wholesome example of fitness, awareness and common sense."

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON

Newspaper Enterprise Sports Editor

What other business or form of entertainment would be muddle-headed enough to walk out on the New York metropolitan area and its 16 million people?

President Warren Giles said the National League didn't need New York, but it is highly significant that all hands are happy to come limping back. Now the question to be resolved is—does New York need the National League?

When the knuckleheads running the major leagues permitted not one but two franchises to quit New York, where one supported the other for more than half a century, they turned half of the long baseball reason over to racing completely. It's going to take a lot of coaxing to win many of these customers back from night harness racing at plush plants.

FORTUNATELY FOR professional baseball in general, the New York Mets are in the capable hands of George M. Weiss and the inimitable Charles Dillon Stengel. The return of Casey Stengel in particular brings a Happy New Year to Manhattan, especially its baseball writers who no longer have to travel 90 miles to Philadelphia to see National League clubs in a crummy old park.

Stengel, with his impressive background, gift of gab and humor, is a super baseball salesman at a time when the business sorely needs salesmanship. The old professor knows how to get around people. Case was considered too old, among other things, but the last time I saw him he was the youngest 71 you ever saw. If Del Webb and Dan Topping doubt this, the Yankee proprietors should try sitting up and talking baseball with him half the night.

Stengel has vastly more zip than a dozen other big league formen who are 35 years younger and manage with their mouths shut. The truth is that present managers, with rare exceptions, simply do not project. All but four or five are faceless men who talk guardedly in cliches.

THE YANKEES WERE extremely fortunate along this line to have had Ralph Houk, who is articulate as he is popular with his players. A less personable and capable manager succeeding Stengel and his 10 pennants and seven world championships in 10 years easily could have had a rough maiden voyage.

Stengel was forthright right up to the end with the Yankees. Webb and Topping expected the professor to go quietly, and were shocked with the rest of the country when at press conference, Professor Stengel said: "I have just been told that my services were no longer required.

"I guess I got dumb overnight."

He's got a million of 'em.

Waldo Defends Barrel Jump At Grossinger's Saturday

Jim Waldo, 27-year-old Portland, Oregon ace, will defend his world barrel jumping title in the 12th annual championships Saturday at Grossinger's Country Club.

Waldo ended a six-year reign of Leo LeBel of Middletown, N. Y., last January and the rivalry between these two stars is expected to highlight the weekend action.

The finals are set for 1:15 p. m. to 3:15 p. m., with preliminaries from 10:30 a. m. to 12:30 noon.

LeBel holds the world record set in 1956 when he sailed over 16 barrels for a distance of 26 feet, 2 inches. In the previous year's competition, he jumped 28 feet, 7 inches, but over only 15 barrels. Because the contest is held to determine which man is the best barrel jumper, the number of barrels cleared is more important than the distance leaped.

No one has ever cleared more than 16 barrels, but with a strong field of 20 due Saturday, a new world record is possible.

Celebrity Judges

Roger Maris, home run hitting sensation of the New York Yankees and his teammates, Yogi Berra and Whitey Ford, are expected to be in the judges box. Maris is slated to fly to Grossinger's from his home in Missouri. Also scheduled to judge are actress Rita Gam; former world boxing champion and Marine hero, Barney Ross; Linda Bement, "Miss Universe 1961" and channel swimming queen, Florence Chadwick. Former Olympic speed skating champion Irving Jaffee is director of the event.

Villanova Seeks 12th Straight

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Villanova's Wildcats go after their 12th straight victory tonight against another unbeaten team. But the opposition isn't likely to provide a major test despite its spotless record.

The Wildcats play Seton Hall (4-0) at the Villanova Field House. From past performances, Jack Kraft's hustling 'Cats should scuttle Richie Regan's Pirates. While Villanova has been beating some big boys and zooming into No. 5 position in the national rankings, Seton Hall has been building its record against lesser lights.

In other games tonight, Eighth ranked Duke is at home to Penn State, Texas Tech opens defense of its Southwest Conference title against Texas and West Virginia returns to Southern Conference competition, where it is 5-0, after losing three out of its last four to non-league rivals. The Mountaineers entertain VMI.

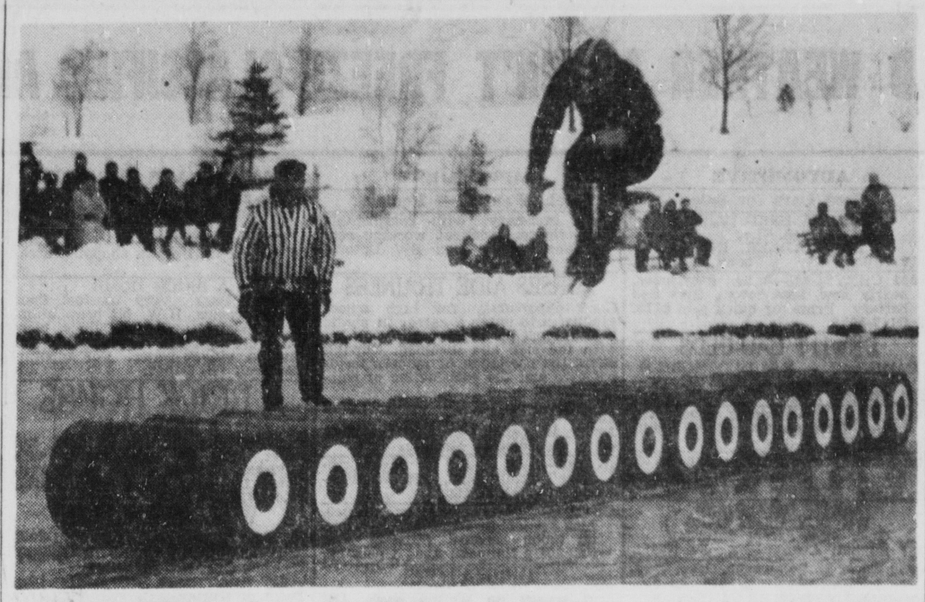

Kentucky, third ranked nationally and the only member of the top ten in action Tuesday night, took a 19-point lead against Virginia in the opening half and whipped the Cavaliers 93-73. Adolph Rupp played 15 Kentuckians and 12 of them scored, with Larry Pursiful's 21 points high. Cotton Nash added 18 for the Wildcats and Scottie Baesler had 17.

Indiana Rampage

Indiana tied its team scoring record and scored a new high against a Notre Dame squad, pounding the Irish 122-95.

In the last-minute hero department—Jerry Smith's three-point play with 37 seconds to go gave Furman a 77-76 Southern Conference squeaker over William and Mary; Bill Kirvan's three points in the final 56 seconds of overtime provided the clincher as Navy edged Georgia Tech 64-62; with 11 seconds left, Bob O'Billovich stole the ball at midcourt and raced in for a layup that enabled Montana to top Idaho 63-61; Tennessee State made up a 17-point deficit in the final 12 minutes of regulation play, drawing even on Porter Meriwether's 30-footer seven seconds before the buzzer, then trimmed Seattle in overtime 101-97.

Wake Forest broke open a tight one in the second half and downed Minnesota 79-70. Davidson surprised Alabama for the second time in two weeks, 73-67. Vanderbilt made good on 23 of 26 free throws in the last half in beating Yale 79-69. Butler maintained its perfect record against Ivy Leaguers, defeated Princeton 63-58. Maine upset Connecticut 73-68 in the Yankee conference.

UP AND OVER—Leo LeBel, 31, of Middletown sails through the air with the greatest of ease. Leo, who held the world barrel jumping title for six consecutive years, lost it last January to Jim Waldo, 27, of Portland, Oregon. The Middletown athlete hopes to regain the title this Saturday (Jan. 6) when the 12th annual World Barrel Jumping championship is held at the Grossinger Country Club.

Holly Defeats Burns, 125-79

Dave Holly displayed championship form to overpower Jim Burns, 125 to 79, in the city pocket billiard tournament Tuesday night at the Uptown Billiard Parlor.

He reeled off high strings of 30 and 22, while Burns settled for a high run of 14.

Yankees' 1st Drill February 5

The New York Yankees will open their first spring training drills in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, on Monday morning, Feb. 5, when 36 players will report to Manager Ralph Houk's advance camp.

After some 31 years training at St. Petersburg, the New Yorkers will launch their initial camp at the new Fort Lauderdale Stadium as world champions. Manager Houk and General Manager H. Roy Hamey are looking for a replacement for all-star shortstop Tony Kubek, who is in the Army in the reserve program.

Of the 36 players who will attend the camp, 22 are on the Yanks' 40-man winter roster and nine of these were with the World Champions in 1961. The nine veterans are pitchers Tex Clevenger, Jim Coates, Al Downing, Hal Reniff, Rollie Sheldon, Bill Stafford, Ralph Terry and Bob Turley and catcher John Blanchard. Turley will be testing his right arm on which he had surgery during the '61 season. The ex-Cy Young Award winner (1958) reports from his Baltimore home that the ailing flipper is coming around nicely.

Newcomer Marshall Bridges, the left-handed reliefer recently acquired from Cincinnati for catcher Jesse Gonder, also will report February 4th for duty on the 5th.

Gibbs to Report

Other infielders to merit special attention at the camp in Fort Lauderdale are Jake Gibbs, who received a record Yankee bonus last spring after completing four starring seasons in baseball and football at Mississippi, where he was everybody's All-American quarterback a year ago; Charlie Keller, Jr., son of old "King Kong" of Yankee fame in the late '30s and '40s, who led the Eastern League at Binghamton last season with .349; and Mike Hegan, 19-year-old son of coach Jim Hegan, who received a bonus contract last mid-season. Hegan was at Holy Cross and is a long-ball hitting first baseman as is Keller.

The 36-man camp will be under the supervision of Manager Houk and a staff including coaches Frank Crosetti, Johnny Sain, Wally Moses, Hegan, scout and former Yankee minor league manager Steve Souchock and scout Johnny Neun, who will serve again as camp coordinator.

All tolled there will be 20 pitchers, six catchers, six infielders and four outfielders on the Advance Camp roster. The Advance Camp will continue after the pitchers and catchers on the Yankee varsity report for duty on February 18th. The younger players will remain at Fort Louderdale until it is time to report to their respective minor league club training quarters.

Celtics Rout Hawks, 136-99

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Hawks, it develops, are not yet ready to resume the kind of play that took them to five straight Western Division championships in the National Basketball Association.

Final score: Celtics 136, Hawks 99.

It was the fifth straight victory for Boston over St. Louis this season and the Celts did it with ease after shaking off the Hawks in the second quarter.

The New York Knicks beat Detroit 110-104 for their third straight triumph in the Garden nightcap, and Hal Greer and Larry Costello triggered Syracuse's 127-102 romp over Chicago in the two other NBA games.

Reverse Run

NEW BERN, N. C. (AP)—Pat White, management forester for the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission, did a double take while driving in the Croatan National Forest near New Bern.

White saw a six-point buck deer chasing a small hound along a road. The deer chased the dog for about a mile before scampering off into a wooded area, White said.

Pittsburgh Rens Back In Eastern Control

The Pittsburgh Rens, who have been in, out and tied for the lead in the Eastern Division of the American Basketball League, are in again.

They regained sole possession of first place with a victory Tuesday night over the Hawaii Chiefs at Honolulu 98-92. The triumph put the Rens half a game ahead of the idle Cleveland Pipers.

The Los Angeles Jets defeated the New York Tapers 112-104 at Los Angeles in the other scheduled league game. The defeat dropped the Tapers, who shifted their franchise from Washington on Sunday, to last place in the Eastern Division.

Clarkson Pucksters Down Princeton, 5-1

POTSDAM, N.Y. (AP)—Princeton, on a three-game swing in Upstate New York, meets undefeated Clarkson's hockey team tonight after bowing to St. Lawrence, 5-1, Tuesday night.

The Tigers were down, 5-0, in the game at Canton before they managed to score with about 5½ minutes of play remaining.

The victory was the ninth in 13 games for the Larries this season. Princeton has won four games and lost two.

Clarkson, featuring a team heavily loaded with juniors, has won 10 straight this season.

LSU Officials Oppose Dietzel Switch to Army

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—Despite some opposition from the Louisiana State Board of Supervisors, Paul Dietzel is expected to leave the football power he built at LSU for a new challenge as head coach at Army.

Army, which hopes to make an announcement Thursday, is believed to have offered the former West Point aide a five-year contract at $20,000 a year. There also are the fringe benefits of attractive, free living quarters at the Point and post exchange and commissary privileges, probably worth another $5,000 a year.

Dietzel, 38, one of the nation's most successful young coaches, still has four years to go on his LSU contract at $18,500 a year. Jim Corbett, LSU athletic director, said the coach had not asked for his release, but indications were the request would be made today. The New Orleans States-Item said it had learned that Dietzel would fly to West Point Thursday.

Hereabouts, the trip is being pegged as an introduction of the new coach, who will succeed Dale Hall. Hall was fired after three years and three losses to Navy.

If and when Dietzel requests his release, sparks may fly in the bayou. The personable former assistant to Army's Earl Blaik built LSU into a perennial national power in a matter of three years.

Taking over in 1955, he had an unbeaten, national champion by 1958 and in seven years his overall record has been 46-24-3, including a 2-1 record in bowl games. This season LSU lost its first game (at Rice), then won 10 in a row—including Monday's 25-7 whipping of Colorado in the Orange Bowl at Miami.

Dietzel would have to receive a favorable vote from a majority of the 14-member board of supervisors to obtain his release and several members have indicated they feel Dietzel should stay.

AP Names Davis Back of Year

Ernie Davis, closing out his brilliant varsity career in a series of postseason games and heading into what promises to be a shining pro career, continues to reap honors as the most celebrated college football performer of 1961. The Syracuse star's latest distinction was being named back-of-the-year in the annual Associated Press yearend poll Tuesday.

Davis beat out the three other All-America backs in the voting, being chosen by 43 of the 212 sports writers and broadcasters on the panel. Bob Ferguson of Ohio State and Jim Saxton of Texas tied for second in the balloting with 34 votes each, and Minnesota sparkplug Sandy Stephens was next with 29.

In three seasons at Syracuse, Davis was the key man on teams that won 24 of 29 games, captured the national title with a 10-0 record in 1959 and also posted two postseason victories, against Texas in the 1960 Cotton Bowl and over Miami, Fla., in last month's Liberty Bowl. An elusive and strong runner, the 210-pound halfback rushed for 823 yards and scored 94 points this past season, surpassing school records established by the fabulous Jimmy Brown. He finished his collegiate career with 2,386 yards running and 220 points scored.

Since then Davis has been awarded the Heisman Trophy as the country's top player and has signed a three-year National Football League contract calling for $80,000 with the Cleveland Browns. In the pros, he will join Brown to form what shapes up as a devastating one-two running punch.

Four Champions In Weidner Cap

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Four champion thoroughbreds of 1961—Kelso, Carry Back, Bowl of Flowers and T.V. Lark — are among 40 nominated for Hialeah's $100,000 added Widener Handicap to be run Feb. 24.

Mrs. Katherine Price's Carry Back, a Florida-bred and 3-year-old champion colt, and Brookmeade Stable's Bowl of Flowers, champion filly two straight years, are on the grounds. Bowl of Flowers is the only filly nominated.

Mrs. Richard C. du Pont's Kelso, horse of the year in 1960 and 1961, is at Aiken, S.C. Preston Madden's T.V. Lark, the grass king, is at Santa Anita in California.

Calumet Farm, which has won seven Wideners, nominated Yorky, the defending champion; Beau Prince, and Raison for the mile and a quarter race.

Pilot Is Safe After Jet Lands in Swamps

PICAYUNE, Miss. (AP)—A U2 jet aircraft—the same type which was downed over the Soviet Union in 1960—crashed in the dense Pearl River swamps near Picayune Tuesday night.

The pilot, Capt. Charles P. Stratton, 32, was reported safe early today by authorities at Keesler Air Force Base, Miss.

Capt. William N. Orr, deputy public information officer at Keesler, said Stratton was perched in a tree "and he's okay."

Stratton's home is in Detroit, Mich., but he, his wife and two children live at Laughlin Air Force Base, Del Rio, Tex.

Rescue parties from the Air Force and the Coast Guard entered the swampy area at daybreak.

Orr said the U2 was attached to the 4080th Strategic Wing at Laughlin AFB. It was on a flight from Del Rio to Birmingham, Ala., and return.

The plane, in flames, crashed about 9:30 p.m. Witnesses reported seeing the fiery crash from as far away as New Orleans—75 miles south-southwest of Picayune.

Dutch Offer Is Rejected to Talk Over Guinea Rift

By PETER ARNETT

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Foreign Minister Subandrio today rejected the latest Dutch offer to negotiate their dispute over West New Guinea. He said Indonesia would negotiate only if the Dutch agreed in advance to transfer the area to Indonesian control.

Otherwise, said Subandrio, Indonesia will take the Dutch-controlled western half of the big island by invasion, as it has threatened.

"We do not object to bilateral negotiations with the purpose of the transfer of the administration of West Irian (West New Guinea) to Indonesia," Subandrio said.

Subandrio thus replied within 24 hours to Dutch Premier Jan de Quay's unconditional offer to talk over the future of the 159,000 square miles of jungle and mountain territory claimed by Indonesia ever since it won independence from the Dutch in 1949.

Subandrio said De Quay's offer "seems to me to be a mere formality because he still emphasized the basic policy of the Netherlands is self-determination for the people of West Irian."

In the Hague, the Dutch government refused to comment on Subandrio's rejection. It has no diplomatic relations with Indonesia. A spokesman said the government expected to be informed officially of the Indonesian reaction through the U.S. government or acting U.S. Secretary-General U Thant.

Police Probe Dog Shooting in Park

Shooting of a dog in Forsyth Park last Saturday has been reported to the Kingston police by John K. Lang of 15 Browning Terrace. An examination of the dog by a veterinarian showed the dog had been shot with a .22 calibre gun.

It is reported that this is not the first use of a firearm in the vicinity, although it is a violation of the law to discharge a firearm within the city limits. Discharge of a firearm in the vicinity of a public park where many children are at play is a serious violation of this law.

The three Lang children, accompanied by their dog, were at Forsyth Park last Saturday sleighriding. The dog momentarily disappeared in the woods on the upper level of the park and on return was found to be bleeding from the mouth and neck. Sunday, when the dog developed a limp a veterinarian was consulted and it was discovered the dog had been shot.

Lang, who is employed at the Ulster County Fire Control Center on Golden Hill, reported the matter to the police.

Denies Guatemala Deal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department has denied that the United States made a deal to help Guatemala gain British Honduras in return for Guatemala's help in last Spring's abortive invasion of Cuba.

The denial was made by press officer Lincoln White Tuesday after reports that Guatemala's President Miguel Ydigoras, in a New Year's eve radio-television speech, had said that in return for Guatemalan help in providing training sites for Cuban invasion forces the United States agreed to use its good offices in settling the Guatemalan-British dispute over British Honduras.

Dominican Action Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomatic and economic sanctions against the Dominican Republic are expected to be removed Thursday by the council of the Organization of American States.

Diplomatic sources here said Tuesday that the action probably will be taken on the recommendation of a special committee which has made periodic visits to the Caribbean island since the sanctions were imposed in 1960.

Fred Dana Marsh Famous Artist Dies in Florida

Word has been received in Woodstock of the death of Fred Dana Marsh, 89, at Ormond Beach, Florida. He had suffered a cerebral hemorrhage on Oct. 29 and had been in the hospital until the time of his death late in December.

During an art career that extended more than 70 working years, Marsh made an international reputation as artist, muralist, painter, architect and sculptor — always pioneering in new fields, new ideas and new methods. Often he was a generation ahead of his time in creative thinking and production.

He studied art in Paris where in 1895 he married Alice Randall, a fellow Chicago art student. They lived in a Montparnasse studio where two sons, James and Reginald, were born. Both sons were to become noted artists, well known to the Woodstock art colony.

In 1928, Marsh retired completely from art production on a commercial basis. Within a year he had lost both his parents, his wife and his third and youngest son in a swimming pool accident. He retired, aged 56, to Ormond Beach where on a long stretch of Atlantic Ocean frontage he had begun to build a home. For the rest of his life he lived there and in Woodstock.

In 1930, Marsh married Miss Mabel Van Alstyne, a New York and Woodstock artist, starting a notable artistic partnership. Together they finished the new home, embellishing every inch of it with their own hands. Marsh allied himself with the artistic aims of his wife, whose main interest was a collection of American Folk Art. Begun as a girl by Mrs. Marsh's sister, Dr. Van Alstyne who died before its completion the collection, now housed in a private museum in Woodstock, occupied the attention of Mr. and Mrs. Marsh for more than 25 years. Marsh served as adviser and helped with collecting.

Given to Florida

The artist's final work,, a 45-foot high statuary group based on a dramatic story of an Indian princess who shoots with bow and arrow a marauding chieftain of a rival tribe, stands on Nocorocco Point in Tomoka State Park, just a few miles from Marshes Ormond Beach home. It was presented by the artist in 1957 to the State of Florida in an open air dedication.

Marsh was the first artist in the United States to picture the drama and significance of men at work in industrial production; first to use American historical motifs in miniature map murals; first to experiment with uses for new metals and materials as they poured from American factories. Marsh often found his work unappreciated until artistic understanding caught up with him. Versatile, refusing to be bound by traditional methods and never lacking in a new field to explore he amassed accomplishments and honors to the end of his life. He was a member of the Architectural League of New York and of the American Society of Mural Painters.

Marsh was widely known and loved by his art associates. He was a fine raconteur, loved practical jokes, music and fun. But his independence and the diversification of his talents were often misunderstood. His pictorial maps, miniature murals in the finest detail fared well, however. His clients included John D. Rockefeller Jr., E. H. Hutton, Herbert Pratt and other millionaires.

Artistic Family

Survivors of the artist include Mrs. Marsh; a son, James Randall Marsh and his wife, Anne Steele Marsh of New Jersey; and three grandchildren — Reginald, Janet and Peter. All are artists. James Marsh is a distinguished designer in wrought iron work who does restorations and reproductions for historic buildings. He has a famed workshop, Fiddler's Forge, in Pittstown, N. J. His wife is a painter and engraver, whose works are in the Metropolitan Museum, Library of Congress and other museums. Grandson Reginald is an engraver in Los Angeles; granddaughter Janet (now Mrs. William M. Hunt of Lambertville, N. J.) is a gifted painter and pianist and Peter is a violinist, now a member of the Lenox String Quartet.

The Marsh "clan" as friends call it, also included one of America's great art names, that of Fred Dana and Alice Marsh's second son, Reginald, who died in 1954, an illustrator, cartoonist, and painter whose work featured the raucous flow of humanity in American city life.

The work of father and son may be seen together at the West Point museum of the U. S. Military Academy, where a marine scene by Fred Dana Marsh was hung recently next to a waterfront watercolor by Reginald Marsh.

Christian Science Theme Is on 'God'

How children can be early taught to understand and love God will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in Woodstock.

The welcome given children by Christ Jesus, described in the Gospel of Luke (18), is among the Scriptural selections to be read in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God": "And they brought unto Him also infants, that he would touch them: but when his diciples saw it, they rebuked them. But Jesus called them unto Him, and said, Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God."

One of the correlative citations to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states: "Jesus loved little children because of their freedom from wrong and their receptiveness of right. While age is halting between two opinions or battling with false beliefs, youth makes easy and rapid strides towards Truth" (p. 236).

No P-TA Meeting

The January meeting of the Woodstock P-TA scheduled Thursday night has been canceled, it was announced this morning. The cancellation was the result of the inability of scheduled guests to appear.

Youth Gives Up Says That Mother Kept Nagging Him

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y. (AP)—A teen-ager sought in the stabbing death of his mother surrendered today. Police said he told them he killed her because she nagged him.

An assistant district attorney said Alan Mancuso, 18, signed a statement that he slugged, kicked and stabbed his mother, Anita Mancuso, in their apartment Saturday after a quarrel.

Rubenfeld said young Mancuso told police he had spent most of the time since his mother was killed riding on subways in New York City.

Rubenfeld said the boy, a dishwasher, had been charged with second-degree murder.

Members of the family said that the mother had been critical of her son's appearance, companions, late hours and drinking.

Public Schools Short 127,200 Classrooms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a record year of construction the nation's public schools are still short 127,200 classrooms, the Office of Education reports.

It added that the pace-setting year of school building did make some headway in cutting down the room shortage but that the gain may be wiped away next fall by a flood of new pupils.

Based on a survey of state departments of education, the office said there were 37.5 million enrolled in the public schools last fall, an increase of 1.2 million over figures for the fall of 1960. Most of the increase was in secondary schools.

Youth Stabbed Fatally In Vandalism Dispute

NEW YORK (AP)—Joseph DiGiovanni, a 15-year-old Brooklyn high school student, was stabbed fatally Tuesday night in a dispute over vandalism at another youth's house.

Salvatore La Barbera, 16, also of Brooklyn was charged with homicide, police said.

Police said the two boys, friends for years, met Tuesday night to settle differences.

Meals for 500 Million Children Is Goal

WASHINGTON (AP) — George McGovern, Food for Peace director, says he is shooting for a program that will provide meals for 500 million children overseas within five years.

McGovern, a presidential assistant, said he hopes the Food for Peace program involving surplus U.S. foodstuffs can be expanded to reach that figure. Most of the youngsters would be in non-Communist Africa, Asia and Latin America, he said.

Hollywood News, Views

The James Durantes will no longer be a two-house family. Jimmy is solving the "dilemmis" that has existed since he married Margie Little a year ago. She had a hilltop house and he had one on the flat, and neither wanted to give theirs up. So they lived in both.

"We're puttin' one of dem up fer sale," Jimmy said. "Which one? Margie's, of course. After all, I am still boss of de family—at least I was when I checked two days ago."

From now on Tony Curtis works only for himself—either in his own productions or partnership deals. He learned his lesson with "The Lady L", which tied him up for months and was never made by MGM.

"Complete chaos," he says of the experience. Chaotic or not, he got paid a nice $300,000 for his trouble.

Comings and goings: Debbie Reynolds to New York for confabs on her dress business. Van Heflin to the East for an NBC special about Highway 1, then to the Philippines, for a movie. George Gobel home from the Broadway flop of "Let It Ride." He dropped a bundle but needn't worry; he'll probably be back on TV next season.

Catching up on the yearend attractions: "The Innocents" is a good chiller, excellently acted by a British cast and directed by Jack Clayton with a keen eye for scare tactics. The timing may be bad for this attraction, following so soon after the memorable Ingrid Bergman TV version of the same yarn, "Turn of the Screw."

Pumpkins are native to Mexico and Central America. Centuries before Columbus reached the New World, Indian tribes over most of North America were cultivating pumpkins and squash.

Warming Trend Seen for Eastern Half of Country

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More light snow fell across northern areas from the Midwest into New England and rain dampened some western sections but generally clear weather prevailed elsewhere today.

It was chilly again in sections of the Southeast, including parts of Florida. A general warming trend was indicated for most of the eastern half of the country.

Colest weather again was centered in sections of the Northeast with zero and below temperatures in parts of northern New York State.

The 20s and 30s also prevailed in sections eastward with the mercury dropping to below freezing in parts of the Southeast and into the 40s in Florida. It was 45 in Miami but Key West reported 65.

The light snow belt extended across the Great Lakes region, the upper Ohio Valley, northern Appalachians and in parts of the north Atlantic Coast states into New England.

Illness in Two Places Ban on Potato Bleach Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — Complaints of illness from Horseheads, N.Y., and Williston, N.D., brought a request from the Food and Drug administration to restaurant-owners to halt use of a potato-bleaching compound known as "Whitex."

The agency said Tuesday that some of the product had been contaminated by a poison—sodium fluosilicate.

The FDA said illnesses, not fatal, had been reported from the New York State and North Dakota communities.

"It is not known how widely the tosic product has been dis tributed,-" the FDA said.

The agency said Whitex, manufactured by the Bond Co., Kingsport, Tenn., was used in solution by restaurants as a dip to preserve the fresh color of peeled potatoes such as those used for french fries. The product is not sold for use in homes.

The FDA said the contamination apparently had been caused by accidental substitution of sodium fluosilicate for sodium bisulfite.

Kennedy Said to Be Like Eisenhower, Macmillan

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — From now on, after a year in office, President Kennedy more and more will be compared in policies, performance and personality with men who had his job or have one like it.

Kennedy is more like former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan than any other world leader of recent times.

Haughty, stubborn French President Charles de Gaulle is a complete opposite. So is earthy, bouncy, extroverted Soviet Premier Khrushchev. So is former President Harry S. Truman.

Truman was more outwardly aggressive and the result was a lot of conflict — for instance, with Republicans and particularly Sens. Taft and McCarthy — which he seemed to enjoy.

Some of his conflicts might have been avoided with different tactics but this is not to say he was wrong, given the time and circumstances of his presidency.

The country will be forever grateful to him for his decisiveness in beginning foreign aid, his military alliances and stiff-arming the Russians.

In all these areas, and a dozen others, there was conflict of one kind or another.

Much of his willingness to accept it and chance his political future on it no doubt was in part a product of his early background in Missouri precinct politics.

He played politics the way it had been played for generations. But that way may not be seen again for some time if only because the circumstances of the presidency are different.

In the Truman years and all those that preceded it—before a trigger-pull on hydrogen missiles could devastate a continent—a president could afford to occupy himself more with domestic politics.

Change in Presidency

Some other possibilities may also explain the change which has taken place in the presidency as demonstrated by Kennedy and Eisenhower. For instance:

1. American politics may be entering a more sophisticated period when the traditional cat-and-dog fights between a president and his opposition look old fashioned and time-wasting.

But more than the Kennedy-Eisenhower presidencies will be needed to show whether this is the case.

2. It may be simply that Kennedy and Eisenhower either think it shrewder and in the long run more fruitful to compromise and avoid brawls or they just don't have the stomach for slam-bang fights.

To put it another way, it seems to be a necessary part of their nature to avoid embroilments. Eisenhower did that with Taft, McCarthy, and with everyone else when he could.

But then, of course, he didn't come up through the American political system, either. Even as a general he had made a reputation for avoiding open breaks and in getting opposing factions to work together.

Follows Ike's Course

This is how he operated with his Democratic opposition. It is clear, after a year in office, that Kennedy is following with his Republican opponents the same course Eisenhower pursued with the Democrats.

Even though this is a congressional election year and he wants more Democrats in the Capitol, an authoritative source at Palm Beach let it be known Kennedy is making a peace offering to Republicans before Congress opens for 1962: he won't do any heavy politicking.

Eisenhower went less than all-out on some of the programs he asked Congress to pass. Kennedy already has shown a great willingness to compromise.

Both men, like Macmillan of Britain, have shown an immense desire to avoid personal conflicts, which in a way is a good method of staying popular.

On the other hand: at a time when the Russians have weapons just as sudden and terrible as this country's, both Eisenhower and Kennedy must have felt the day-by-day American political slugging of the past is small potatoes compared with the greater conflict with communism.

Says Rocky Has Restored Vigor To N.Y. Economy

Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse said today that Governor Rockefeller's 1962 legislative program would "move New York State closer to a full employment economy with more payrolls and more jobs."

Commenting on the Governor's annual message to the Legislature, Chairman Morhouse said:

"Governor Rockefeller has restored vigor and momentum to the state's economy which was lagging ominously when he took office three years ago. The number of new and expanded plants in 1961 and 143 per cent greater than in 1958 under the last Democratic administration. Today, more people are working in New York State than ever before in history.

"In his message, Governor Rockefeller makes it emphatically clear that his prime objective is to generate even greater economic vitality so that everyone seriously seeking work can find a job. His policies for the past three years and his legislative program for 1962 will move New York State closer to a full-employment economy with more payrolls and more jobs."

Two passenger ships will cease making regular calls at St. Helena Island in 1962, breaking its main link with the outside world.

Final Count on Death Toll Over New Year's

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic accidents during the three-day New Year's holiday weekend killed 337 persons, exceeding the National Safety Council's pre-holiday estimate of 330 deaths.

The count covered a 78-hour period beginning at 6 p.m. (local time) Friday and ending at midnight Monday.

Deaths in fires set a record for a New Year's period since World War II. The previous record was 74 in 1955-56.

New York State Budget Is Over $2.6 Billion

Progress Stressed In Albany Speech

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller called upon the 1962 Legislature today to rally behind an election-year program that will include higher spending for schools, the ill and the aged and will send the state budget to more than $2.6 billion.

The Republican governor, who has opened a campaign for re-election, urged in his annual message that the state minimum wage be raised from $1 to $1.25 an hour and the maximum workmen's compensation payment be increased from $50 to $55 weekly.

Lauds the Record

The 8,000-word message, delivered at the opening of the 185th session of the New York State Legislature, contained a lengthy review of Rockefeller's administration. He described it as "three years of solid accomplishment and sustained progress rarely matched in our state's history."

Rockefeller, also a potential candidate for the Republican nomination for president in 1964, appealed to the lawmakers to forget such labels as "liberal" and "conservative" and ask only "does it serve the general welfare?"

Major Recommendations

These were major recommendations of the message:

1. Basic changes in school-aid formulas to give local districts more help in meeting educational needs, with details to await recommendations of the Diefendorf Committee on School Financing.

2. Faster expansion of the State University to help meet its goal of doubled enrollments by 1970.

3. Addition of dental services and eyeglasses to benefits available to the needy aged under a tax-paid program.

4. Expansion on several fronts of vocational and technical education to train youths, welfare recipients and other unemployed in skills needed by present-day industry.

For Improving Health

5. "Substantially increased expenditures" to combat mental illness and new programs for fighting virus-caused diseases, which some now think include cancer.

6. Restoration to New York City of its authority to require that the date of pasteurization appear on all containers of milk sold at retail.

7. A voluntary program for upgrading nursing homes to make them eligible for coverage under hospital insurance. Thereby easing demands for the more-expensive facilities of regular hospitals and possibly slowing the increases in costs of hospital insurance.

8. Continuation of a highway program that now totals more than $1 billion in work under construction and under contract.

9. A greater role for the state in peacetime uses of atomic energy through creation of the New York State Atomic Research and Developments Authority.

10. Expansion of the State Commission Against Discrimination from five to seven members and opening of SCAD offices in Harlem and Brooklyn.

Highway Program

Rockefeller's program is expected to increase state spending by about $200 million over the current $2.4 billion budget.

The governor set no price tag on his 1962 program. He will do that when he submits his budget next month. But sources high in the administration have said that added spending for schools and other additional costs will send state expenditures over $2.6 billion.

Seeking Revenues

To meet that and remain on pay-as-you-go, the administration is seeking all possible sources of revenue. Rockefeller does not in-

FIRST BABY OF 1962—The fact that Steven Glock holds the title of First Baby of the Year doesn't seem to bother the youngster as he sleeps peacefully in the arms of his mother, Mrs. Clair Glock of West Hurley. Page Given 5 Years In Woman's Assault

On a plea of guilty to second degree assault on an 81-year-old Whiteport widow on November 12, 1960, Cameron Fay Page, 29, was sentenced to an indeterminate term in Elmire Reformatory today by Acting County Judge Francis X. Tucker, who ordered that the sentence "shall not exceed five years," the maximum penalty permitted by law for second degree assault.

Page entered a plea of guilty to the third count of a four-count indictment which charged that on November 12, 1960, he entered the home of 81-year-old Matilda Doyle at Whiteport and committed an assault upon her. On February 8, 1961, the grand jury returned an indictment charging assault in two counts; attempted rape, first degree, and first degree burglary.

Found Injured

Page, a former Marine, and then an employe of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation, was found outside the Doyle home with a broken leg, which it was alleged happened when he jumped from a second story window. His car was found parked some distance from the Doyle home. At the time he told state troopers he had heard Mrs. Doyle calling for help and had gone to her assistance. Mrs. Doyle was brutally beaten about the face and head and spent some time in the hospital.

Ward Ingalsbe Jr., attorney for Page, called attention of the court to the fact that there was no prior conviction, that Page had been a resident of the county all his life, was married and the father of two children. He re-

Castro Is Ready for Invasion

Blames 'Yankees' For Rearmament

The Cuban prime minister showed off his new military equipment Tuesday at a parade marking the third anniversary of his victory over the Batista dictatorship. He said that "Yankee imperialism" was the sole reason for Cuba's rearmament.

Highlights of the parade were three Communist-made MIG19 jets which swept overhead with a flight of 18 MIG15s or improved MIG17s.

MIG Jets Shown

The three swept-wing MIG19s are the fastest planes known to be operating in any Latin American air force. A ripple of pride and excitement swelled through the crowd as the jets roared over Havana's Jose Marti Square.

Castro said his forces have been much improved since they defeated the Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba last April.

"Not A Warmonger"

"We are not a warmonger," he said. "We do not want to use these arms. But we shall fight (if attacked) with a fierceness unimagined by our enemies. We We will exterminate them. We await the invaders with a smile on our lips."

The Cuban leader assailed his critics in other Latin countries, especially Presidents Romolo Betancourt of Venezuela and Alberto Lleras Camargo of Colombia, whom he called "murderers of workers, peasants and students."

Addressing himself to fellow Latins, Castro said: "Brothers, mobilize against any eventuality. The stupider they (the United States) act, the faster the hour of liberation approaches." The crowd roared approval.

Goldfine's Secretary Starts Jail Sentence

BOSTON (AP)—Mildred Paperman, secretary of Bernard Goldfine, Boston industrialist, started a 30-day jail sentence today for smuggling letters to the ailing industrialist.

Miss Paperman, 42, admitted the delivery of letters to Goldfine while he was serving a one-year sentence for income tax evasion in the federal correctional institution at Danbury, Conn.

New Matron Is Named for Jail, Mrs. F. Brinkman

Sheriff Claude Bell today announced the appointment of Mrs. Florence Brinkman of 110 Pearl Street to the position of matron at the Ulster County jail.

Mrs. Brinkman, whose appointment is effective as of January 1, 1962, succeeds Mrs. Mabel O'Reilly who resigned after serving nearly 18 years as matron.

Details of a $7,636,000 construction program for 1962 were reported today by Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation. In announcing the plans, Central Hudson President Lelan F. Sillin Jr. said the 1962 program is about $1,185,000 greater than the amount spent in 1961 and is "designed to enable us to meet the requirements for natural gas and electricity that will accompany the continued growth we anticipate in residential, commercial and industrial activity in the Mid-Hudson Valley."

Sillin noted that almost half of the construction budget, $3,064,000, is earmarked for projects that "will enable us to meet the natural gas and electric requirements of new customers and the expanded needs of existing customers in 1962." The balance of the budget, he said, includes projects that are part "of a continuing long range program designed to assure the overall soundness and orderly expansion of our gas and electric facilities. Both types of projects are tied to our confidence in the growing prosperity of the Mid-Hudson Valley and to our uncompromising objectives of always being able to render high standards of reliable and economic service to our customers."

Some Major Projects

Among the major projects included in the 1962 program are the completion of an electric

Portugal Will Leave U.N., Premier Says

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar said in a speech prepared for delivery today Portugal "will surely be among the first countries to leave the United Nations organization."

"Meanwhile we shall refuse them our collaboration in everything that is not in our direct interest," he declared.

Places Blame

Reporting to the National Assembly and to the nation, the 72-year-old dictator criticized the United Nations, the United States and Britain for their failure to come to Portugal's support when India invaded Goa, Damao and Diu last month.

Referring to the U.N. mission of safeguarding peace, Salazar said he believes "we have the right to hear whether our presence and our collaboration are already useless in the United Nations."

No Collaboration

"Even if we do not, I do not know yet whether we shall be the first country to abandon the United Nations, but surely we will be among the first. Meanwhile we shall refuse them our collaboration in everything that is not in our direct interest."

That statement was as near as Salazar came in a 10,000-word speech to suggesting direct action on three possible moves diplomatic sources here had expected him to announce as an aftermath of the loss of the Portuguese Indian enclaves.

Gives Outline

They were possible withdrawal from the United Nations, revocation of the century-old British-Portuguese alliance and refusal to renew the Azores Island air base agreement with the United States when it expires this year.

The premier spoke as security officers still hunted the remnants of a rebel band that launched an unsuccessful New Year's Day revolt against Salazar's government. The Army Ministry accused the underground Communist party of planning and leading the uprising.

"According to information and statements already collected from some participants in the Beja attempt at sedition, the conclusion is that it was an action planned and led by the Communist party, within a general plan of promoting unrest in Portugal," the communique said.

The communique said no other

Pertinent Quotes From Message of Governor Today

With expanding and improving job opportunities for a growing population, we can assure opportunity not only for oncoming generations of workers but also for those who are displaced by automation or changing economic and social patterns.

To maintain the (Unemployment Insurance Fund) at adequate levels...it now appears that the subsidiary tax in 1962 will rise by four-tenths of a percentage point to one per cent of taxable payrolls...

It is vital that we expand our efforts not only to help combat juvenile delinquency but also to

Schwenk To Change Some Items

Proposals Left With Committee

Common Council action on the 1962 budget was delayed Tuesday night to Wednesday, Jan. 10, when it is expected the aldermen will again consider off-street parking and possibly act on a local law affecting positions in the mayor's office.

Adjournment was taken, as requested by Mayor John J. Schwenk, who presented his parking plan for uptown areas, and indicated he is to propose changes in the 1962 budget, which as prepared by former Mayor Edwin F. Radel fixes $2,555,664.74 to be raised by taxes and a tax rate of $63.38, which is $3.28 higher than that of 1961.

Notes for $280,000

Budget anticipation notes in the sum of $280,000 to carry on the city's business pending collection of taxes were approved. The budget was left with the finance committee for consideration of whatever proposals the newly elected mayor plans making, and continued dispute looms over the rehiring of a stenotypist to take records of council meetings.

"Inasmuch as I have assumed office on Jan. 1, 1962," Schwenk wrote, "you can readily understand that I have not had sufficient opportunity to study in detail the numerous items contained in former Mayor Radel's proposed budget, but by preliminary examination of same, however, I feel confident that certain desirable changes can be made.

Requested by Mayor

"I therefore respectfully request your honorable body adjourn for one week, and in that adjourned meeting I shall present my recommendations to you for consideration."

Democratic aldermen, if judged by comment last night, indicated they are not overly impressed with the Schwenk off-street parking plan for accommodating some 285 cars.

Schwenk's plan calls for development of three uptown areas at a cost range between $210,000 and $250,000. The lots would be constructed on a self-liquidating basis.

Sass Not Impressed

Alderman Frank C. Sass (D) Seventh Ward, who last night was named majority leader, said he failed to see how the sum of $170,000 for the taking of land for property, was a great saving, as compared to the Radel plan which listed $185,000 for the acquisition of land, and $105,000 for construction.

The Schwenk sum listed was between $150,000 and $170,000. Alderman Francis J. Koenig (D) Ninth Ward, wondered if options had been obtained, as under the Radel plan. He felt the proposal had been planned without due

State Unit Says Item In Budget Is Illegal

The State Department of Audit and Control has advised Joseph Martorana, (R), newly elected supervisor of the Town of Plattekill, that the previous town board had no authority to include an item of expenditure in the annual budget covering one-third of the cost of a reappraisal project.

The $6,400 appropriation added to the preliminaray budget after the pblic hearing is illegal, the State Department has ruled.

This matter came to the attention of the new Town Board at its organizational meeting held at the town hall, Ardonia, on Monday, Jan. 1.

Supervisor Joseph Martorana (R), formerly deputy clerk of the board of supervisors, succeeded William H. Simpson (D), of Clintondale as supervisor on January 1, 1962

In its letter, the Department of Audit and Control also stated that a contract which the last Town Board entered into was not authorized by law since no legal appropriation was made in the budget, and no resolution authorizing the financing of the cost was passed. The Department suggested that payment on this contract should not be made until the legality of the contract is established.

Spervisor Martorana referred this matter to Attorney Fred Stang, former mayor of Kingston, who was engaged by action of the Town Board.

Other main items of business on the agenda was the appointment to the various town offices.

Roy Pouli of Clintondale was appointed Officer-in-Charge of constables. Others named constables were Lester Wager Jr., of Modena, Edmund Wager Sr., of Plattekill, Carmine Sabarese of Ardonia and James J. Markey of Plattekill.

Lawrence Capozzzi of Clintondale was appointed Town Civil Defense Director. Also appointed to a Civil Defense position was Ralph Narvaez, who will serve as Medical Training Program Administrator.

Anthony Egiziano of Plattekill was appointed building inspector; Eldred Smith of Modena, as multiple residence law enforcement officer, and Freston Atkins of Clintondale as multiple residence law inspector. Smith was also appointed chairman of the board of assessors. Mrs. Beatrice Small was appointed town welfare officer.

Town Clerk Edith C. Wager was appointed registrar of vital statistics. Other appointments include Grace Coy as town historian, Bernard B. Wager as dog

Rockefeller Says Changes Needed To Relieve Taxpayers on Schools

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller told the Legislature today taxpayers were straining under the local costs of education and the time had come for "basic changes" in the state's school-aid formula.

The governor made the statement in the education portion of his message to the opening session of the 1962 Legislature. But he did not tell the lawmakers what the basic changes should be. He said he was awaiting the report of the Diefendorf Committee on school finances. The committee's staff has issued only a preliminary report.

Rockefeller proposed several specific but minor programs for college students and promised soon a comprehensive plan to help to prevent school drop-outs, provide guidance and training and help find jobs for young men and women.

None of the higher-education proposals, however, matched the scope of the various financial aids passed by the last regular session of the Legislature and the school fallout-shelter program authorized at a special session in November.

Rockefeller said he was awaiting "with interest" the report and recommendations of the Diefendorf committee, which has been investigating the problems of school financing for over a year.

The committee staff's preliminary report recommends, among other things:

1. Increasing state aid to education by $96.5-million annually under a new formula that would peg the aid a district receives to its expenditures per pupil.

2. Permitting school districts to form taxation districts either countywide or on a larger basis to levy 1 per cent sales taxes or surtaxes on top of existing school taxes.

The full committee plans to hold at least one public hearing on the preliminary report before making its final recommendations to the Legislature.

On the subject of youth and their employment opportunities, the governor noted that several programs were under way to identify and develop talent and help youth find jobs.

To this end, he said he soon would announce "a comprehensive, new program combined with an extension of existing programs to prevent school drop-outs, to afford guidance, training, special industrial-technical education and equal opportunities in apprentice training and to help in finding jobs for our young men and women."

He gave no further details.

Rockefeller said he would present his specific proposals on State University expansion in a special message. The university has complained that negotiations, approvals and clearances it is required to undergo through several state agencies are impeding its expansion efforts.

Organized Crime Operators Were Hit in Bankroll

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of Robert F. Kennedy's biggest satisfactions in his first year as attorney general came from "hitting the big-time operators of organized crime in their bankroll," he said today.

The bankroll, he emphasized in an interview, consists of receipts from gambling.

Another source of pleasure in 1961, Kennedy said, was Justice Department activity to protect the rights of Negroes.

He said he was also pleased with the work of his 31,000-member department in enforcing antitrust laws and in less publicized fields ranging from tax law enforcement to representing the government in Indian claim cases.

The organized crime and civil rights fields were considered important enough to merit separate yearend reports to President Kennedy.

The attorney general cited the enactment of new antiracketeering legislation and the creation of an intelligence unit within the department's criminal division as major developments in the fight against crime.

One new law makes it a felony to transmit bets by interstate wire. Kennedy said this forced the majority of the nation's leading race wire services—basic to the operation of gambling syndicates—to close down. Among the casualties, he said, were two kingpins in the business, Nola News of New Orleans and Athletic Publications of Minneapolis.

Other new legislation bans interstate operations in transporting gambling material — including numbers slips, travel for criminal purposes and carrying weapons interstate after conviction of a felony.

Gotham Architect Has Exhibit at Local Library

Samples of the work of an award-winning New York architect, the first display held in the state, are currently on exhibit at the Kingston City Library.

Diekman, in a statement for the library's exhibit, views walls as "defining our attitude and presenting us with the awareness of an architecture."

The exhibit includes drawing of a house for an art historian, a house for a young girl, and a music school complete with music hall.

A drawing for river apartments shows two large columnar structures enclosed entirely in a continuous sheet of glass, without visible partitions on the outside.

Three oil paintings illustrate textures of wall surfaces which could be applied to the interior of a building. The textures themselves are presented as a single work.

Diekman, born in New York City, was awarded first prize in the Pratt Institute Competition in 1957, and received honorable mention in the following year.

In 1958, in the National Institute for Art Education competition, he was awarded honorable mention in a field of entries from all over the country.

Now completing his studies at Pratt Institute, Diekman is currently employed in the office of Philip Johnson, the nationally known architect who was co-designer of the famous Seagram Building in New York City.

The exhibit, entitled Walls of Norman Diekman, will be on display at the Kingston City Library throughout January.

School Bus Driver Denies Negligence

The bus was struck by a Union Pacific Railroad streamliner passenger train at a county road Dec. 14. In addition to the 20 children killed, 17 were injured. Harms escaped with slight injuries and shock.

State University President to Be Chamber Speaker

Dr. Thomas H. Hamilton of Albany, president of the State University of New York, will be the speaker at the annual banquet of the Kingston Area Chamber of Comerce on January 29.

In making this announcement today John W. Egbert, chairman of the Chamber's banquet committee, stated that the theme of the banquet will be the establishment of community colleges.

Because of the general public interest in the establishment of a community college in Ulster County, the public will be invited to attend. Tickets will be available later at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Retiring president Joseph E. O'Connor will report on Chamber of Commerce activities during 1961 at the banquet and the new officers for 1962 will be presented. The officers will be elected at the January 9th meeting of the board of directors, when W. J. C. Buddenhagen will report for the nominating committee.

New DR President Issues Warning To Armed Forces

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Rafael Donnelly, president-to-be of the new Dominican Council of State, promised Dominicans freedom of assembly and discussion Monday and warned the armed forces against interference in the affairs of the new anti-Trujillo government.

Donnelly, named to succeed President Joaquin Balaguer as head of the ruling body, declared at the swearing-in of the seven-man council that freedom to meet and discuss all issues would be observed "because truth can be achieved only through conscientious and dispassionate discussion."

He asserted that the council, which assumed all legislative and executive powers until installation of an elected government early in 1963, wished to emphasize "our decided endeavor to maintain unalterable" the armed forces' nonpolitical status.

The military, he said, must restrict its activities "to the defense of the independence and integrity of the republic, to maintain order and respect for the rights of man."

Inge Describes Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Playwright William Inge describes his latest work as "the closest I've written to a tragedy." "Natural Affection," scheduled for debut early in 1962, concerns a mother and her son in present-day Chicago. Harold Clurman may direct the work, rather than Frank Corsaro who previously had been named to the assignment.

Hulsair Resigns, Kingston to Get AnotherRoadBoss

A new town superintendent of highways is to be appointed in the Town of Kingston.

This has been announced by the clerk of the town board, Paul Burton.

William Hulsair, elected last November for a second two-year term in the job, has resigned due to illness, Burton said.

Clerk Burton is receiving applications for the post, and they may also be sent to any member of the town board by residents of the town who would like to be considered for the post.

The letters of application must be received by January 8, Burton said.

The term of anyone appointed by the town board would expire December 31 this year, the clerk advised.

Meetings of the town board are held the third Monday of the month, the next one being January 15.

Proposes Higher Pay for Teachers

NEW YORK (AP)—An out-of-state consultant says the city school system's $647 million annual budget should be doubled within the next eight years.

The retired Cleveland school superintendent, Dr. Mark C. Schinnerer, also said the city should start teachers' pay $1,000 higher and increase its professional staff by one third.

Schinnerer did not say how the budget should be doubled. This avoided involvement in the continuing battle between the Democratic-controlled city and Republican-controlled state over the issue of state aid to schools.

But he called for complete fiscal divorcement of the school system from the municipal administration.

Schinnerer's report grew out of state legislative action taken after a series of school scandals in the city last summer.

Penn Republicans To Study Spending

GOP lawmakers expressed resentment Tuesday that Democrats have scheduled public hearings on the $1,000,887,457 budget to begin next Monday — when the newly convened 1962 session will be in recess.

The recess is declared annually because of the lack of hotel rooms occasioned by the week-long State Farm Show.

State Tax Revenue Exceeds Estimates

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Corporate net income tax collections were credited today with doing the most to push the state's revenue $1,485,000 above official estimates for the fiscal period between June 1 and Dec. 29.

The state's Office of Administration reported that the corporate tax pulled in a surprising total of $24,581,000—11.1 per cent more than had been expected.

Meanwhile, the state's major income producer—the 4 per cent sales tax—fell 1.5 per cent below official estimates for the six-month period. Collections totaled only $193,397,000, but the figures did not include the Christmas holiday spending which will be reflected in later reports.

Republican Wins Upstate Span Post

He defeated Democrat Frank A. Murray Tuesday by a 5-4 vote of the nine-member authority, composed of seven Republicans and two Democrats.

Keyes, who had been vice chairman, succeeded G. Judson Newell, a Republican.

Members of the authority, appointed by the governor, supervise operation of the Ogdensburg-Prescott, Ont., bridge across the St. Lawrence River and the Ogdensburg harbor and airport.

Con Edison Seeks Reator Permits

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Atomic Energy Commission hearing on a proposal of the Consolidated Edison Co. to operate an atomic reactor at Indian Point, N.Y., resumes today.

The provisional license sought by the company would permit initial loading of fuel — Uranium 235 and thorium—and test operations. The reactor could be operated under an 18-month permit at its full power without public hazard.

Allaben Man Is Named to Post on State Land Board

State Conservation Commissioner Harold G. Wilm has announced the appointment of Edward G. West, of Allaben, to the position of superintendent of the Bureau of Land Acquisition, effective December 28.

West succeeds Duncan G. Rankin of Delmar, who held the position many years, retiring on December 27.

One of the major functions of the Bureau is the acquisition of land for campsites, wilderness consolidation and access, fishing rights, boat launching sites, multiple use lands, wetlands, ski centers and special uses, for which $15 million was allocated from the $75 million bond issue approved by voters at the 1960 general election.

ARGUMENT FOR SHELTERS

With the significant exception of the Civil Defense authorities, much of the current talk about fallout shelters is fatalistic, even derisive. Who wants, the criticism goes, to spend two weeks in a hole underground only to ascend to chaos and desolation? Or, in the same vein: Aren't shelters really the prime provocation, and wouldn't it be better to spend our time and money on a positive effort for peace?

An answer to these and other pertinent questions has been attempted in a recent article in Reporter magazine. Although the article leaves the matter still moot, it does raise some interesting points. The author rejects, for example, the assertion that shelters are essentially an admission of inability to get along with our fellow men. He regards this as a foolish, blind attitude, for a reason he puts this way: "The matter is not entirely within our loving American hands."

The article also poses the question whether a father, deciding to take his chances above ground because he is aware of the devastation that would await those who survive, has the moral right to so commit his family. Can this man, it is asked, dismiss the shelter as a sham and a waste?

The Reporter piece is one of the most cogent pleas yet made for a community and individual shelter program. Even those who regard the construction of shelters as head-in-the-sand folly ought to ponder the question further. We are going to have to live with the threat of nuclear destruction for a long time to come.

THOSE DOMESTIC ISSUES

"It is difficult enough for me to find solutions for the problems of my own country. To solve the problems of the whole world is too much." Thus Vice President and Foreign Minister Paul Henri Spaak of Belgium answered reporters on a recent visit to Washington.

There is food for thought in his retort, even if it does hint at evasion. For there is a real danger that domestic problems will be neglected where official attention is so completely absorbed in foreign affairs as it is now.

Here in America, for example, we have enough pressing matters right under our noses to keep us hopping for the next few years if we never had to turn our eyes overseas. The population rise alone, increasing as it does the demand for water, for schooling, for jobs, etc., offers a sizeable puzzle. And then there are such things as segregation and tax reform, plus a host of other issues.

The worst consideration of all is that, where government authorities become swamped with problems, corruption is alert to move in. We are hardly in shape right now to take time out for any national scandals such as have accompanied other crises in our history.

MIRACLES TAKE TIME

The President's triumphal return from Latin America is gratifying to all Americans. But caution warns us not to become over-optimistic about the Alliance for Progress. If it has been revived by the Kennedy visit that may be the best to be hoped for. The truth is that it has been slow getting off the ground.

Yet the importance of the success of this program merits all our patience and will need it. Consolidation of hemispheric interests, commercial as well as defensive, can be as vital to our future prosperity as the stand we may take relative to the European Common Market. The trade potential in these rapidly expanding South American lands is enormous.

But the obstacles are great. That is why patience will be needed. If we can help the Latins rid themselves of the worst of the barriers — corruption, privileged wealth, domination of military cliques—it probably will not pay for us to be too finicky about the purity of the democracy they achieve, so long as it steers clear of extremes of either right or left.

If they eventually can attain the full measure of liberty we wish for them, that will be miracle enough. Let us not demand that it happen overnight.

'These Days'

ANOTHER VIEW OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT

Frank L. Kluckhohn has had a wide experience as a newspaperman and government official and knows the State Department well. He does not heap the blame for State Department failures on the Secretaries of State but describes the mechanism of the Department in an article in the January "Reader's Digest" which makes it clear beyond doubt that something drastic must be done to revise, reorganize, redirect the staff of the State Department.

Citing chapter and verse, Kluckhohn shows how men in lower positions prevented Secretaries of State from becoming aware of the data which was essential to them. This does not apply only to the Kennedy Administration but has been continuous for years.

Kluckhohn describes the situation as follows: "There are now 23,000 persons on State's payroll, the controlling group being the 3628 Foreign Service Officers. Typically, a young FSO steps into the Department direct from college. For six to eight years he stamps visas or does routine embassy chores while being shifted around the world. Even as he accumulates seniority and begins to assume 'responsibilities,' he rarely has to make an individual decision. Whatever reports he turns out are initialed and okayed by so many persons that he doesn't have to worry about being blamed personally if things fail to go right. In fact, his basic technique for advancement in the bureaucratic morass comes to consist of avoiding the displeasure of his immediate superior, or identification with any controversial action — even when the avoidance may mean ignoring a problem that could build up to a disaster."

Kluckhohn indicates how the young official is trained to avoid getting into trouble. His first lesson is "Don't rock the boat." This, of course, is true in big business and in universities and wherever there are large organizations of men. The problem that faces the individual is promotion without risk of hurting a superior or upsetting a regime. It is so easy to be squeezed on the escalator of achievement. The man above can kick the rising personality off the ladder; the man below can trip him as he moves upward. The rising personality cleverly avoids interference or sudden emergencies. He takes his strides slowly, even if it damages the country. The man who moves out of step can do infinite damage to himself.

Kluckhohn gives as his number two rule: "Avoid making any decision for which you may be held personally responsible." This requires the responsible personality always to mark time so that if anything goes wrong he can blame someone else. The easiest one to blame is the Secretary of State; the public will believe that he took the wrong steps because he is the big man in the picture. How could a little gnat cause so much trouble? But the little ones do cause trouble, lots of it. They get in the way of things. They talk too much. They bubble over. They need to be spanked and no one wants to spank them. The President protects himself by having a staff in the White House to screen what comes from State and the CIA but the Secretary of State is a daily work-horse on the job who has day by day responsibilities and who cannot duck issues. All sorts of dispatches are signed in his name and decisions are taken for which he is directly and personally responsible. As few as a half dozen bone-heads can trip him up.

Secretary of State Hull, for instance, specialized in tariff questions and too often overlooked broader problems, so that the President or the Under Secretary was handling matters which rightly should have been the Secretary's.

This explains why the London Economic Conference at the beginning of the Roosevelt regime was such a failure. Secretary Hull was left out altogether. Raymond Moley, President Roosevelt and Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau were reaching decisions about which the Secretary of State knew nothing. In fact, Hull never knew anything about this most significant meeting out of which, in a large measure, grew World War II.

Similarly, Eisenhower was never adequately informed about the Castro situation. Kluckhohn describes how efforts were made to inform Eisenhower through his brother, Milton, and how these efforts failed. Little men stood in the way.

Much is being written and said on this subject but few constructive suggestions are made. Obviously, it is necessary to maintain a Foreign Office Force of trained men; at the same time, it is necessary to provide the top officials with precise information and to give them flexibility of decision and action.

The Doctor's Mailbag

No Nutrition in Coffee; It Has Trace of Vitamin

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Does coffee contain any nutritive element or vitamins?

A—Coffee has no nutritive value unless you add sugar and cream. Just as most of the cold cereals, recommended for children's breakfasts, do little to meet the youngster's enormous energy requirements unless they are powdered with sugar, drenches in milk or cream and topped with sliced fruit.

However, I recently learned to my surprise that a cup of dark roast coffee contains a sufficient quantity of one of the many ingredients of the vitamin B complex (niacin) to provide about one-fourth of the daily adult requirement.

Q—All my life I have been very nervous and full of tensions. First, my heart begins to beat fast, then I have a feeling that I can't catch my breath and then the opposite feeling that I'm breathing too often. I'm afraid to leave home most of the time or go in crowds. I've been to many doctors and clinics and taken all kinds of medicines and injections but nothing seems to help. Do you think I should be psychoanalyzed?

A—Dear, dear madam Nothing is going to help you if you are unable to realize that the very persistence of your symptoms is proof that you have no organic disease of signficance. For, if you did, surely one of the many doctors or clinics you visited would have detected it after all these years.

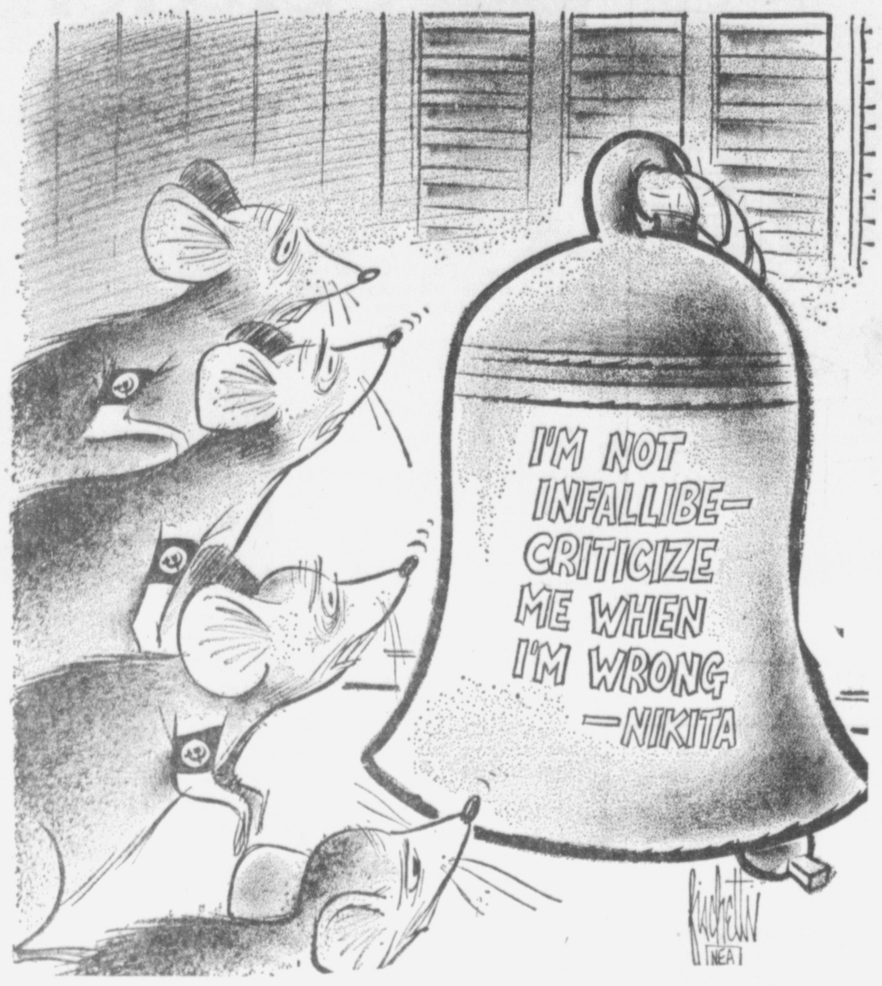

Are you quite sure you're not exploiting your "nervousness" to escape responsibilities? Or duties you don't happen to like or enjoy? Or should I stand in the corner for making so cruel a suggestion?

Q—My boy just recovered from an attack our doctor called scarletina. Now a girl down the street has the same symtoms but her doctor said it was scarlet fever. Our doctor did not suggest quarantine but the other doctor did. Is scarletina different from scarlet fever? If so, is it safe to omit quarantine?

A—The terms are used interchangeably. Each is due to a streptococcal infection. Each is highly contagious. Each is subject to quarantine regulations in every community with which I am familiar. However, much more effective than quarantine is prevention through the use of drugs (chemo-prophylaxis).

By the simple administration of effective anti-streptococcal products to each exposed child, secondary cases can be reduced to a minimum if not completely eliminated.

By administration of an effective dose of any effective streptococcicide ("strep-killer"), the infected child ceases to become an infectious menace after a very few hours.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A private enterprise effort to compete with and perhaps reduce the need for any federal government financial aid for college and university students is now being organized by United Student Aid Funds of New York.

It is a nonprofit corporation designed to endorse personal loans made by local banks to needy students. Its appeal will be to the self-reliant student who does not want to be beholden to the federal government for a tax-supported scholarship or partially subsidized loan.

The government now offers pretty tough student aid competition for any private organization to match. U. S. Office of Education, which administers the federal student loan funds, has just announced that it has made 238,000 loans for a total of over $130 million. This covers the period from February 1959, when the program was launched, through last June 30.

In the current college year it is expected another 150,000 students will borrow another $80 million under the government loan program, making the totals over 380,000 students with $210 million in loans outstanding.

THESE LOANS HAVE BEEN MADE AT 1,410 colleges and universities having 88 per cent of this year's total higher education enrollment of 3.9 million in 2,000 institutions.

The private United Student Aid Fund is now operating only in Indiana, where 1,500 loans were made this year for a total of $750,000. Additionally, Connecticut and Florida have organized under the U.S.A.F. program and plan to make their first loans during the 1962 spring term.

Kansas, Maryland, Vermont and Pennsylvania are organizing and expect to make loans beginning next fall. Twelve other states are said to be considering U.S.A.F. plans.

With Massachusetts, Maine, North Dakota, Rhode Island, Virginia and New Jersey already having independent college student loan plans in operation on a statewide basis, about half the states will then be in a position to aid needy students without government financing.

The U.S.A.F. goal is to raise a $40 million reserve fund from private sources. Half of this will be raised by a national drive. The other half is expected to come from colleges participating in the plan to have students borrow at local banks.

THE $40 MILLION RESERVE WILL GUARANTEE a credit 12.5 times as large, or $500 million. This is nearly four times what the U. S. Government now has outstanding in student loans. Income from the U.S.A.F. $40 million is expected to pay operating costs.

As the U.S.A.F. plan is now being organized, loans will be made available only to students who have completed their freshman year with good academic standing. Each student may borrow up to $1,000 a year for three years. Repayment begins five months after graduation and is made to the lending bank.

THE AVERAGE LOAN IS EXPECTED TO BE $500 a year or $1,500 for the three years. Repayment on such a loan would be $50.87 a month for 36 months, including 6 per cent interest.

In contrasting to this the present U. S. government loan plan allows the student to borrow up to $5,000 during the entire period of his higher education. Repayment does not begin until one year after graduation and the student is given ten years in which to pay, with interest at 3 per cent.

In the first two and a half years under this program, 12,785 students have repaid $1.9 million on their loans at a rate five times faster than was anticipated. Additionally, 4,000 graduates have applied for partial cancellation of their loans under a provision in the law which allows 10 per cent cancellation for each year the borrower is a teacher, up to five years.

Office of Education is expected to go to Congress in 1962 to ask for supplementary funds to expand the government student loan programs and for some liberalizing amendments.

Politics Seen Clouding Up Country's Business Future

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — This is the season of "review and outlook." Yet nobody today really knows the future of American business for even a year ahead. All that can be of guidance is what has actually happened in the past few years, and it is evident already that the Kennedy administration has decided to ignore the lessons of the past and to try again the same devices that haven't worked before.

Basically, the present Administration is often advised by theorists who sincerely seek solutions based on economic factors, but these come into collision inevitably with the demands of pressure groups and politics.

If it weren't for the fact that politics rules above all else, there would be grounds for optimism about the future of business. But because politics, with its irresponsibility in government, is the controlling force, the chances are that more recessions, more unemployment and the "quack" remedies of "pump-priming" may be expected to dominate the headlines within the next six to eighteen months.

Hodges Busy

Business men are supposed to be "hostile" to the Administration. Secretary of Commerce Luther Hodges is running around the country trying to butter them up. But, unfortunately, he is regarded as a man without any real influence in the Kennedy administration. He got in wrong with many business men when he virtually wrecked the Business Advisory Council, which had for many decades served a useful function in the Department of Commerce. As a result of Mr. Hodges' private sessions with business men in various cities in recent weeks, the United Press International has just reported as follows:

"On the basis of eight off-the-record discussions in seven big cities and other contacts with business men, Hodges has concluded that it is mainly the officers of big firms, not small business men, who are hostile to the administration or who accuse it of being hostile to them. That hardly surprises the white-haired ex-governor of North Carolina, for he figures that big business men are pro-Republican anyway."

Unfortunately, this country is supposed to be divided between "big business" and "big labor," and the administration usually takes the side of the trade unions, though in the long run the inter-relationship of the two has more to do with the ups and downs of the curve on the chart of business conditions than any other single factor.

Strike Protection

Thus, over the week end, the same old story bobbed up again in print. All the leading trade journals that report in detail the flow of orders in the steel industry came out with forecasts of a "boom" in steel for the early part of 1962. But there's a fly in the ointment. One dispatch says that consumer inventories are expected to rise before June to 11.5 million tons, which constitutes "three months' supply." This is but another way of saying that steel users are preparing to protect themselves against a prospective strike. In fact, almost every one of the reports in the trade journals attributes the sudden upsurge in steel orders to the expected steel strike in June. If there is no strike, of course, steel production will drop considerably after June, and a "slowdown" in related industries will begin, as it did when the 1959 strike came to an end. This time, however, if there is a wage increase, there will be a price increase.

Ever since President Kennedy wrote last autumn to the steel companies and labor leaders warning them against factors that would upset price stability, the country has been aware of an unsolved problem of serious proportions. Mr. Kennedy had an opportunity in his addresses last month before the National Association of Manufacturers in New York and the AFL-CIO in Miami to come to grips with this very issue. But he really sidestepped it. The political pitfalls evidently were too risky.

Statesmanship is more than ever required. The country does not expect businessmen to be "hostile" to the administration, and certainly the administration should not be "hostile" to business. Yet the news from Washington regularly tells of plans that can upset business.

'Profit Squeeze'

From every side, moreover, comes the story of the "profit squeeze" in business due to rising labor costs. The Treasury expects a balanced budget — if business thrives. But to get $10 billion more tax receipts from business and individuals in the next fiscal year and achieve a balanced budget would seem to be out of the question if a serious recession hits the country.

The balance-of-payments situation is also grave. It is not being aided by reports of tax measures aimed to restrict American enterprise which have plants overseas and which are competing effectively with foreign companies and also bringing back huge dividends to the United States. There are news dispatches, too, telling of administration plans to ask Congress to give the President the power arbitrarily to raise or lower taxes in the United States. Nothing could be more calculated to frighten business and disrupt long-range planning.

Meanwhile, European industry, with its lower wage costs, is threatening to cut down America's export trade. It's a time for realism as well as statesmanship.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

There is a new book in the Kingston City Library, called Victorian Comfort by John Gloag (from 1830 to 1900) with an English flavor with some 300 illustrations. Some of the items folks have in their homes today are described or illustrated in this book. Those interested in antiques may find some answers here, too. I think the book sells for around $10.

On page 139 the following is written about our Robert Fulton, the Clermont etc., "At Philadelphia in May of 1790, Samuel Kelly, an English sea captain, noted in his journal that he had seen a steamboat, "stemming the tide at the rate of about four miles an hour. In 1798, Robert R. Livingston, the American statesman, had been granted the exclusive right to navigate the water of New York State with steamboats. When Livingston was appointed United States Minister to France in 1801, he met his compatriot, Robert Fulton (1765-1815) a gifted inventor and engineer who was then living in Paris."

Mr. Gloag further explains: "Fulton has succeeded in running a paddle-wheel steamboat on the Seine, and in 1803, when Livingston's monopoly of steam navigation in New York was renewed, he held it jointly with Fulton. Robert Fulton returned to America and shortly afterwards built a steamboat with engines made by Boulton & Watt of Birmingham. This was his famous Clermont, named after Livingston's home, and in 1807 she began to run between New York and Albany on the Hudson.

It is interesting to see the English point of view. He writes further: "Within a few years large, fast and luxurious paddle-wheel steamboats were carrying freight and passengers on the inland waterways of this country. On great rivers like the Mississippi they raced each other, always trying for new records, and covering immense distances. For example, in 1815, the Enterprise completed the 1,440 mile run from New Orleans to Louisville in 25 days, two hours and 40 minutes . . ." Of course, we too, on the Hudson river had steamboat races and price wars and such, and it all added to the excitement and publicity and commerce of our Hudson River towns and cities.

Then he compares the spaciousness and luxury of the American river steamboats with that found in the coastal steamships that began to ply between British ports after 1815. He mentions Mark Twain in his description of a big New Orleans boat in Life on the Mississippi, when Twain said: "She was as clean and as dainty as a drawing-room . . ."

He further writes that, Britain had no waterways comparable with the Ohio, Mississippi or Missouri, so that nothing on the scale of the American steamboat could have developed . . . "from there he goes on to train travel. He is also very complimentary to American train travel with remarks like: "The American saloon cars were certainly more spacious . . . As for the comforts of the cars, . . . for the same price you can get far more comfortable riding in America . . ." Anyway, he writes with humor, comparing the British with the Americans, and he uses many comic pictures of the 1860's and later. If you have a chance try and read or at least look through the pictures of Victorian Comfort. You are bound to recognize many familiar items.

Making Carlino Probe Public Is Under Study Now

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Assembly Committee on Ethics is considering whether to let the public sit in at its investigation of charges that Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino personally profited from fallout-shelter legislation enacted last fall.

Assemblyman Mark Lane, a Manhattan Democrat who brought the charges, reiterated Tuesday his demand for a public hearing. He then abided by the committee's original decision for a secret inquiry and, behind closed doors, detailed for his allegations for 4½ hours.

Committee Chairman Donald R. Campbell, R-Amsterdam, declined to discuss Lane's testimony. Campbell said, however, Lane's demand for a public hearing was "very much under consideration."

Meanwhile, Lane planned to meet Friday in New York City with Mayor Robert F. Wagner and with the Legislature's Democratic minority to press for support in his fight against Carlino, a Long Island Republican. Lane said he also would ask Wagner, a Democrat, and the Democratic lawmakers to support his bid for repeal of the fallout-shelter legislation passed at a special session of the Legislature in November.

Carlino has said he severed relations with Lancer shortly after passage of the bill. Furthermore, he has maintained that he never had profited from the legislation.

Lane also has charged, and Carlino has denied, that Carlino's post as a Lancer director enabled the company to know what the shelter law would be 11 months in advance. Gov. Rockefeller has defended Carlino, saying the legislation setting up a $100 million program to help schools build fallout shelters was "developed by my staff and myself in the weeks immediately preceding" the special legislative session.

Two Rail-Auto Crashes Kill Three, Six Hurt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two automobile-train collisions at snow-covered, rural crossings 95 miles apart killed a grandmother and two young girls Tuesday in New York States. Six members of a family, including four children, were injured in one of the accidents.

A twice-weekly Erie-Lackawanna freight train and a car crashed near Clayville, south of Utica, killing Mrs. Helen Vliet, 54, and her granddaughter, Shelley Miller, 12, both of Sauquoit. Shelley was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller.

Ten-year-old Sylvia Jean Cook of Center Falls died and her father, mother and four sisters were injured in the collision of their car and a Delaware & Hudson locomotive last night near Cambridge, Washington County.

Crewmen of both trains said they had seen the cars before the crashes, applied brakes but were unable to stop.

Joanne was reported in critical condition at Albany Medical Center Hospital. Donna, in the same hospital, was reported in fair condition.

Their parents, Marion and Nancy all were reported in fair condition at Mary McClellan Hospital, Cambridge.

Sweeping Changes

rollments in nearby educational plants.

As part of the Hudson Valley picture, as seen from the speaker's vantage point as an official of the state commerce department, Swartzmiller gave a fascinating sketch of many projects both underway and in the planning stages.

Commencing with the Hudson River itself, the speaker told his audience that dredging operations should, within five years, give a 32-foot channel from New York to Albany. He reminded them that Canada is again discussing the deepening of the Richlieu River to a similar depth, thereby giving the possibility that ocean-going vessels might go from New York to the St. Lawrence River within the decade ahead.

Along the Hudson, many changes are taking place. In Orange County, the 18,000 acre tract being developed for industrial laboratories continues to grow. The closeness to New York City educational facilities is being furthered by the purchase of a 1,000-acre tract by New York University for the development of a research center. Other Orange County communities showing noticeable progress are: Port Jervis, Newburgh, Beacon, Warwick. In Dutchess County, industrial progress is marked by atomic development in Pawling and the expansion of IBM facilities in the Poughkeepsie area. New industrial development parks are in the making in both Poughkeepsie and Red Hook.

In Ulster County, Swartzmiller reminded the Lions of the construction of the lightweight aggregate plant and the expansion of the cement industry both here and in Greene County.

In the development of shopping centers, the speaker noted that the recently opened Lloyd's Shopping Center near Newburgh was the largest privately owned facility of its kind east of the Mississippi River.

Sweeping developments in the field of transportation are both in process of construction and in the area of speculation in the Hudson Valley. The construction of Route 84, extending from Pennsylvania to Danbury, Conn., with a river crossing at the new Newburgh Bridge is actually underway. Speculation continues as to whether a major airport to accommodate jets will be constructed in Morristown, N. J., or in the Pine Island area of nearby Orange County. The magnitude of such a project was brought into focus by the speaker's statement that the proposed jetport would employ approximately 28,000 people full-time and require an investment of one-half billion dollars.

Planned Parenthood Advocates Fined $100

Dr. C. Lee Buxton, chairman of the Obstetrics and Gynecology Department at Yale Medical School, and Mrs. Richard W. Griswold, executive director of the Planned Parenthood League of Connecticut, were fined $100 each in circuit court Tuesday.

Police raided the clinic Nov. 10. It was opened Nov. 1 to challenge the old statute, which the U.S. Supreme Court last year called merely "dead words."

To Implore Both Sides

Kennedy Plans Conference About Proposals Support

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy plans to sit down with leaders of both parties early next week to seek bipartisan support for some of the major proposals he will lay before Congress.

Chief topic at a breakfast now being arranged by the White House will be the President's forthcoming request for broad executive authority to negotiate tariffs in dealing with the European Common Market.

Kennedy hopes for Republican as well as Democratic backing for this program. He also wants to enlist broad support for foreign aid, an issue sharpened by developments in India and the Congo.

The President apparently feels, too, that there is some basis to believe that he can get some Republican aid in his efforts to get Congress to approve a program of medical care for the elderly, financed through the Social Security System.

Kennedy's move to bring the Republicans in for a chat indicates that, despite the approaching congressional elections of November, he would like to avoid a cat-and-dog political fight in the new session of Congress.

House Minority Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana has given no sign that he would be a party to any peace pact with the Democrats.

Even if the President gains some bipartisan support, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., predicted in an interview that the biggest fight of the new session will come over the international trade program.

Humphrey, the assistant Senate Democratic leader, served notice that he is not satisfied with the way things are going now in American dealings with the Common Market nations.

Democrats Irked At Albany Papers

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Democratic - controlled Albany County Board of Supervisors has decided not to re-designate either of two daily newspapers in the county as official publications for legal notices.

"No newspaper within the county truly represents the principles of the Democratic Party," the supervisors said in a series of resolutions against the Times-Union and the Knickerbocker News, both Hearst dailies in the city of Albany. The board chose the Weekly Enterprise in Altamont, Albany County, for legal notices.

Gene Robb, publisher of both dailies, declined comment on the board's action. The county's legal advertising amounts to slightly more than $100,000 a year.

Proclaims Dutch New Guinea as Indonesia Area

By PETER ARNETT

JAKARTA, Indonesia, (AP) — President Sukarno has proclaimed Dutch New Guinea a province of Indonesia. He ordered a special military command set up to direct any invasion of the Dutch territory but announced no date for it.

Indonesian military leaders favor postponing D-day until late this year, when their forces will be beefed up with ships and planes now on order from Communist countries.

Dutch New Guinea — 159,000 square miles of jungles, mountains and swamps and the scene of some of World War II's hardest fighting—has been claimed by Indonesia ever since it won independence from the Dutch in 1949. The Dutch say the Papuans in the disputed territory have no ethnic relationship to the Indonesians and are only beginning to learn self-government under Dutch tutelage.

Newburgh Advised Not to Make Appeal

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — A special counsel for the city said today he would advise the city not to appeal a court injunction that banned Newburgh's tightened, controversial welfare regulations.

The counsel, Henry Hirschberg, said a court order drawn by State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz's office prohibited enforcement of the program "in any way contrary to law" and this constituted a victory for the city.

Hirschberg said this was so because the city had contended all along that its administration of the program did not violate the law.

Hirschberg will make his recommendation to the city council.

"I shall tell them they have gotten the most they can get and we have won a victory," the lawyer said.

Suggest Reformatory

Ingalsbe said a term in Elmira Reformatory where treatment and rehabilitation could be given would readjust defendant to meet society and would serve the best purpose.

District Attorney David W. Corwin said the crime to which defendant had entered a plea of guilty was a "Very vicious" one committed upon a defenseless, elderly woman and he suggested a prison sentence be imposed because of the seriousness of the crime, one that should not be treated "lightly."

Judge Considers Request

Judge Tucker in imposing sentence stated that he was aware of the facts surrounding the crime. He stated the defendant, in his opinion, was a hardworking man but "violent" when he was drinking. He told Page the charge might well have been a more serious one in view of the attack on the elderly woman, a charge for which far more than the five year maximum sentence which now could be imposed on the assault charge, could have resulted.

Consideration of the request for a reformatory sentence would be given by the Court, Judge Tucker said, in order that treatment and rehabilitation might be available to defendant. He then imposed an indeterminate sentence to Elmira Reformatory at Elmira, the maximum of which shall not exceed five years. Bail was canceled, the other three counts of the indictment dismissed and Page was remanded to custody of Sheriff Claude Bell to be transferred to Elmira.

War Less Likely But Much Tension Is the Forecast

By EUGENE KRAMER

BERLIN (AP)—East-West war over Berlin appears less likely than a year ago but look for new periods of crisis and tension ahead.

That seems to be the feeling of both Berliners and some Western officials.

Two reasons are heard why war seems more remote than in 1961.

One is that Soviet Premier Khrushchev apparently takes more seriously than he did a year ago Western determination to defend West Berlin and its access routes. Khrushchev has withdrawn his deadline for signing a peace treaty with Communist East Germany and has not rattled his missiles recently.

The other reason is that the status quo in Berlin is more bearable to the Communists than the situation that existed a year ago.

Then thousands of refugees each month, including many technicians, teachers and students, were pouring out of East Germany through West Berlin. The satellite regime was threatened with collapse.

The Communists raised their border wall through the heart of the city in August. That dammed the tide of refugees to a trickle, solving their most critical problem.

Some quarters expect new tension over Berlin early this year, particularly if the Communists find the West firmly opposed to concessions in the diplomatic probe now starting.

Some observers believe negotiations over Berlin could be long delayed in starting or break down along the way.

The Communists then could be counted upon to boost tension. The easiest way to manufacture a new crisis would be for the East Germans to harass traffic along the access routes to West Berlin across East German territory, or to interfere further with traffic between East and West Berlin.

Sterner Traffic Measures Asked In Albany Talk

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Sterner measures for traffic safety were advocated today by Gov. Rockefeller, who said he was heartened by the best record in the state's history.

The governor also reported in his annual message to the Legislature that, despite a decrease in federal funds, a $1 billion highway and road-building program had been carried out in the last three years. This, he said, was the largest in the state's history and kept pace with the growth of the state's economy.

He also said his administration had made a "comprehensive attack on the state's transportation problems" to maintain adequate water, truck, bus and rail systems.

To make the state's highways safer, Rockefeller urged that:

1. All school-bus drivers be required to obtain chauffeurs' licenses.

2. The state's point system in penalizing traffic violators be expanded to include convictions for traffic violations in neighboring states, plus forfeitures of bail for traffic offenses.

3. A broader program for reexamining drivers be considered.

The governor said his budget message in February would include specific recommendations for continuing an accelerated highway-building program.

Socialite Mother Of Three, Civic Leader Is Slain

PACIFIC PALISADES, Calif. (AP)—Police sought clues today in the mysterious slaying of a pretty young socialite who was brutally beaten in her $100,000 home and then dumped into a water-filled tub.

Doris June Bowman, 32, willowy honey-blonde mother of three and a community leader in this swank Southern California seacoast town was found dead Tuesday. She was the wife of Dr. Frank Potter Bowman, 39, medical director for the Southern California Edison Co.

A neighbor who brought one of Mrs. Bowman's children home from nursery school shortly after noon found her fully clothed body in the tub. Dr. Bowman was summoned home from his office in downtown Los Angeles.

Police said an intruder apparently hit Mrs. Bowman several times with a blunt object, dragged her 40 feet from the kitchen into the bathroom and put her body in the tub. She was wearing blue capri pants and a black blouse.

Investigators said the house was not ransacked. Bloodstains and fragments of teeth found in the house showed that Mrs. Bowman had battled for her life. Bloodstains on the bathroom basin indicated the killer took time to wash before fleeing. Blood smudges were found in several places, including near the front door.

A watch on Mrs. Bowman's wrist was stopped at shortly after 10 o'clock. Neighbors said they had seen no strangers during the morning, nor had they heard any sounds of a struggle in the house. The doors were locked and there was no evidence of forced entry.

There was speculation that Mrs. Bowman may have surprised a prowler bent upon burglary but homicide Sgt. Virgil A. Peterson, in charge of the investigation, commented: "We have no leads, no suspects and can find no motive for the crime."

No Prospect of Reduction in Sight

Employers to Pay Higher Job Insurance Tax, Rocky Says

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Employers likely will have to pay a higher unemployment - insurance tax rate this year, and there is little prospect of reduction next year, Gov. Rockefeller said today.

In addition, the governor proposed an increase in the minimum wage, to conform to federal legislation, and in the workmen's compensation maximum benefit —all charges on business.

But the governor had good news for business, too, in his message to the opening session of the 1962 Legislature.

He said:

More New Yorkers were at work than ever before; New York industry continued to grow; in the last three years, 1,680 new industrial plants or major plant expansions were added to New York's industrial complex; the agricultural economy had hit an all-time high in efficiency; tourism increasesed 30 per cent in the last three years to a $2.6 billion enterprise; and 71 research and development laboratories were built in the state in the last three years.

The increase in the unemployment-insurance tax rate was blamed on the recent recession. Rockefeller said that the recession had been expected to drain the unemployment insurance fund by $150 million but that the total now appears to be approximately $185 million.

To maintain the fund at a level adequate to protect claimants, "it now appears that the subsidiary tax in 1962 will rise by fourtenths of a percentage point to one per cent of taxable payrolls," the governor said.

The subsidiary rate is in addition to the normal unemployment tax rate and is designed to raise the money needed to meet deficit accounts. The fund is financed by a tax on employers.

Rockefeller gave no estimates of how many workers stood to receive pay increases under the 25-cent increase he proposed in the state's minimum wage, now $1. The increase would be in two stages. The $1.25 level would be reached Sept. 3.

Rockefeller did not say whether he would propose that farm workers also come under the minimum wage. They now are expected.

The governor said the maximum weekly benefit payable under the workmen's compensation program needed to be raised from $50 to $55, because the average weekly wage had risen and benefits should coincide.

The increase will cost an estimated $10 million a year. The workmen's compensation program is financed by employers.

Chances Split With Lawmakers

Rocky Urges Milk Date Bill Be Restored in '62

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller, risking a split with Republican lawmakers from rural areas, asked the Legislature today to restore New York City's authority to require dating of milk sold there.

The Republican-controlled Legislature took away that power in 1960. Rockefeller and other GOP leaders reportedly have become concerned over possibly adverse political effects in the state's largest city.

Faces Opposition

But Assemblyman Edwyn E. Mason, R-Delaware, sponsor of the 1960 bill abolishing milk-dating, has said he would fight any attempts to restore it and would urge other Upstate Republican lawmakers to help him.

The governor, in his message, also said he would recommend additional funds for agricultural research programs for the benefit of farmers and consumers.

In addition, he said, he will recommended increased funds to expand activities of the state Soil Conservation Committee.

Will Remove Disease

Work toward eradication of the golden nematode disease in potatoes on Long Island, he reported, gave promise that the disease could be eliminated within five years. He said that, in 1960 and 1961, more than 2,500 acres of potato land were treated against the microscopic insect through cooperative efforts of federal, state and local governments.

Rockefeller, who will be seeking votes in New York City as part of his reelection bid this year, told the lawmakers:

Seek Return of Bills

"The campaign in New York City for return of milk-dating, with widespread discussion of the reported sale of sour milk, has greatly disturbed consumers and is reportedly having an adverse effect on the sale of milk."

New York City was the state's last remaining community having a requirement that the date of pasteurization appear on all containers of milk sold at retail.

Dairy interests who led the fight last year for elimination of milk-dating argued it had become an obsolete practice in view of modern refrigeration.

The governor said today "the encouragement of increased consumption of milk is a basic objective" of his administration. Last March he appointed a committee to recommend solutions to problems of dairy farmers. The committee will make recommendations on adjustments in the price formula for Class I (liquid) milk and on unfair milk-marketing practices.

Message Reflects Rocky's Role as Candidate Again

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's annual message to the Legislature emphasizes past accomplishments, political caution and mass appeal rather than new departures or sweeping innovations.

It is a document that reflects Rockefeller's role as a candidate for re-election, as a prominent Republican on the national scene and a potential candidate for his party's nomination for president in 1964.

The governor's immediate political goal is, of course, re-election. If he achieves this by a significant majority, he might establish himself as a contender for the GOP nomination two years hence, despite his impending divorce.

His status as a candidate is inherent in his detailed recitation — 30 specific points—of developments during his first three years in office.

Political caution is shown in the governor's decision to postpone until next year action on changes in public-welfare laws, which have become caught in a cross-fire between conservative forces demanding retrenchment and liberal groups urging greater benefits.

Rockefeller appeared to be looking toward national horizons as he told the lawmakers that "the role of the state is not negative... as a simple counterweight to federal power... In short, the preservation of states' rights depends critically upon the meeting and fulfillment of states' responsibilities."

The governor once again expounded on his view that "we should not be misled by labels... whether a given piece of legislation carries...the label of 'liberal' or 'conservative.'"

New York State

tend to continue the 10 per cent tax refund this year, will call at least part of the $80 million the State Thruway Authority owes the state and will block plans of New Jersey to take over $27 million in income taxes that state's residents now pay to New York.

He also will recommend that corporate and bank taxes be put on a current basis, beginning in 1963.

The overall tenor of the Rockefeller message, with its heavy emphasis on his record and on programs affecting broad segments of the population, was strongly political.

The governor made public officially what had been assumed for some time — that he will not ask the Legislature to deal this year with the politically sensitive problem of public welfare.

Rockefeller has appointed a Moreland Act commission to look into that field. He said today he was confident that group's recommendations would "provide a basis for legislative recommendations next year."

Cuba Makes Protest

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cuban government has formally protested that U.S. ships and planes have violated Cuban waters and air space "tens and hundreds" of times.

The State Department had no comment on the protest delivered Tuesday by the Czechoslovakian ambassador to the United States, Miloslav Ruzek. He has represented the Cuban government here since the United States broke diplomatic relations with Cuba.

Verdict Pending In Death of Area School Employe

Floyd Beckett, 58, employed since last September as a dishwasher at the Mohonk-Cragsmoor School, died suddenly last evening shortly after returning to the school from a vacation in New Jersey. Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson was withholding a verdict pending further investigation.

Investigator Charles Teelon and Trooper Joseph Ellsworth of the Ellenville station were notified and began an investigation.

Beckett had returned from a vacation in New Jersey last evening, arriving at the school about 10 p. m. Investigator Teelon reported Beckett had been discharged from a taxi some distance down the hill from the school and arrived at the school bleeding from the left hand which he said he had caught in the door of the cab.

He was carrying two heavy suitcases when he reached the school and was admitted to the school dispensary where he was treated by Mrs. Edward Lafferty, school nurse. Shortly after arriving at the dispensary he fell from a chair to the floor. The Ellenville First Aid Squad was summoned but on arrival it was ascertained that Beckett was dead. Coroner Chipp was summoned.

It is believed Beckett has relatives in the Rochester area and efforts were being made today to locate them.

Steel Production Highest Since 1960

LACKAWANNA, N.Y. (AP)—The Bethlehem Steel Co. Tuesday lit 5 more open hearth furnaces, leaving only 9 of its 35 furnaces closed down. Republic Steel has seven of its 12 furnaces in operation.

Steel now is being produced in the area at a rate of 80.5 per cent of capacity, the highest since April 1960.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market steadied and showed some minor improvement in moderate trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .20 at 261.10 with industrials up .30, rails up .50, and utilities unchanged.

The list was a bit higher on balance at the start, seemed about to generate a stronger rally for a while, then relapsed with a slight upside advantage.

Gains among aluminums, aerospace issues, oils, rails, steels, and coppers kept the list higher. Airlines were mixed despite a 3 per cent fare boost estimated to add $54 million annually to trunklines revenue.

The aircraft-missile stocks were helped by further news of defense contracts. Motors were narrowly mixed. Tobaccos were mostly lower.

consideration as to availability of properties involved.

Minority Leader Joseph F. Carroll Jr. held the figures for land in the Schwenk plan were not high considering that three parcels are involved. Koenig said that parcels one and two in the Schwenk plan had already been investigated by the parking committee, and he felt that the sums arrived at "were not true figures."

A 9-4 vote of the council is needed to approve a bond issue for an off-street parking project. The Democratic aldermen failed to gain that Dec. 26 when Alderman William G. Davis (D-L) 13th Ward, failed to vote for the Radel plan. The council is now composed of eight Democrats and five Republicans, instead of the 9-4 in the Radel administration.

Schwenk's Plan

In his full report to the council on off-street parking, Schwenk wrote:

An extremely serious situation threatens the tax structure of our city, the future employment of many of our residents who work in retail establishments, and the convenience of all who shop in Kingston.

Since both the majority and minority parties have publicly acknowledged the critical need for new off-street parking facilities in the uptown business district, and expressed their willingness to provide these facilities, I am going to suggest that we treat this problem as a bi-partisan matter.

Attached for your consideration is a drawing which indicates the specific location and details of the parking lots which comprise Phase One of my off-street parking plan. I would appreciate it if you would treat the locations of the proposed lots as privileged information, so as not to inflate the asking prices of the properties involved.

As you can see, this stop-gap parking project involves three lots. Lot 1 will accommodate 90 cars; lot 2 will provide space for 110 cars; lot 3 will handle 85 cars.

I feel that this plan is a sensible one for Kingston for several reasons:

1. By creating three new lots, we will be spreading relief for the parking shortage throughout the uptown business district, rather than concentrate all the aid in a single location. Thus Fair Street and Wall Street will share in the benefits with North Front Street.

2. High potential assessment properties will not be used, thus preserving what we are attempting to save.

3. Because of the non-commercial nature of the properties involved in the project, land acquisition costs should be reasonable, and we estimate that the land can be acquired at a cost ranging between $150,000 and $170,000.

4. Depending on the method of operating these lots, which must still be determined, and about which we should consult with the uptown merchants for their recommendations, we estimate that these three lots can be constructed for between $60,000 and $80,000.

5. These lots would be constructed on a self-liquidating basis.

Thus, the overall cost of this stop-gap parking project for 285 cars would range between $210,000 and $250,000, according to our estimates, would serve a greater area of the uptown business district, and would retain potentially valuable properties for future improvement.

If you have any questions or suggestions, I would be pleased to meet with your off-street parking committee, or any number of members of your Honorable Body.

The off-street parking proposal was left with a special committee composed of aldermen Donald M. Hastings (D) Third Ward, chairman; Francis R. Koenig (D) Ninth Ward; Donald E. Quick (D) 10th Ward; Joseph F. Carroll (R) 11th Ward, and Clark W. Myers (R) Second Ward. It is also to be considered by the finance committee composed of Koenig, chairman; Sass and Myers.

Alderman Hastings, commenting on the Schwenk plan, said he also felt that nothing had been done as to acquiring the land. "I don't think they even know it can be had," he said.

Democrats indicated opposition to the proposal that would become Local Law No. 1, of 1962, dealing with appointments in the mayor's office, but favored the rehiring of Harry C. Seitz of 188 Linderman Avenue, stenotypist, who has compiled records of council meetings.

Local Law No. 1 would amend sections 14 and 15 of Title 3 in the city charter and would provide for the naming of William C. Klein as executive assistant to the mayor. It would also create the post of stenographer in the mayor's office, but without increase in the budget.

Not Affecting Kaye: Carroll

Majority Leader Sass said several things should be considered before action is taken on the law. Minority Leader Carroll emphasized that it would not take any power away from the Alderman-at-Large Harold M. Kaye, and if it did he would be opposed to it. Kaye, he said, would continue substituting for the mayor in his absence.

Hastings and Koenig emphasized that records taken by Seitz were valuable to the council and the city, and it was moved to have him attend the next meeting. Carroll emphasized that the mayor had committed himself to cut expenditures. Koenig, recalling mention of certain conditions at the city's parks, suggested that the aldermen have Andrew J. Murphy 3rd, recreation department head, supply a "run-down" on conditions at the next meeting.

The council's five Republican aldermen, contending they had not had opportunity to study several fire insurance bills from different companies, abstained from voting in the adoption of a measure approving payment of bills.

Koenig, at the time of the vote on the $280,000 tax anticipation note sum, recalled Schwenk's campaign mention of his opposition against such notes. Yet, he held, in "his first encounter" with the finance committee, he dealt with such notes.

If the measure was not acted upon, Carroll said, there would be no payroll. The procedure, he noted was a "carry-over" from previous administrations.

Charles J. Cole, public works superintendent, was granted permission to attend the Fourth Annual Asphalt Paving Conference at Cornell University Jan. 15 through 17.

Tomshaw Named Fire Board Head

Tibor Tomshaw, of 187 Henry Street, was elected president of the Board of Fire Commissioners at its reorganizational meeting in Central Fire Station Tuesday night.

Tomshaw was elected to succeed Edward Finch of 38 Abbey Street, who has been replaced on the board by Edward Dasher, of 86 Abruyn Street. The other member of the board is John Worf, of 97 Abeel Street.

Dr. John A. Cooke, of 90 St. James Street, was named a fire department physician to succeed Dr. Knneth H. LeFever, of 23 John Street who resigned recently. The department's other physician is Dr. Jack Lehner, of 204 Fair Street.

Reappointed department chaplains were Msgr. Stephen P. Connelly, of St. Joseph's Church and Robert T. Shellenberger, of St. John's Episcopal Church.

Discuss JFK Visit

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — A possible visit of President Kennedy to the Soviet Union was discussed in the Soviet-American talks on Berlin in Moscow Tuesday, Tanjug, the official Yugoslav agency, quoted informed circles in Moscow.

The same sources also claim U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson's mission is not limited to examining the diplomatic atmosphere in the Berlin dispute but his instructions from Washington contain larger authorization, Tanjug said.

Discard Old Yardsticks In Fixing Stock Values

Q) "I've been investing for a long time, but it's geting more and more difficult for me to understand the level at which some stocks are now selling. Years ago ten times earnings represented fair market value, but today it is a far different story. How do you feel about this?" P. R.

A) Idols are toppling rapidly these days, and it is useless to attempt to appraise stocks in the 1960's by many of the traditional yardsticks.

Now, more than ever before, investors are putting a high premium on growth—the ability to increase sales, earnings and dividends considerably faster than business as a whole over a period of time.

Under today's market conditions, 20 times earnings is a relatively moderate ratio. In fact, most powerful growth situations are currently in demand at 30, 40 and 50 times earnings.

The Dow Industrial list, made up of large mature firms, is selling around 24 times earnings—more than double what used to be regarded in years gone by as a measure of fair market value.

The old order changeth, and I think we shall have to learn to live with it.

I don't mean to imply, however, that certain shares are not unrealistically priced on the basis of present and future earnings. Each situation should be examined with considerable care to be certain that the growth involved justifies the premium to be paid.

I would be particularly wary about some of the newer situations where strong growth rests on guesswork rather than on a well-defined record over the past few years.

Q) "What do you think of APCO Oil?" K. J.

A) APCO markets in the Middle West and Great Plains states. Earning power is strong, and there is a good possibility of an eventual merger with a larger outfit. I like APCO and regard it as one of the better buys among the low-priced oils.

State Official, Bingo Man Say $600 Is for Bet

NEW YORK (AP)—A member of the State Lottery Control Commission and a bingo equipment distributor have told a state investigator that a $600 check that passed between them was part of a $1,000 election bet they lost jointly.

The commissioner, William J. White, a lawyer who lives in Garden City, and the bingo distributor, Ciro J. Virga, of Valley Stream, both denied anything improper in the transaction.

Testimony about the $600 check was given by the two men Tuesday at a public hearing before Moreland Act Commissioner Thomas B. Gilchrist Jr., who is investigating bingo operations in the state.

The hearing resumes today.

White said the check, given to him by Virga in 1959, was Virga's part of an election bet loss.

Virga said he and White bet on former Gov. W. Averell Harriman, a Democrat, to win reelection in 1958 over Gov. Rockefeller, a Republican.

White declared there was nothing wrong with his relationship with Virga. But he conceded that "perhaps the association was unwise or bad judgment."

Virga testified he had been denied a horse racing license in New York State because he had been convicted of bookmaking in 1944 and 1947.

Hurley Vols Slate Fourth Free Movie

The Hurley Volunteers Fire Co. 1 announce they will present the fourth in a series of free movies on Saturday, January 6 starting at 7 p. m. with colored cartons.

Featured will be Mr. Magoo's 1001 Arabian Nights. The main feature deals with the famous T.V. Mr. Magoo and Aladdin, Princess Yosmida, Michel Wazir, Jimmy of the Magic Lamp.

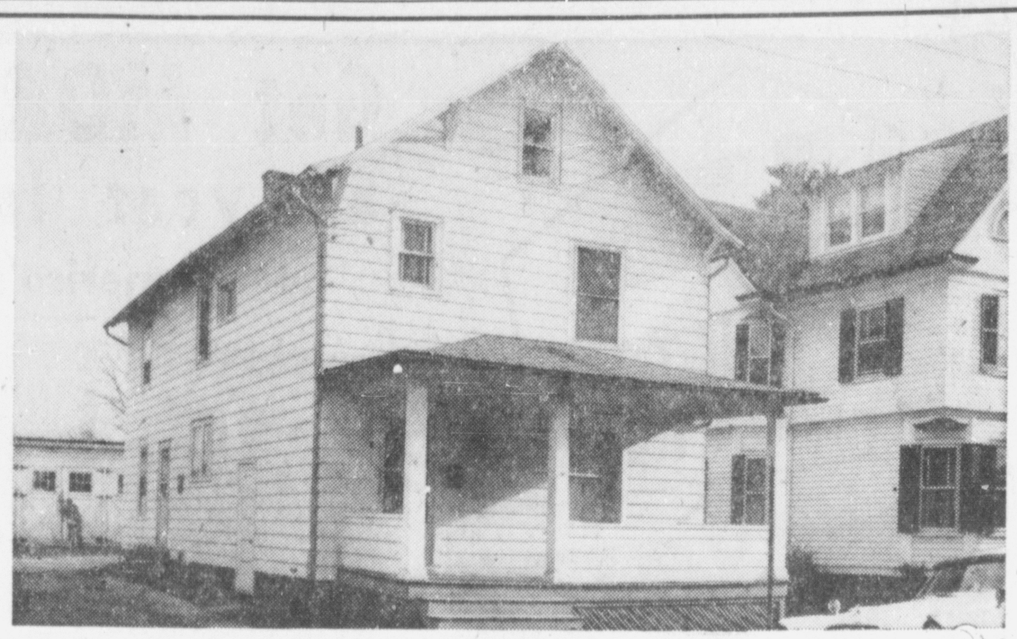

This movie should rekindle memories for the oldsters and give a modern twist for the youngsters of the area, firemen said.

The committee announced that to date more than 325 youngsters have attended the free movies. Charles Goble, chairman of the committee, is assisted by Eugene Hannay, Robert Lawton, Chester Dolson, Paul McGuire.

Firemen said the free movies are presented with funds from their treasury, and they urge residents to take advantage of the movies and attend the event.

The committee said the members have spent considerable time in selecting the movies, which they contend presents wholesome entertainment for area residents.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Mabel DePuy—Telephone AL 6-7719

Activities Are Listed by Group Assisting Needy

NEW PALTZ—The Christmas committee reports that plentiful supplies of clothing, food and toys have gone out to every person in every needy home in the community in time for Christmas.

Nineteen families were served this year in addition to the other individuals receiving baskets of fruit, apples, oranges, candy, cosmetics and individual presents to residents of the Ulster County Home.

The supply of toys was so great again this year that it took the largest truck to transport them from the Wallkill Prison Shop where they were repaired. The repair work is made possible through the cooperation of Warden Walter Wallack.

Gifts, especially for those children were supplied by the Girl Scout Troops of Mrs. Marjorie DePuy and Miss Carole Hefty.

Canned goods were contributed by the pupils from each of the local schools as well as the Delphic Fraternity who presented a benefit performance which netted two large cartons of canned goods as well as $42.50 in cash.

Apples were donated by bushels by all the local apple growers and eggs by local farmers. Apple growers included Kurtz, Dressel, Jenkins and Leuken, Moriello, Ackerman and Hasbrouck. Eggs by Langwick, Tice and Van Alst.

Recently a $25 credit has been made available at Carroll's Clothing Store for clothing for the Auchmoedy family recently burned out in Rosendale.

The committee has expressed a request for a sewing machine for a mother of five children. If in need of repair, the committee will stand the expense.

Mr. Kemper said "Corwin Insurance Agency has given evidence of conducting the highest type of insurance business under the American Agency system. Wants Potatoes Used for Welfare

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department should provide surplus potatoes to persons on relief rolls, including 500,000 in New York State, Rep. Harold C. Ostertag, R-N.Y., says.

The department announced recently it would buy surplus potatoes for distribution in the school-lunch program and for use in institutions.

In a letter to Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman Tuesday, Ostertag said a large surplus of potatoes on Long Island and in Western New York justified their use by welfare recipients, especially in the western half of New York and in the New York City area.

By day, breeze blows from the sea. By night, it blows toward the sea. This is because the sun's rays warm the land faster than the ocean by day, causing air over the land to move upward, drawing in air from the ocean. At night the ground cools faster than the water and the air over the water rises.

Slick Play Fools South

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A rubber bridge game at the Arizona Club in Phoenix brought out one of the best plays of 1961.

North and South arrived at a reasonable six-diamond contract after an excellent bidding sequence. I don't intend to get into a discussion of the merit of any slam bid, especially of six no-trump as opposed to six diamonds.

Anyway, South was in six diamonds. Dummy's queen of spades held the first trick and the deuce of diamonds was led from dummy. Now, see if you can figure out how South, a very good player, managed to go down.

The answer to the problem is that George Richardson, who sat East, played the jack of diamonds on the deuce.

West took his ace of trumps and led another spade. South won, led the three of diamonds, noted the fall of the five spot from West, thought a while, and played dummy's eight of trumps! Bingo!

George's play of the jack had paid off. It is interesting to note that he risked absolutely nothing when he made it. There was no combination of cards that would make his jack good for purposes of beating the slam.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)— One easy way to repair a midseason hole in a TV schedule is to plug it with a nighttime version of a daytime show.

On one occasion, this economical expedient even turned into a hit show—NBC's "The Price Is Right." It is doubtful, however, that the same lightning will strike CBS' prime-time edition of "Password," which started Tuesday night.

The game itself—a sort of word association gimmick—is slight and far from gripping. Any fun and excitement must come from the skill of the players. In the first show, Carol Burnett carried the entertainment load by herself in spite of the presence of Garry Moore and two other players.

One vital reason for the continued success of "The Price Is Right" is that the home audience can bid along with the studio contestants. That's not possible with "Password." Anyway, the sh.. is not right for evening, although it is a pleasant enough time-killer earlier in the day.

Fred Astaire's ABC anthology series Tuesday night was a short, offbeat vignette with an intriguing title, "The Cake Baker." It was a sad little story of a lonely young woman, silently escaping the boring confinement of housework and child rearing by daydreaming.

She tries to get back to normal by plunging into PTA work. But her husband, inconvenienced and not understanding, destroys her one chance to regain mental health. At the end, she apparently has slipped away from harsh reality for good.

Monday's flower-covered Rose Parade from Pasadena was also covered with free plugs, separated by the paid commercials.

Cowboy stars—including some most of us had never heard of—were riding their horses past the cameras hoping for—and receiving—a word about their shows. There were floats from trucking associations, insurance firms, cities interested in tourist trade and others, in such profusion that the orange juice and cereal sponsors ofthe two network shows sort of got lost in the shuffle.

Hughes Assures Against Double Tax for Jerseyites

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Gov.-elect Richard J. Hughes has assured New Jersey commuters that they will not be double taxed, even if the New York Legislature adopts Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's proposals.

Hughes made the assurance Tuesday night. A spokesman said the governor-elect was not surprised by Rockefeller's announced proposal.

Rockefeller said he will ask the New York State Legislature today to cancel a provision of New York's income tax law which gives credit to out-of-state residents who pay income taxes in their own state.

The recommendation is designed to stop New Jersey from recapturing some $27 to $38 million a year from New Year's treasury.

Three Appointments Delayed in Buffalo

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Action of three top appointments in the new Republican administration has been delayed until next Tuesday by the Democratic-controlled City Council.

The council voted 10-5 Tuesday to send the appointments to its legislative committee for further study. The council is made up of 11 Democrats and four Republicans.

One of the key posts, that of police commissioner in the administration of Chester Kowal, was among those blocked after the council had unanimously approved three others.

Other appointments delayed were that of Albert C. Killian to parks commissioner, and Edward D. Baxter as public works commissioner.

Advice from a marriage counselor: In spite of the expense and loss of time, the bridegroom should accompany the bride on the honeymoon. It may be the last vacation he will ever have.

A man took his young son to the beach. After a number of the bathing beauties had passed by in front of them, the father asked:

Father—What are you staring at?

Son—Oh, I was just looking at those baby's. They are dressed just like baby sister with their diapers on, but what I can't understand is why they wear those bibs so low when they ain't eating a thing.

The young man had just been admitted to practice at the bar. He heard his name spoken, and started to his feet.

Judge—Mr. Smith, the prisoner at the bar is unable to employ counsel. Will you defend him?

Mr. Smith — Certainly, Your Honor. May I retire with him to the bar office for a few moment's consultation?

Judge (with a slight sneer.)—Yes, sir; and give him your best advice.

Smith appeared not to notice, and, motioning for the prisoner to follow him, the young fellow passed from the room. Ten minutes passed, and then the young man strolled into the room and dropped into a chair.

Judge—Are you ready to proceed?

Mr. Smith—Yes, Your Honor.

Judge—Where's the prisoner?

Mr. Smith — I really don't know.

Judge—What?

Mr. Smith—I'm sure I don't know.

Judge — Mr. Smith, will you explain what you mean by this extraordinary conduct?

Mr. Smith—Your Honor told me to give him the best advice I could, I believe?

Judge—Yes, sir.

Mr. Smith — Well, may it please the court, when I consulted him I found he was guilty, and had really no defense whatever. So, in pursuance of Your Honor's so kindly meant suggestion, I advised him to drop out of the window and make himself as scarce as possible. He followed the first part of my advice to the letter, and I presume he will also observe the rest of it.

Lawyer — Madam, you have had three husbands, and every one of them either went crazy or turned out to be worthless. Yet you are thinking of marrying again!

Fair Client—Yes, sir. I want a safe and sane fourth.

An Idaho potato married an Iowa potato. They had a little sweet potato.

General Manager Of Danbury News Named Publisher

DANBURY, Conn. (AP) — Eugene J. Brown, general manager of the Danbury News-Times since April 1956, was appointed to the additional position of publisher today.

The appointment was announced by James H. Ottaway, president of Ottaway Newspaper-Radio Inc., of which the News-Times is a member.

Ottaway, formerly publisher of the News-Times, continues as president of the Danbury Publishing Co. Inc., which publishes the newspaper.

Brown has been associated with the Ottaway Group since 1944 and for 12 years was general manager of the Oneonta (N.Y.) Daily Star. He assisted in development of other newspapers as they were acquired by the Ottaway Group.

He is senior vice president of the Ottaway Company which owns daily newspapers in Middletown, Oneonta, Plattsburgh and Port Jervis in New York State, in Stroudsburg, Pa., and in Danbury.

Before becoming associated with Ottaway, Brown was with the Los Angeles Times, the Passaic (N.J.) Herald News and the Long Island Star Journal.

In announcing Brown's appointment, Ottaway noted that since 1955 the News-Times' circulation has increased from 17,000 to 22,000.

Sees Victory for Cause Of Racial Equality

NEW YORK (AP)—Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, predicts victory for the cause of racial equality.

"I think we're going to win," Wilkins said Monday night, "because of the helpers we have, because the American people are essentially fair, and because the Negro has faith in himself."

Some 1,000 persons attended a dinner honoring Wilkins for his 30 years' service with the association.

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Businessmen and bankers will have their eyes on Washington for the next two weeks. So will labor and investors and taxpayers. And so, too, should consumers. All will have a great deal at stake.

For the fiscal and economic program which President Kennedy is expected to reveal shortly in general terms in his State of the Union message, and in detail in the budget message to follow, will have bread-and-butter significance for almost everyone.

Soon we'll be told how much the government will spend, and for what; how much it expects to take in through taxes, and what tax changes if any; how it expects to finance any borrowing the Treasury must make to keep its till safely filled.

All of these will have effects sooner or later, to greater or lesser degree, on new orders for many industries, sales and profits records, jobs and work weeks, interest rates on savings and mortgages, on loans and on short-term and long-term securities, and in time on prices and waves.

The economy is too big now for the federal budget to make it or wreck it. But industrial and financial trends are definitely affected by government policies. And the effects of government policies are more noticeable when the economy itself is in fairly close balance—definitely not declining, but not advancing in anything resembling a sure-fire boom.

Many businessmen believe that the current moderate uptrend in the economy is due to forces generated within the economy itself, with a big assist by fairly steady consumer spending.

Administration economists, however, think that a lot of the zip today is due to a needed extra nudge which extra federal spending gave. The defense outlays were raised by $6 billion. And as orders arising from this reached defense firms and were spread through their supplies, it helped not only industry but made more jobs, or longer work weeks, for many workers. And their large paychecks helped push consumer sales to record highs before Christmas.

The U.S. Treasury also hopes to benefit. The added earnings of industry and larger incomes of individuals are expected to raise its take through income taxes in the coming fiscal year.

It is on this anticipation that the Budget Bureau is counting to balance out the bigger budget the President is expected to present this month. Spending is expected to rise to at least $92 billion. Just a year ago the President estimated spending in the current fiscal year would be $80.7 billion, raised later to $815 billion.

The increased spending expected in the fiscal year starting July 1 will further benefit some industries and firms—and, hopefully, many workers. If this in turn inspires higher Treasury revenues, the budget may stay in the hoped-for balance.

President Tshombe To Receive Award

NEW YORK (AP)— President Moise Tshombe of Katanga will be given an award at a March 7 rally sponsored by Young Americans for Freedom, the group said today.

The presentation at the Conservative Rally for World Liberation from Communism will be "to the embattled Katangan people for their courageous stand against communism and their continued fight for freedom," the rally committee said.

Herbert Hoover, Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., and former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker are among others scheduled to receive awards at the rally in Madison Square Garden.

Speakers will include Republican Sens. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and John Tower of Texas, the committee said.

Science at Work

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An antibiotic for plants, how a cockroach finds a mate in the dark, and frisky snowfleas are topics of scientific studies:

For Sickly Plants

Before long, farmers and fruit growers may be able to give sickly trees and plants an assist with a dose of a new wonder drug, an antibiotic for plants, now being perfected by British scientists.

From a patient screening of 8,000 soil samples, they turned up venturiciden which, if present tests prove out, will be produced as an agricultural spray. Venturicidin is an antifungus, although not an antibacterial, and seems to be harmless to animals.

So far, the scientists reported in Nature magazine, it has been found effective in stopping apple scab, barley mildew, broad bean rust, gray mold, cucumber mildew, and other plant diseases.

Cockroach Romance

A Harvard biologist has found out how cockroaches find a mate, in the dark.

When Dr. Robert Barth removed a pair of glands, called the corpora allata, from the necks of female cockroaches, the males ignored them. The glands, he explained, normally produce a hormone which triggers production of a chemical considered very agreeable by the male. When Dr. Barth replanted new glands in the females, they mated and produced normal eggs.

Snowflea Frolic

Don't tell the dog, but there's a hardy little gray-white insect called a snowflea that thrives in subzero temperatures and hops with the best of them, although without accuracy.

Actually, snowfleas won't bother animals, but it can be a pest by invading cold-water pipes in houses and sometimes find its way into refrigerators. But, the National Pest Control Association reports, such invasions are infrequent and can be controlled by exterminators.

Snowfleas are a type of springtail, that is, insects possessing a pair of spring-like tails that can be tripped when quick distance is required. Snowfleas can hop as much as a foot. Trouble is, they don't seem to have any control over the direction their springs will take them.

Milk Production Termed a 'Must'

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Faced with increasing milk production and stiffer competition from other beverages, dairymen were told today that promotion of their product was "a must in 1962."

The American Dairy Association and Dairy Council of New York said it anticipated a $750,000 state budget in 1962, a 50 per cent increase over last year, with which to stress the nutritive value of milk and its role in physical fitness.

Dairymen finance the program with voluntary contributions of 3 cents a hundredweight (46.5 quarts) of their production.

DISOWNING HER FAMILY

Q: My niece has lived with me for several years. She is not very proud of her family, and I can't blame her, but she has risen in spite of them. She is marrying a very fine young man from a prominent family. I am giving the wedding, but the question is, must she have her family come to it? In my opinion, she ought to have the right to a happy wedding, and I don't see why she has to publicly acknowledge her family on this one day when they have done nothing for her except to disgrace her and have for many years left the care of her to me. Under such circumstances, would leaving them out be unforgivable?

A: Unless she wishes to publicly and irrevocably disown them, her family must be invited to the wedding.

Q: My son is soon to become engaged. His fiancee's mother does not like engagement parties and is not giving one for her daughter. Would it be proper for me to give an engagement party for the young couple?

A: A party to announce the engagement would not be proper. However, after the announcement by her parents, it would be entirely proper for you to give a party in honor of their engagement.

Q: A friend gave me a very good-looking pocketbook for Christmas. Several days later when I went to transfer my things into the new purse, I discovered that the catch was broken. I would like to know if it would be proper to tell my friend about this and ask her to exchange it for another, or must I keep it and say nothing?

A: If you know which store it came from, you may properly try to exchange it yourself but you should not ask your friend to do this for you.

Any deserving youngster who wants to go to college will have a chance through a "grass-roots" scholarship plan, if a Massachusetts optometrist's dream comes true.

"The wonder of it all is that this scholarsh p plan asks each of us to contribute just one dollar a year," say the originator of the idea, Dr. Irving A. Fradkin of Fall River in the January issue of Better Homes & Gardens magazine.

Doctor Fradkin's project, known as the Citizens' Scholarship Foundation, is designed to create wider educational opportunities in the United States through local action—without resorting to any form of government aid.

The first community to adopt this plan was Doctor Fradkin's own Fall River—a Massachusetts city of just under 100,000 people, famed in formed days for the Old Fall River Line, Lizzie Borden, and for its more than 100 textile mills.

Although the people of Fall River come from diverse racial, religious, and economic backgrounds, they immediately grasped the simplicity and workability of the scholarship idea. The fund-raising drive was a smashing success. In its initial year, 1958, the Citizens' Scholarship Foundation of Greater Fall River raised $4,500 to provide 24 scholarships for youngsters with such varied names as Avramides, Cippollini, Wadsworth, Santos, O'Neil and Cwiklik.

Today, the scholarship foundation idea has spread far beyond Fall River. Already this remarkably simple idea has been adopted by some 50 communities in more than a dozen states. In many cases, local civic organizations are taking advantage of this golden opportunity to sponsor a cause that is both worthy and highly successful.

Briefly, here's how the local foundations work:

They must be nonsalaried, nonprofit organizations, led by responsible citizens who have an abiding interest in the future of their community and nation. These men and women begin at the local level by meeting with their friends and neighbors, explaining the Foundation's goals.

Once the campaign is launched, each person in the community is asked to contribute a one-dollar membership for that year. Fraternal, business, civic, and educational organizations are urged to take $100 annual membership; scholarships are then awarded in each group's name.

Unlike many other fund-raising programs, the Citizens Scholarship Foundation has no high promotion costs to divert dollars from the main purpose—scholarships. The only money that leaves the community is a $50 annual Foundation dues to help defray national publicity and mailing costs.

Scholarship awards are made by a panel of outstanding local citizens, who select students on the basis of need, scholastic achievement, unusual family circumstances, leadership potential, and initiative. Applications are coded to eliminate any possibility of favortism.

Youngsters who receive the scholarship are asked to repay them wholly or partly, if they can do so, in later years. While there is no legal obligation to repay, the scholarship fund in a community can grow most vigorously if much of the money is returned and used for still more scholarships for other students. (No interest is asked, however.)

The deram of the Citizens Scholarship Foundation is to create a vast revolving fund, supporting a growing number of Scholarships of increasing size. Judging by the experience of newly formed chapters, once a community accepts the idea, it never slows down.

And acceptance is coming fast.

In January, 1961, the national Citizens Scholarship Foundation of America was launched. At that time, humorist and former teacher Sam Levenson became honorary president; Doctor Fradkin is the working president. Neither man receives any compensation from the Foundation.

Enthusiastic approval of the Foundation's aims quickly came from President Kennedy, former President Eisenhower, and from many national educational leaders. High-school teachers also praised the idea when it was introduced in their communities; the far-reaching scholarship plan has helped renew the enthusiasm of their students toward obtaining a higher education.

Citizens' Scholarship Foundations never are formed to compete with existing scholarship programs; they supplement the excellent work already being done by other groups. In several cases, the Foundation has actually become a community's scholarship co-ordinating center — eliminating any chance of overlapping among the various awards.

Meeting on Educational Needs of Children Throughout State Set for Tonight at OES

In conjunction with the "Lights On For Education" project being sponsored by the New York State Congress of Parent-Teacher Association, this evening various members of the administrative, Board of Education, Teachers Association and the community P-TA's, will meet in the Onteora Central School Library at 8 o'clock.

It is hoped that this meeting will lead to the establishment of a committee made up of representatives of the local P-TA's in the district and of the administration, the Board, and teacher groups, for the purpose of studying current legislation and alerting citizens in the area of its importance.

January Declared Dimes Campaign Month by Mayor

The New March of Dimes drive has been launched locally with a proclamation by Mayor George P. Holmes declaring January as the month for the campaign.

Mrs. Lila Simmons and Mrs. Edith Schaffer have been named chairmen of the fund drive, representing Lamouree - Hackett Unit 72, American Legion Auxiliary, annual sponsors of the campaign.

In his proclamation Mayor Holmes urged area residents to support the important fund raising campaign to the fullest extent. He pointed out that funds collected for the National Foundation aid victims of birth defects, arthritis and polio as well as finance essential research programs for cure and prevention.

New March of Dimes coin collectors are now being distributed throughout Saugerties township. More than 100 cannisters are being placed in area business places by volunteers. Each container bears the words "Your Dimes Will Do It Again."

The Salk and Sabin vaccine developed exclusively with March of Dimes funds has served to control polio, and now the foundation's aim is to do the same with arthritis and birth defects. The organization is now expanding its patient aid program to establish treatment centers and clinics for the purpose of reducing these two diseases by early diagnosis.

In addition to needed funds for treatment of these two diseases, money is required for the training of new medical and research personnel and the continuation of the National Foundation's medical research program.

The coin collectors will be prominently displayed for the convenience of the public and the directors ask that the public donate generously to the campaign as in other years.

Robert Herb and Joseph DiDomenico. Nomination forms are available in any of the Saugerties banks. The names of all nominees must be received by Jan. 7.

John Burris poured 26 points through the hoop, as the Jackets picked up their second win in five decisions. Robert Smith and Mel Williams added 10 apiece. Walt Colclough's 13 points led Doran's who went down to their fifth straight defeat.

With 1962 upon us, the New York State Woman's Bowling Association will step up its tempo to attract some 3,000 teams to Kingston for the annual state championships scheduled to get under way on Friday, March 23.

As of Dec. 29, approximately 1350 entries had been received in the office of the NYSWBA at Watertown. Cities leading with paid entries are: Syracuse 154, Rochester 132, Buffalo 112 and Binghamton 75.

Final closing date for entries is Tuesday, Jan 23, and all entries will be processed on a first come, first serve basis until that date. The tournament is strictly a weekend affair and will continue on weekends through May 27. There will be no bowling Easter weekend, April 22.

The Kingston Woman's Bowling Association under the inspired leadership of Nell Glennon is making a big pitch for a minimum 100 teams from within the KWBA. It's a big order but the KWBA lassies can be counted to accomplish their objective. They have seldom failed. Neighboring cities like Poughkeepsie, Middletown, Newburgh and the villages of Saugerties Rhinebeck, plus Woodstock, New Paltz, Rosendale, et al are being exhorted to file a record number of tournament entries.

With the tournament in our backyard, many area women will be getting their first taste of major competition. It's one of the milestones in a bowler's career, a thrill surpassed only by an appearance in the nationals. The Nationals (or WIBC) are expected to attract approximately 4,000 teams to Phoenix, Arizona, beginning April 5.

The 30th annual convention meeting of the NYSWBA will be held Saturday, March 31, at 9 a. m. and 7 p. m. in the Kingston High school auditorium. The state association is hoping to see every city association in the state represented at this convention.

• Upstaters in Lead:

Upstate bowlers are dominating the current standing boards of the NYSWBA. Highest series in the state this season is credited to Leila Pattison of Rochester with 738. Kingston's Rose Schatzel holds down second place with 700. Ruth Legler, Rochester, is third with 697 and a fast rising Buffalo gal, Terry Giffin, has the fourth and fifth slots with 693 and 681. Best single to date is the 279 rolled by Evelyn Jenkins of Buffalo. Anita G. Rubado of Plattsburgh is second with 278. Tied with 276 are Leila Pattison, Rochester, and Jean Calendo, Buffalo. Carol Shevlin, one of the state's finest, is all alone at 269, followed by Terry Griffin and Leila Pattison, again, with 267's. . . Simon Pure Beer and Ale team of Buffalo holds the high team triple of 3001. The School Shelters Advertising of Buffalo paces the team singles with 1072. . . More than 181 of the country's best known women bowlers will compete in the WIBC's second annual Queens Tournament in conjunction with the WIBC on April 23 at Squaw Peak Lanes in Phoenix, Arizona. The 1961 Queen, Janet Harman of Los Angeles will defend her coveted crown against favorites from 20 states. These will include the 1961 runnerup, Eula Touchette, East St. Louis; and such famous stars as Marge Merrick, Columbus; Marion Ladewig, Grand Rapids; La Verne Carter, St. Ann, Missouri; Stevie Balogh, Cleveland and many others.

• Nationals Start Thursday:

Speaking of Women bowlers, Phyllis Notaro of Brant, N. Y. (near Buffalo) is defending her National All Star title in the 10-day BPAA tournament which gets under way Thursday at Convention Hall in Miami. Joe Shier of Newburgh will represent the Hudson Valley district. Abany has one of the youngest entries in the nation in 18-year-old Tommy Hoffman. Two big guns out of the tri-city area are Johnny Walther and Joe Donato, who has twice qualified for the semi-finals. Bill Tucker of St. Louis is the defending champion.

Sandy Stephens Cited Twice for One-Game Shots

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sandy Stephens of Minnesota swept both first place and runner-up spot for outstanding one-game performances in the annual Associated Press year-end football poll today.

The All-America quarterback topped the balloting with 21 votes for his brilliant play against Michigan, and received 11 votes for his starring role against Michigan State. Stephens also was cited for his work against Illinois and Iowa.

Performances by Jim Saxton of Texas, Gale Weidner of Colorado and Curtis McClinton of Kansas drew nine votes each for third in the poll.

Against Michigan, Stephens led Minnesota to a come-from-behind 23-20 victory as he gained over 300 yards running and passing. He scored once on a 63-yard sprint, passed for another touchdown, threw for a pair of two-point conversions and made an interception on his own two in the final seconds. The following week the multiple-talented 212-pounder directed the Gophers to a 13-0 victory over nationally top-ranked Michigan State, contributing a scoring pass and an interception to Minnesota's triumph.

Rose Bowl Pact Seems Assured

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The Big Ten and Big Five conference apparently are in agreement over a contract for an annual Rose Bowl football game.

Representatives of the two athletic organizations discussed at length Tuesday the possibility of reinstating the old contract they operated under for 13 years before its expiration after the 1960 Rose Bowl game.

There probably will be one major difference, however. The Big Ten intends to adhere to its no-repeat rule, but the Big Five—with fewer teams—probably will not. Under the no-repeat clause Minnesota would not be eligible for the 1963 Rose Bowl game, were it to win the Big Ten title again next fall. Its last two appearance were on a special invitation basis.

Lathrop Leishman, chairman of the Tournament of Roses Football Committee, said he expected no complication in signing of a new pact because "our relations with the Big Ten have been so admirable. These things always take time."

Sullivan Award To WilmaWard

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Wilma Rudolph Ward, winner of three Olympic gold medals and Associated Press woman athlete of the year for 1960 and 1961, has won the James E. Sullivan award for 1961.

"This is the greatest honor in the world for her," said Ed Temple, her coach at Tennessee State. "This is the topper—the one I've been waiting to hear about for a long time."

Mrs. Ward herself was en route home from Linden, N.J., where she and her husband, classmate and track team member William Ward, spent the holidays with his parents. The newlyweds hope to compete together in track events.

Mrs. Ward, 23, is the third woman to receive the Sullivan Award in the 32-year history of the recognition by the Amateur Athletic Union. The Tennessee State senior collected 1,627 points, the fourth highest total ever in the poll of former Sullivan winners, amateur sportsmen, sports writers and sportscasters.

She was runnerup to Rafer Johnson last year. This year Tommy Kono, world champion weightlifter from Honolulu was second followed by world broad jump record holder Ralph Boston, also of Tennessee State.

Thursday Mrs. Ward will be in Milwaukee to receive The Associated Press award.

The Sullivan Award is presented annually by the AAU "to the amateur athlete who, by performance, example and good influence did the most to advance good sportsmanship throughout the year."

Fullmer Named Fighter of Year

Fullmer, who is recognized as world middleweight champion by the NBA, was voted the association's fighter of the year and also was named as boxer-of-the-month in ratings for December.

Last month, the sturdy West Jordan, Utah, fighter was voted the Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque as fighter of the year by the New York Boxing Writers Association.

In its selection of Fullmer as the year's top fighter, the NBA cited his successful three defenses against Sugar Ray Robinson of New York, Florentino Fernandez and Benny (Kid) Paret, both of Cuba.

Kentucky Fires Blanton Collier

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) —Kentucky began looking for a football coach today after the university's athletic board fired Blanton Collier, the softspoken coach who replaced Paul (Bear) Bryant.

The board voted Tuesday to buy the remaining three years of Collier's contract, saying its decision was by "mutual agreement" with Collier. His salary was reported at $17,500 annually.

The board only five weeks ago gave Collier a vote of confidence.

Collier, 55, who came to Kentucky in 1954 and compiled a 41-36-3 record, said he had no immediate plans for the future.

Bryant, who came to Kentucky in 1946, pulled the Wildcats out of the football doldrums and led them to three major bowls—the Orange, Sugar and Cotton—in successive years. He left in 1953 to take the head coaching job at Texas A&M and now is at Alabama.

The Wildcats were 5-5 last season.

Jerry Lucas Named Sportsman of Year

The magazine described Lucas as "the best amateur basketball player in the world, and a student, a perfect team man, a wholesome example of fitness, awareness and common sense."

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON

Newspaper Enterprise Sports Editor

What other business or form of entertainment would be muddle-headed enough to walk out on the New York metropolitan area and its 16 million people?

President Warren Giles said the National League didn't need New York, but it is highly significant that all hands are happy to come limping back. Now the question to be resolved is—does New York need the National League?

When the knuckleheads running the major leagues permitted not one but two franchises to quit New York, where one supported the other for more than half a century, they turned half of the long baseball reason over to racing completely. It's going to take a lot of coaxing to win many of these customers back from night harness racing at plush plants.

FORTUNATELY FOR professional baseball in general, the New York Mets are in the capable hands of George M. Weiss and the inimitable Charles Dillon Stengel. The return of Casey Stengel in particular brings a Happy New Year to Manhattan, especially its baseball writers who no longer have to travel 90 miles to Philadelphia to see National League clubs in a crummy old park.

Stengel, with his impressive background, gift of gab and humor, is a super baseball salesman at a time when the business sorely needs salesmanship. The old professor knows how to get around people. Case was considered too old, among other things, but the last time I saw him he was the youngest 71 you ever saw. If Del Webb and Dan Topping doubt this, the Yankee proprietors should try sitting up and talking baseball with him half the night.

Stengel has vastly more zip than a dozen other big league formen who are 35 years younger and manage with their mouths shut. The truth is that present managers, with rare exceptions, simply do not project. All but four or five are faceless men who talk guardedly in cliches.

THE YANKEES WERE extremely fortunate along this line to have had Ralph Houk, who is articulate as he is popular with his players. A less personable and capable manager succeeding Stengel and his 10 pennants and seven world championships in 10 years easily could have had a rough maiden voyage.

Stengel was forthright right up to the end with the Yankees. Webb and Topping expected the professor to go quietly, and were shocked with the rest of the country when at press conference, Professor Stengel said: "I have just been told that my services were no longer required.

"I guess I got dumb overnight."

He's got a million of 'em.

Waldo Defends Barrel Jump At Grossinger's Saturday

Jim Waldo, 27-year-old Portland, Oregon ace, will defend his world barrel jumping title in the 12th annual championships Saturday at Grossinger's Country Club.

Waldo ended a six-year reign of Leo LeBel of Middletown, N. Y., last January and the rivalry between these two stars is expected to highlight the weekend action.

The finals are set for 1:15 p. m. to 3:15 p. m., with preliminaries from 10:30 a. m. to 12:30 noon.

LeBel holds the world record set in 1956 when he sailed over 16 barrels for a distance of 26 feet, 2 inches. In the previous year's competition, he jumped 28 feet, 7 inches, but over only 15 barrels. Because the contest is held to determine which man is the best barrel jumper, the number of barrels cleared is more important than the distance leaped.

No one has ever cleared more than 16 barrels, but with a strong field of 20 due Saturday, a new world record is possible.

Celebrity Judges

Roger Maris, home run hitting sensation of the New York Yankees and his teammates, Yogi Berra and Whitey Ford, are expected to be in the judges box. Maris is slated to fly to Grossinger's from his home in Missouri. Also scheduled to judge are actress Rita Gam; former world boxing champion and Marine hero, Barney Ross; Linda Bement, "Miss Universe 1961" and channel swimming queen, Florence Chadwick. Former Olympic speed skating champion Irving Jaffee is director of the event.

Villanova Seeks 12th Straight

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Villanova's Wildcats go after their 12th straight victory tonight against another unbeaten team. But the opposition isn't likely to provide a major test despite its spotless record.

The Wildcats play Seton Hall (4-0) at the Villanova Field House. From past performances, Jack Kraft's hustling 'Cats should scuttle Richie Regan's Pirates. While Villanova has been beating some big boys and zooming into No. 5 position in the national rankings, Seton Hall has been building its record against lesser lights.

In other games tonight, Eighth ranked Duke is at home to Penn State, Texas Tech opens defense of its Southwest Conference title against Texas and West Virginia returns to Southern Conference competition, where it is 5-0, after losing three out of its last four to non-league rivals. The Mountaineers entertain VMI.

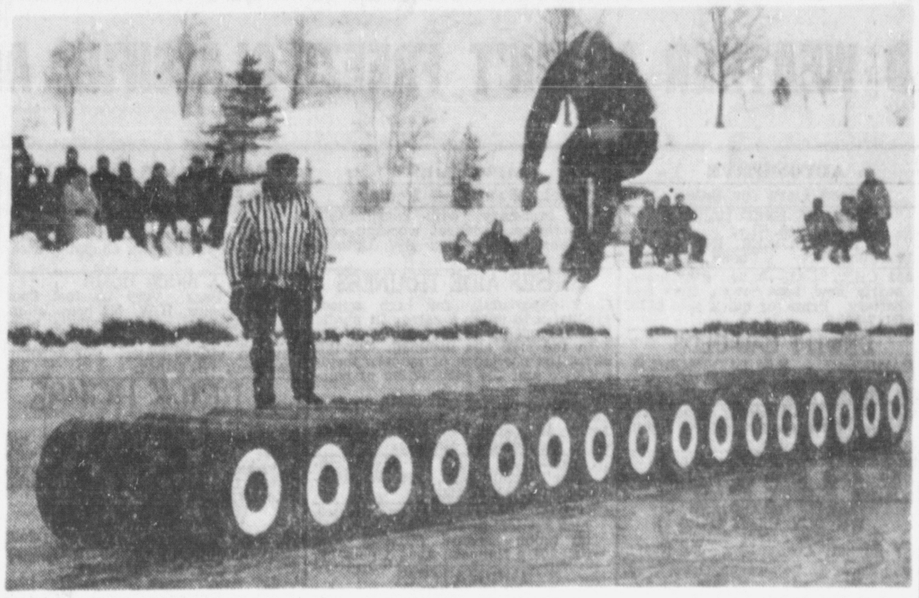

Kentucky, third ranked nationally and the only member of the top ten in action Tuesday night, took a 19-point lead against Virginia in the opening half and whipped the Cavaliers 93-73. Adolph Rupp played 15 Kentuckians and 12 of them scored, with Larry Pursiful's 21 points high. Cotton Nash added 18 for the Wildcats and Scottie Baesler had 17.

Indiana Rampage

Indiana tied its team scoring record and scored a new high against a Notre Dame squad, pounding the Irish 122-95.

In the last-minute hero department—Jerry Smith's three-point play with 37 seconds to go gave Furman a 77-76 Southern Conference squeaker over William and Mary; Bill Kirvan's three points in the final 56 seconds of overtime provided the clincher as Navy edged Georgia Tech 64-62; with 11 seconds left, Bob O'Billovich stole the ball at midcourt and raced in for a layup that enabled Montana to top Idaho 63-61; Tennessee State made up a 17-point deficit in the final 12 minutes of regulation play, drawing even on Porter Meriwether's 30-footer seven seconds before the buzzer, then trimmed Seattle in overtime 101-97.

Wake Forest broke open a tight one in the second half and downed Minnesota 79-70. Davidson surprised Alabama for the second time in two weeks, 73-67. Vanderbilt made good on 23 of 26 free throws in the last half in beating Yale 79-69. Butler maintained its perfect record against Ivy Leaguers, defeated Princeton 63-58. Maine upset Connecticut 73-68 in the Yankee conference.

UP AND OVER—Leo LeBel, 31, of Middletown sails through the air with the greatest of ease. Leo, who held the world barrel jumping title for six consecutive years, lost it last January to Jim Waldo, 27, of Portland, Oregon. The Middletown athlete hopes to regain the title this Saturday (Jan. 6) when the 12th annual World Barrel Jumping championship is held at the Grossinger Country Club.

Yankees' 1st Drill February 5

The New York Yankees will open their first spring training drills in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, on Monday morning, Feb. 5, when 36 players will report to Manager Ralph Houk's advance camp.

After some 31 years training at St. Petersburg, the New Yorkers will launch their initial camp at the new Fort Lauderdale Stadium as world champions. Manager Houk and General Manager H. Roy Hamey are looking for a replacement for all-star shortstop Tony Kubek, who is in the Army in the reserve program.

Of the 36 players who will attend the camp, 22 are on the Yanks' 40-man winter roster and nine of these were with the World Champions in 1961. The nine veterans are pitchers Tex Clevenger, Jim Coates, Al Downing, Hal Reniff, Rollie Sheldon, Bill Stafford, Ralph Terry and Bob Turley and catcher John Blanchard. Turley will be testing his right arm on which he had surgery during the '61 season. The ex-Cy Young Award winner (1958) reports from his Baltimore home that the ailing flipper is coming around nicely.

Newcomer Marshall Bridges, the left-handed reliefer recently acquired from Cincinnati for catcher Jesse Gonder, also will report February 4th for duty on the 5th.

Gibbs to Report

Other infielders to merit special attention at the camp in Fort Lauderdale are Jake Gibbs, who received a record Yankee bonus last spring after completing four starring seasons in baseball and football at Mississippi, where he was everybody's All-American quarterback a year ago; Charlie Keller, Jr., son of old "King Kong" of Yankee fame in the late '30s and '40s, who led the Eastern League at Binghamton last season with .349; and Mike Hegan, 19-year-old son of coach Jim Hegan, who received a bonus contract last mid-season. Hegan was at Holy Cross and is a long-ball hitting first baseman as is Keller.

The 36-man camp will be under the supervision of Manager Houk and a staff including coaches Frank Crosetti, Johnny Sain, Wally Moses, Hegan, scout and former Yankee minor league manager Steve Souchock and scout Johnny Neun, who will serve again as camp coordinator.

All tolled there will be 20 pitchers, six catchers, six infielders and four outfielders on the Advance Camp roster. The Advance Camp will continue after the pitchers and catchers on the Yankee varsity report for duty on February 18th. The younger players will remain at Fort Louderdale until it is time to report to their respective minor league club training quarters.

Pittsburgh Rens Back In Eastern Control

The Pittsburgh Rens, who have been in, out and tied for the lead in the Eastern Division of the American Basketball League, are in again.

They regained sole possession of first place with a victory Tuesday night over the Hawaii Chiefs at Honolulu 98-92. The triumph put the Rens half a game ahead of the idle Cleveland Pipers.

The Los Angeles Jets defeated the New York Tapers 112-104 at Los Angeles in the other scheduled league game. The defeat dropped the Tapers, who shifted their franchise from Washington on Sunday, to last place in the Eastern Division.

Clarkson Pucksters Down Princeton, 5-1

POTSDAM, N.Y. (AP)—Princeton, on a three-game swing in Upstate New York, meets undefeated Clarkson's hockey team tonight after bowing to St. Lawrence, 5-1, Tuesday night.

The Tigers were down, 5-0, in the game at Canton before they managed to score with about 5½ minutes of play remaining.

The victory was the ninth in 13 games for the Larries this season. Princeton has won four games and lost two.

Clarkson, featuring a team heavily loaded with juniors, has won 10 straight this season.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Hawks, it develops, are not yet ready to resume the kind of play that took them to five straight Western Division championships in the National Basketball Association.

Final score: Celtics 136, Hawks 99.

It was the fifth straight victory for Boston over St. Louis this season and the Celts did it with ease after shaking off the Hawks in the second quarter.

The New York Knicks beat Detroit 110-104 for their third straight triumph in the Garden nightcap, and Hal Greer and Larry Costello triggered Syracuse's 127-102 romp over Chicago in the two other NBA games.

A BELL FOR YOUR BIRD DOG 1-3

IN HEAVY COVER IT IS OFTEN DIFFICULT TO KNOW THE EXACT LOCATION OF A WIDE-RANGING BIRD DOG. THIS IS OVERCOME BY ATTACHING A SHEEP BELL TO THE DOG'S COLLAR. IT WILL THUS BE EASY TO FOLLOW THE UNSEEN DOG'S MOVEMENTS, THE BELL QUITS RINGING WHEN ITS WEARER STOPS IN POINTING OUT BIRDS. THIS ENABLES THE HUNTER TO GET TO THE DOG BEFORE HE BREAKS POINT OR THE GAME MOVES ON.

SOME HUNTERS THINK THE RINGING BELL MAKES BIRDS CURIOUS AND THEY SIT TIGHTER THAN USUAL FOR A DOG.

NEW BERN, N. C. (AP)—Pat White, management forester for the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission, did a double take while driving in the Croatan National Forest near New Bern.

White saw a six-point buck deer chasing a small hound along a road. The deer chased the dog for about a mile before scampering off into a wooded area, White said.

LSU Officials Oppose Dietzel Switch to Army

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—Despite some opposition from the Louisiana State Board of Supervisors, Paul Dietzel is expected to leave the football power he built at LSU for a new challenge as head coach at Army.

Army, which hopes to make an announcement Thursday, is believed to have offered the former West Point aide a five-year contract at $20,000 a year. There also are the fringe benefits of attractive, free living quarters at the Point and post exchange and commissary privileges, probably worth another $5,000 a year.

Dietzel, 38, one of the nation's most successful young coaches, still has four years to go on his LSU contract at $18,500 a year. Jim Corbett, LSU athletic director, said the coach had not asked for his release, but indications were the request would be made today. The New Orleans States-Item said it had learned that Dietzel would fly to West Point Thursday.

Hereabouts, the trip is being pegged as an introduction of the new coach, who will succeed Dale Hall. Hall was fired after three years and three losses to Navy.

If and when Dietzel requests his release, sparks may fly in the bayou. The personable former assistant to Army's Earl Blaik built LSU into a perennial national power in a matter of three years.

Taking over in 1955, he had an unbeaten, national champion by 1958 and in seven years his overall record has been 46-24-3, including a 2-1 record in bowl games. This season LSU lost its first game (at Rice), then won 10 in a row—including Monday's 25-7 whipping of Colorado in the Orange Bowl at Miami.

Dietzel would have to receive a favorable vote from a majority of the 14-member board of supervisors to obtain his release and several members have indicated they feel Dietzel should stay.

AP Names Davis Back of Year

Ernie Davis, closing out his brilliant varsity career in a series of postseason games and heading into what promises to be a shining pro career, continues to reap honors as the most celebrated college football performer of 1961. The Syracuse star's latest distinction was being named back-of-the-year in the annual Associated Press yearend poll Tuesday.

Davis beat out the three other All-America backs in the voting, being chosen by 43 of the 212 sports writers and broadcasters on the panel. Bob Ferguson of Ohio State and Jim Saxton of Texas tied for second in the balloting with 34 votes each, and Minnesota sparkplug Sandy Stephens was next with 29.

In three seasons at Syracuse, Davis was the key man on teams that won 24 of 29 games, captured the national title with a 10-0 record in 1959 and also posted two postseason victories, against Texas in the 1960 Cotton Bowl and over Miami, Fla., in last month's Liberty Bowl. An elusive and strong runner, the 210-pound halfback rushed for 823 yards and scored 94 points this past season, surpassing school records established by the fabulous Jimmy Brown. He finished his collegiate career with 2,386 yards running and 220 points scored.

Since then Davis has been awarded the Heisman Trophy as the country's top player and has signed a three-year National Football League contract calling for $80,000 with the Cleveland Browns. In the pros, he will join Brown to form what shapes up as a devastating one-two running punch.

Four Champions In Weidner Cap

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Four champion thoroughbreds of 1961—Kelso, Carry Back, Bowl of Flowers and T.V. Lark — are among 40 nominated for Hialeah's $100,000 added Widener Handicap to be run Feb. 24.

Mrs. Katherine Price's Carry Back, a Florida-bred and 3-year-old champion colt, and Brookmeade Stable's Bowl of Flowers, champion filly two straight years, are on the grounds. Bowl of Flowers is the only filly nominated.

Mrs. Richard C. du Pont's Kelso, horse of the year in 1960 and 1961, is at Aiken, S.C. Preston Madden's T.V. Lark, the grass king, is at Santa Anita in California.

Calumet Farm, which has won seven Wideners, nominated Yorky, the defending champion; Beau Prince, and Raison for the mile and a quarter race.

Pilot Is Safe After Jet Lands in Swamps

PICAYUNE, Miss. (AP)—A U2 jet aircraft—the same type which was downed over the Soviet Union in 1960—crashed in the dense Pearl River swamps near Picayune Tuesday night.

The pilot, Capt. Charles P. Stratton, 32, was reported safe early today by authorities at Keesler Air Force Base, Miss.

Capt. William N. Orr, deputy public information officer at Keesler, said Stratton was perched in a tree "and he's okay."

Stratton's home is in Detroit, Mich., but he, his wife and two children live at Laughlin Air Force Base, Del Rio, Tex.

Rescue parties from the Air Force and the Coast Guard entered the swampy area at daybreak.

Orr said the U2 was attached to the 4080th Strategic Wing at Laughlin AFB. It was on a flight from Del Rio to Birmingham, Ala., and return.

The plane, in flames, crashed about 9:30 p.m. Witnesses reported seeing the fiery crash from as far away as New Orleans—75 miles south-southwest of Picayune.

Dutch Offer Is Rejected to Talk Over Guinea Rift

By PETER ARNETT

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Foreign Minister Subandrio today rejected the latest Dutch offer to negotiate their dispute over West New Guinea. He said Indonesia would negotiate only if the Dutch agreed in advance to transfer the area to Indonesian control.

Otherwise, said Subandrio, Indonesia will take the Dutch-controlled western half of the big island by invasion, as it has threatened.

"We do not object to bilateral negotiations with the purpose of the transfer of the administration of West Irian (West New Guinea) to Indonesia," Subandrio said.

Subandrio thus replied within 24 hours to Dutch Premier Jan de Quay's unconditional offer to talk over the future of the 159,000 square miles of jungle and mountain territory claimed by Indonesia ever since it won independence from the Dutch in 1949.

Subandrio said De Quay's offer "seems to me to be a mere formality because he still emphasized the basic policy of the Netherlands is self-determination for the people of West Irian."

In the Hague, the Dutch government refused to comment on Subandrio's rejection. It has no diplomatic relations with Indonesia. A spokesman said the government expected to be informed officially of the Indonesian reaction through the U.S. government or acting U.S. Secretary-General U Thant.

Police Probe Dog Shooting in Park

Shooting of a dog in Forsyth Park last Saturday has been reported to the Kingston police by John K. Lang of 15 Browning Terrace. An examination of the dog by a veterinarian showed the dog had been shot with a .22 calibre gun.

It is reported that this is not the first use of a firearm in the vicinity, although it is a violation of the law to discharge a firearm within the city limits. Discharge of a firearm in the vicinity of a public park where many children are at play is a serious violation of this law.

The three Lang children, accompanied by their dog, were at Forsyth Park last Saturday sleighriding. The dog momentarily disappeared in the woods on the upper level of the park and on return was found to be bleeding from the mouth and neck. Sunday, when the dog developed a limp a veterinarian was consulted and it was discovered the dog had been shot.

Lang, who is employed at the Ulster County Fire Control Center on Golden Hill, reported the matter to the police.

Denies Guatemala Deal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department has denied that the United States made a deal to help Guatemala gain British Honduras in return for Guatemala's help in last Spring's abortive invasion of Cuba.

The denial was made by press officer Lincoln White Tuesday after reports that Guatemala's President Miguel Ydigoras, in a New Year's eve radio-television speech, had said that in return for Guatemalan help in providing training sites for Cuban invasion forces the United States agreed to use its good offices in settling the Guatemalan-British dispute over British Honduras.

Dominican Action Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomatic and economic sanctions against the Dominican Republic are expected to be removed Thursday by the council of the Organization of American States.

Diplomatic sources here said Tuesday that the action probably will be taken on the recommendation of a special committee which has made periodic visits to the Caribbean island since the sanctions were imposed in 1960.

Fred Dana Marsh Famous Artist Dies in Florida

Word has been received in Woodstock of the death of Fred Dana Marsh, 89, at Ormond Beach, Florida. He had suffered a cerebral hemorrhage on Oct. 29 and had been in the hospital until the time of his death late in December.

During an art career that extended more than 70 working years, Marsh made an international reputation as artist, muralist, painter, architect and sculptor — always pioneering in new fields, new ideas and new methods. Often he was a generation ahead of his time in creative thinking and production.

He studied art in Paris where in 1895 he married Alice Randall, a fellow Chicago art student. They lived in a Montparnasse studio where two sons, James and Reginald, were born. Both sons were to become noted artists, well known to the Woodstock art colony.

In 1928, Marsh retired completely from art production on a commercial basis. Within a year he had lost both his parents, his wife and his third and youngest son in a swimming pool accident. He retired, aged 56, to Ormond Beach where on a long stretch of Atlantic Ocean frontage he had begun to build a home. For the rest of his life he lived there and in Woodstock.

In 1930, Marsh married Miss Mabel Van Alstyne, a New York and Woodstock artist, starting a notable artistic partnership. Together they finished the new home, embellishing every inch of it with their own hands. Marsh allied himself with the artistic aims of his wife, whose main interest was a collection of American Folk Art. Begun as a girl by Mrs. Marsh's sister, Dr. Van Alstyne who died before its completion the collection, now housed in a private museum in Woodstock, occupied the attention of Mr. and Mrs. Marsh for more than 25 years. Marsh served as adviser and helped with collecting.

Given to Florida

The artist's final work,, a 45-foot high statuary group based on a dramatic story of an Indian princess who shoots with bow and arrow a marauding chieftain of a rival tribe, stands on Nocorocco Point in Tomoka State Park, just a few miles from Marshes Ormond Beach home. It was presented by the artist in 1957 to the State of Florida in an open air dedication.

Marsh was the first artist in the United States to picture the drama and significance of men at work in industrial production; first to use American historical motifs in miniature map murals; first to experiment with uses for new metals and materials as they poured from American factories. Marsh often found his work unappreciated until artistic understanding caught up with him. Versatile, refusing to be bound by traditional methods and never lacking in a new field to explore he amassed accomplishments and honors to the end of his life. He was a member of the Architectural League of New York and of the American Society of Mural Painters.

Marsh was widely known and loved by his art associates. He was a fine raconteur, loved practical jokes, music and fun. But his independence and the diversification of his talents were often misunderstood. His pictorial maps, miniature murals in the finest detail fared well, however. His clients included John D. Rockefeller Jr., E. H. Hutton, Herbert Pratt and other millionaires.

Artistic Family

Survivors of the artist include Mrs. Marsh; a son, James Randall Marsh and his wife, Anne Steele Marsh of New Jersey; and three grandchildren — Reginald, Janet and Peter. All are artists. James Marsh is a distinguished designer in wrought iron work who does restorations and reproductions for historic buildings. He has a famed workshop, Fiddler's Forge, in Pittstown, N. J. His wife is a painter and engraver, whose works are in the Metropolitan Museum, Library of Congress and other museums. Grandson Reginald is an engraver in Los Angeles; granddaughter Janet (now Mrs. William M. Hunt of Lambertville, N. J.) is a gifted painter and pianist and Peter is a violinist, now a member of the Lenox String Quartet.

The Marsh "clan" as friends call it, also included one of America's great art names, that of Fred Dana and Alice Marsh's second son, Reginald, who died in 1954, an illustrator, cartoonist, and painter whose work featured the raucous flow of humanity in American city life.

The work of father and son may be seen together at the West Point museum of the U. S. Military Academy, where a marine scene by Fred Dana Marsh was hung recently next to a waterfront watercolor by Reginald Marsh.

Christian Science Theme Is on 'God'

How children can be early taught to understand and love God will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in Woodstock.

The welcome given children by Christ Jesus, described in the Gospel of Luke (18), is among the Scriptural selections to be read in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God": "And they brought unto Him also infants, that he would touch them: but when his diciples saw it, they rebuked them. But Jesus called them unto Him, and said, Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God."

One of the correlative citations to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states: "Jesus loved little children because of their freedom from wrong and their receptiveness of right. While age is halting between two opinions or battling with false beliefs, youth makes easy and rapid strides towards Truth" (p. 236).

No P-TA Meeting

The January meeting of the Woodstock P-TA scheduled Thursday night has been canceled, it was announced this morning. The cancellation was the result of the inability of scheduled guests to appear.

Youth Gives Up Says That Mother Kept Nagging Him

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y. (AP)—A teen-ager sought in the stabbing death of his mother surrendered today. Police said he told them he killed her because she nagged him.

An assistant district attorney said Alan Mancuso, 18, signed a statement that he slugged, kicked and stabbed his mother, Anita Mancuso, in their apartment Saturday after a quarrel.

Rubenfeld said young Mancuso told police he had spent most of the time since his mother was killed riding on subways in New York City.

Rubenfeld said the boy, a dishwasher, had been charged with second-degree murder.

Members of the family said that the mother had been critical of her son's appearance, companions, late hours and drinking.

Public Schools Short 127,200 Classrooms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a record year of construction the nation's public schools are still short 127,200 classrooms, the Office of Education reports.

It added that the pace-setting year of school building did make some headway in cutting down the room shortage but that the gain may be wiped away next fall by a flood of new pupils.

Based on a survey of state departments of education, the office said there were 37.5 million enrolled in the public schools last fall, an increase of 1.2 million over figures for the fall of 1960. Most of the increase was in secondary schools.

Youth Stabbed Fatally In Vandalism Dispute

NEW YORK (AP)—Joseph DiGiovanni, a 15-year-old Brooklyn high school student, was stabbed fatally Tuesday night in a dispute over vandalism at another youth's house.

Salvatore La Barbera, 16, also of Brooklyn was charged with homicide, police said.

Police said the two boys, friends for years, met Tuesday night to settle differences.

Meals for 500 Million Children Is Goal

WASHINGTON (AP) — George McGovern, Food for Peace director, says he is shooting for a program that will provide meals for 500 million children overseas within five years.

McGovern, a presidential assistant, said he hopes the Food for Peace program involving surplus U.S. foodstuffs can be expanded to reach that figure. Most of the youngsters would be in non-Communist Africa, Asia and Latin America, he said.

The veteran entertainer entered St. John's Hospital late Tuesday night. His doctor said Crosby will remain most of the week.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene:

The James Durantes will no longer be a two-house family. Jimmy is solving the "dilemmis" that has existed since he married Margie Little a year ago. She had a hilltop house and he had one on the flat, and neither wanted to give theirs up. So they lived in both.

"We're puttin' one of dem up fer sale," Jimmy said. "Which one? Margie's, of course. After all, I am still boss of de family—at least I was when I checked two days ago."

From now on Tony Curtis works only for himself—either in his own productions or partnership deals. He learned his lesson with "The Lady L", which tied him up for months and was never made by MGM.

"Complete chaos," he says of the experience. Chaotic or not, he got paid a nice $300,000 for his trouble.

Comings and goings: Debbie Reynolds to New York for confabs on her dress business. Van Heflin to the East for an NBC special about Highway 1, then to the Philippines, for a movie. George Gobel home from the Broadway flop of "Let It Ride." He dropped a bundle but needn't worry; he'll probably be back on TV next season.

Catching up on the yearend attractions: "The Innocents" is a good chiller, excellently acted by a British cast and directed by Jack Clayton with a keen eye for scare tactics. The timing may be bad for this attraction, following so soon after the memorable Ingrid Bergman TV version of the same yarn, "Turn of the Screw."

Pumpkins are native to Mexico and Central America. Centuries before Columbus reached the New World, Indian tribes over most of North America were cultivating pumpkins and squash.

Warming Trend Seen for Eastern Half of Country

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More light snow fell across northern areas from the Midwest into New England and rain dampened some western sections but generally clear weather prevailed elsewhere today.

It was chilly again in sections of the Southeast, including parts of Florida. A general warming trend was indicated for most of the eastern half of the country.

Colest weather again was centered in sections of the Northeast with zero and below temperatures in parts of northern New York State.

It was -1 in Farmington, N.M., and readings in the teens and 20s were reported in the Rockies and sections of the plateaus. Temperatures moderated over the Plains and into the Mississippi Valley with 30s and 40s in most areas and 50s in extreme southern Texas.

The 20s and 30s also prevailed in sections eastward with the mercury dropping to below freezing in parts of the Southeast and into the 40s in Florida. It was 45 in Miami but Key West reported 65.

The light snow belt extended across the Great Lakes region, the upper Ohio Valley, northern Appalachians and in parts of the north Atlantic Coast states into New England.

Illness in Two Places Ban on Potato Bleach Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — Complaints of illness from Horseheads, N.Y., and Williston, N.D., brought a request from the Food and Drug administration to restaurant-owners to halt use of a potato-bleaching compound known as "Whitex."

The agency said Tuesday that some of the product had been contaminated by a poison—sodium fluosilicate.

The FDA said illnesses, not fatal, had been reported from the New York State and North Dakota communities.

"It is not known how widely the tosic product has been distributed," the FDA said.

The agency said Whitex, manufactured by the Bond Co., Kingsport, Tenn., was used in solution by restaurants as a dip to preserve the fresh color of peeled potatoes such as those used for french fries. The product is not sold for use in homes.

The FDA said the contamination apparently had been caused by accidental substitution of sodium fluosilicate for sodium bisulfite.

Kennedy Said to Be Like Eisenhower, Macmillan

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — From now on, after a year in office, President Kennedy more and more will be compared in policies, performance and personality with men who had his job or have one like it.

Kennedy is more like former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan than any other world leader of recent times.

Haughty, stubborn French President Charles de Gaulle is a complete opposite. So is earthy, bouncy, extroverted Soviet Premier Khrushchev. So is former President Harry S. Truman.

Truman was more outwardly aggressive and the result was a lot of conflict — for instance, with Republicans and particularly Sens. Taft and McCarthy — which he seemed to enjoy.

Some of his conflicts might have been avoided with different tactics but this is not to say he was wrong, given the time and circumstances of his presidency.

The country will be forever grateful to him for his decisiveness in beginning foreign aid, his military alliances and stiff-arming the Russians.

In all these areas, and a dozen others, there was conflict of one kind or another.

Much of his willingness to accept it and chance his political future on it no doubt was in part a product of his early background in Missouri precinct politics.

He played politics the way it had been played for generations. But that way may not be seen again for some time if only because the circumstances of the presidency are different.

In the Truman years and all those that preceded it—before a trigger-pull on hydrogen missiles could devastate a continent—a president could afford to occupy himself more with domestic politics.

Change in Presidency

Some other possibilities may also explain the change which has taken place in the presidency as demonstrated by Kennedy and Eisenhower. For instance:

1. American politics may be entering a more sophisticated period when the traditional cat-and-dog fights between a president and his opposition look old fashioned and time-wasting.

But more than the Kennedy-Eisenhower presidencies will be needed to show whether this is the case.

2. It may be simply that Kennedy and Eisenhower either think it shrewder and in the long run more fruitful to compromise and avoid brawls or they just don't have the stomach for slam-bang fights.

To put it another way, it seems to be a necessary part of their nature to avoid embroilments. Eisenhower did that with Taft, McCarthy, and with everyone else when he could.

But then, of course, he didn't come up through the American political system, either. Even as a general he had made a reputation for avoiding open breaks and in getting opposing factions to work together.

Follows Ike's Course

This is how he operated with his Democratic opposition. It is clear, after a year in office, that Kennedy is following with his Republican opponents the same course Eisenhower pursued with the Democrats.

Even though this is a congressional election year and he wants more Democrats in the Capitol, an authoritative source at Palm Beach let it be known Kennedy is making a peace offering to Republicans before Congress opens for 1962: he won't do any heavy politicking.

Eisenhower went less than all-out on some of the programs he asked Congress to pass. Kennedy already has shown a great willingness to compromise.

Both men, like Macmillan of Britain, have shown an immense desire to avoid personal conflicts, which in a way is a good method of staying popular.

On the other hand: at a time when the Russians have weapons just as sudden and terrible as this country's, both Eisenhower and Kennedy must have felt the day-by-day American political slugging of the past is small potatoes compared with the greater conflict with communism.

Says Rocky Has Restored Vigor To N.Y. Economy

Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse said today that Governor Rockefeller's 1962 legislative program would "move New York State closer to a full employment economy with more payrolls and more jobs."

Commenting on the Governor's annual message to the Legislature, Chairman Morhouse said:

"Governor Rockefeller has restored vigor and momentum to the state's economy which was lagging ominously when he took office three years ago. The number of new and expanded plants in 1961 and 143 per cent greater than in 1958 under the last Democratic administration. Today, more people are working in New York State than ever before in history.

"In his message, Governor Rockefeller makes it emphatically clear that his prime objective is to generate even greater economic vitality so that everyone seriously seeking work can find a job. His policies for the past three years and his legislative program for 1962 will move New York State closer to a full-employment economy with more payrolls and more jobs."

Two passenger ships will cease making regular calls at St. Helena Island in 1962, breaking its main link with the outside world.

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic accidents during the three-day New Year's holiday weekend killed 337 persons, exceeding the National Safety Council's pre-holiday estimate of 330 deaths.

The final count showed that in addition to the traffic toll, 83 persons died in fires and 59 others were killed in miscellaneous accidents for an over-all total of 479.

The count covered a 78-hour period beginning at 6 p.m. (local time) Friday and ending at midnight Monday.

Deaths in fires set a record for a New Year's period since World War II. The previous record was 74 in 1955-56.

Four Die in Fire
